Commission, and that extends up to the present time, that new applications come in at the rate of between 70 and 80 a month, and that's been remarkably consistent over the life of the Commission.

If I might just assist, and I 6 7 don't want to get stuck too much into numbers 8 because they can be confusing, but if we take as a 9 rough figure that something in the order of 8,000 09:02 10 applications have been dealt with and cases closed, of those 8,000, about a third of them 11 12 don't get off first base because they are 13 applications made by applicants who have not 14 previously appealed, and we were looking yesterday 09:03 15 at section 13 of the 1995 Criminal Appeal Act 16 which requires there to have been a previous 17 appeal and the Commission cannot make a reference 18 other than in exceptional circumstances where 19 there hasn't been an appeal, so something in the 09:03 20 order of a third of the applications received are 21 closed without any referral because that previous 22 appeal condition is not met. 23 0 Sorry, if I can just pause there. Would those 24 applicants be entitled to go to the Court of 09:03 25 Appeal for an extension of time?

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

A Yes.

2 Q And seek the remedy without going through your 3 gate, so to speak?

4 A Yes, and of course if they do that and are refused 09:03 5 an extension of time in which to appeal, they then 6 qualify -- then they get over the first hurdle as 7 far as we're concerned.

8 Of the remaining, the 9 applications which then remain after that third is 09:04 10 knocked out, the Commission introduced a process 11 for, in which it endeavours to identify, in 12 relation to each application received, whether it 13 appears on the basis of the issues raised that the 14 case can be closed; in other words, brought to completion, the investigation and review can be 09:04 15 16 done with a modest amount of effort which we fix 17 at five working days, so if we think a case can be 18 closed with five caseworker days of effort on 19 investigation and review, they will be dealt with 09:04 20 somewhat more quickly than applications which 21 require a more extensive investigation and review, 22 and of the applications which remain after the 23 appeal cases have been knocked out, something in 24 excess of half, approaching two-thirds of the 09:04 25 remainder are dealt with by this more streamlined

	1		and quicker process. I mean, it might be thought
	2		that these are cases which are more likely to
	3		result in a non-referral, but in fact the rate of 4		referral is approximately the same for the cases
09:05	5		which are fast-tracked.
	6		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: So how much of the 7		remaining two-thirds gets through the fast track?
	8	А	About between a half and two-thirds.
	9		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Of the two-thirds?
09:05	10	А	Yes.
	11		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: I see. And what
	12		kind of a population pool are we speaking about
	13		for this 70 to 80 cases per month?
	14	А	The population of the United Kingdom at the amount
09:05	15		I think, if you exclude Scotland, is about 65
	16		million.
	17		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And you don't take
	18		Scottish cases?
	19	А	No, Scotland has its own separate commission.
09:05	20		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Oh, I see. So how
	21		much what was the sum again, 70, 80 million?
	22	A	It's about 65 million I think is the population of 23		Great Britain at the moment.
	24		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay, thank you.

	Γ		——————————————————————————————————————
	1	A	Yes.
	2		BY MR. HODSON:
	3	Q	And maybe I should have clarified that earlier,
	4		your Commission deals with cases in England, Wales
09:06	5		and Northern Ireland; correct?
	6	А	Yes.
	7	Q	And that Scotland has a similar commission, which
	8		we won't get into, but they have a commission
	9		that's similar in nature to your Commission?
09:06	10	А	Yes.
	11	Q	So just on the numbers, about 70 to 80 a month; is
	12		that right?
	13	А	Yes.
	14	Q	The number. And the third that are fast-tracked,
09:06	15		the five working day matter, that some of those 16		then do get referred?
	17	А	Yes.
	18	Q	And so in five working days you are able to review
	19		a file and determine that a reference ought to be
09:06	20		made?
	21	А	Yes.
	22	Q	And can you give us some idea, what types of cases
	23		are those, or what is it that jumps out of those 24		cases that allows a reference to go that quickly?
09:06	25	А	Well, the cases which result in a reference where

1		it appears from, on the face of the application
2		when it's received that there is some stunningly
3		significant point which appears to give rise to 4		concerns about the safety of the conviction, and 0 9:07 5		that point can be easily identified and explained
6		without there having to be any significant further
7		investigation.
8	Q	Okay. And it's also my understanding that the,
9		when the CCRC was created, that you also deal with
0 9:07 10		convictions out of the Magistrates' Court?
11	А	Yes.
12	Q	Which is, I think, my understanding, is a would 13		be lesser offences? The Crown court deals with 14		serious or more serious indictable offences and
0 9:07 15		the Magistrates' Court is lesser offences?
16	А	Yes.
17	Q	And so of those 70 to 80 a month, some of those 18		would be from Magistrates' Court?
19	А	Very few.
09:07 20	Q	Very few?
21	А	Yes.
22	Q	Is it fair to say that most of the applications
23		you would receive would be for serious crimes?
24	А	That's true, yes.
0 9:07 25	Q	And that you don't get the not to differentiate between crimes, but a conviction for, you know, traffic offences or things of that nature are generally not matters that come to your Commission?

А	Generally that is the case, although the interesting thing, if I can just introduce a lighter note here, is that those people who do apply having been convicted of traffic offences the Magistrates' Court, there seems to be no othe class of person who feels so aggrieved about the injustice of their situation than the person convicted of careless driving, but very few, I mean, I think less than 8 percent of the applications come from the Magistrates' Court.

Some of them are quite

16 serious, we had one which I had dealings with in 17 my last year at the Commission which involved a 18 number of asylum seekers being prosecuted for 19 offences related to traveling on false 09:08 20 documentation to get to the United Kingdom and 21 they in fact pleaded guilty in the Magistrates' 22 Court, but we referred the case on the basis that 23 as it appeared to us, the prosecution was an 24 abusive process because it was in breach of the 09:09 25 United Kingdom's treaty obligations under the

1		refugee convention, so some of the cases in the 2		Magistrates' Court can be significant, but we
3		don't get very many applications.
4	Q	Would it be correct to say that most of the cases
09:09 5		would be homicides, sexual assaults, fraud,
6		burglary, serious crimes of that nature?
7	А	Yes. In percentage terms, by far the greatest 8		number of applications relate to serious sexual
9		offences.
09:09 10	Q	We talked yesterday a bit about the media and I'm 11		wondering if you could tell us how the CCRC dealt
12		with the media when you were created and,
13		secondly, to comment on what has happened as a
14		result of the CCRC being in place for nine years
09:10 15		and how the media has taken part in the process.
16	А	Yes, I would be happy to do that. It's something
17		which I gave thought overnight after you,
18		Mr. Commissioner, had raised the matter of media
19		interest, and I thought it might be relevant if I
09:10 20		just mentioned that prior to the establishment of 21		the CCRC, there were a number of investigative 22		journalists who took an interest in miscarriage of 23		justice cases, and two television programs in 24		particular, a BBC program called Rough Justice and 0 9:10 25		an independent television program called World in
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1	Nation had a great deal to de with investigating
	Action had a great deal to do with investigating
2	and broadcasting programs about possible
3	miscarriages of justice.
4	Indeed it was World in Action
09:10 5	which I think was very significant in uncovering
6	the problems which had arisen in the Birmingham 6
7	case, but the Rough Justice program on the BBC did
8	a number of series over a number of years in which 9	they identified cases which they believed to be
09:11 10	miscarriage of justice and they did, a number of 11	cases did get back to the Court of Appeal as a
12	result of the investigation done by those
13	programs.
14	When the Commission, the CCRC
09:11 15	came into existence, we did have a meeting with a
16	number of people who had been concerned with 17	investigating miscarriage of justice which
18	included investigative journalists and reporters
19	from Rough Justice and World in Action and what we
09:11 20	were interested to hear from them was we said to 21	them, right, well, we're new, we're about to 22	embark on this exercise, what advice do you have
23	for us about investigating miscarriage of justice,
24	and they were able to give us the benefit of their 09:12 25	experience, but interestingly, the common theme

		by Mr. Hodson Vol 192 - Tuesday, October 3rd, 2006
1		was if there has been a miscarriage of justice,
2		you always get a smell of it.
3		Now, if you are having to
4		choose which case you investigate for the purpose
09:12 5		of making a television program, you can indulge
6		yourself in the exercise of seeing whether you
7		think the case has a smell about it. We can't do
8		that because we're not restricted in the number of 9		cases if we receive an application we have to
09:12 10		review it, we can't pick and choose which ones we
11		do, so that but that was quite an interesting
12		observation from the journalists who made these
13		programs.
14		What is significant is Rough
09:12 15		Justice I don't think since the beginning of 16		the Commission's existence the World in Action has 17		done any exposés on miscarriage of justice. Rough
18		Justice did another series, but to all intents and
19		purposes, that particular program has now fizzled
09:13 20		out and, indeed, the presenter of Rough Justice,
21		David Jessel, is now a member of the Criminal
22		Cases Review Commission.
23	Q	Okay. And so prior to the CCRC being in place
24		then, is it my understanding then that the media
09:13 25		in England would have played a fairly significant

1	role in publicizing the plight of people alleging
2	wrongful conviction and putting in the public
3	domain the basis of that claim?
4	A That is right, but there is a link here between
09:13 5	something we were talking about yesterday again in 6	response to the Commissioner's interest in this
7	particular area, that we were talking about
8	whether the Commission prefers to control and deal
9	with its own investigations and would prefer
09:13 10	private investigators or journalists not to become 11	involved.
12	There was a particular case
13	which was the subject of a Rough Justice
14	investigation, the case of Anthony Steele, which 09:14 15	happens to be a case which I was responsible for 16	prosecuting when I was in the director of public
17	prosecutions' office. He was convicted of the 18	murder of a young woman who was walking on her way
19	to work along a disused railway line which was a
09:14 20	foot path in Yorkshire and she was battered to 21	death with a rock and Anthony Steele was arrested
22	as a result of eye witness evidence that he had 23	been seen walking down the valley side towards the 24	path and he confessed to the murder and he was
09:14 25	prosecuted and convicted.

	1	The first appeal was, the
	2	ground of appeal was that related to the 3	turning off of the life support machine and
	4	whether that was a break in the chain of causation
09:14	5	which the Court of Appeal gave very short shift
	6	to. Rough Justice did an investigation and I
	7	remember watching the program thinking as I
	8	watched it, well, this is mere argument, it's not
	9	really introducing anything new and, furthermore,
09:14	10	insofar as the witnesses who the program
	11	interviewed were being asked whether they really
	12	seen what they said they had seen at trial, I
	13	couldn't help noticing that the geography of the 14	area and the lines of sight seemed to have changed
09:15	15	quite radically because of new housing
	16	development, and so the line which Rough Justice
	17	appeared to be pursuing around this seemed to be 18	flawed because of a number of matters. That 19	the Rough Justice program didn't result in any
09:15	20	further action.
	21	When the Commission came into
	22	existence, Anthony Steele applied to the 23	Commission. I, of course, had nothing to do with 24	the case because I had been, I had had this
09:15	25	earlier responsibility for it, but the focus of

1		the Commission's investigation was on the 2		reliability of Anthony Steele's confession because
3		by the time the Commission was considering the 4		case, there had been considerable advances in
09:15 5		psychiatric and psychological understanding of the 6		way in which people confess to offences they 7		haven't committed and indeed the case was referred 8		to the Court of Appeal on the basis of new 9		psychological evidence as to the reliability of
09:16 10		the confession and Mr. Steele's conviction was 11		quashed on that basis.
12	Q	Okay. And so over the course of the nine years,
13		then, you were involved in the Commission did you
14		see the role of journalists change then? What
09:16 15		was did there seem to be more of an acceptance
16		that the Commission would be investigating and
17		uncovering these matters?
18	А	That seems to have been the case so far, yes.
19		There was a brief production of another television
09:16 20		program called Clear My Name, the object of which
21		appears to be to bring to the public's attention
22		the existence of a case which was thought to be a
23		possible miscarriage of justice, and inviting
24		anybody who may have anything to offer to come
09:16 25		forward. So there was no direct investigation by
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40174 : 1 the program as such, it was simply "if there's 2 anyone out there who can say anything about this 3 case, please get in touch", but I'm not aware of 4 any of those cases being transmitted on to the 5 Commission. 09:17 If we can go back to 339726, which is the 6 Q 7 legislation that we were going through yesterday, 8 and talk about Section 15 of the Act which says: 9 "Where a direction is given by the Court 09:17 10 of Appeal under Section 23A(1) of the 1968 Act or ... the 1980 Act the 11 12 Commission shall investigate the matter 13 specified in the direction in such manner as the Commission think fit." 14 09:17 15 And can you explain what this section deals with 16 and how has it been deployed by the Court of 17 Appeal and the Commission? 18 Α The purpose of this section is to allow the Court 19 of Appeal, in any case which the Court of Appeal 09:17 20 is dealing with, whether or not it results from a 21 reference from the Commission -- so it applies 22 with equal effect to appeals which are being 23 addressed in the ordinary way -- it allows the, if 24 the Court of Appeal requires some sort of factual 09:18 25 investigation to be made, then the Court can ask the Commission to act as a sort of investigative arm for the Court in order to make those factual inquiries.

4 And I think the purpose behind 5 this particular provision was given the existence 09:18 of an independent body, which the CCRC clearly 6 7 was, this was an opportunity to have necessary factual investigations in the course of an appeal 8 9 hearing being made independently, so that it 09:18 10 wasn't necessary for the Court to invite either 11 the defence or the prosecution to try and make the 12 inquiries themselves. It is not a power which the 13 Court has used a great deal.

14 An example I can think of, which arose in the course of an ordinary appeal, 09:18 15 16 was where there had been a suggestion of jury 17 And I think in Canada, as in England, the bias. 18 question -- the process of making investigations 19 of juries is actually quite complicated, because 09:19 20 you are not allowed to ask them about what 21 happened in the course of their deliberations. 22 And it was clearly, the Court of Appeal thought, 23 an appropriate case in which the Commission should 24 be asked to make inquiries to ascertain whether 09:19 25 there had, in fact, been any transactions amongst

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40176 : 1 the jury members which might indicate bias. 2 Q Okav. And so is that a case, then, that the 3 Commission did investigate? 4 Yes. Α 5 And then you'd report back? 09:19 Q 6 And we'd report back, yes. Α 7 Just on the issue of juries, and putting Q Yes. 8 aside the policy issues that might arise if the 9 Commission were allowed to talk to jurors -- and I 09:19 10 don't want to get into that -- but assume for the 11 moment that you could, would that be something of 12 benefit to the Commissioners in investigating 13 miscarriages of justice, to be able to speak to 14 jurors? 09:20 15 I think that's an incredibly difficult question. Α 16 I mean the sort of immediate off-the-cuff thought, 17 I think, of anybody is, well, if you are trying to 18 find out whether someone may have been wrongfully 19 convicted wouldn't it be wonderful if we knew 09:20 20 exactly how it was that the jury went about its 21 task, particularly of course, I suppose, in areas 22 where, if the jury have been charged by the judge 23 in the course of the trial to disregard a piece of 24 evidence which they heard but perhaps they 09:20 25 shouldn't have heard, and there remains the

	Ĩ		Page 40177
	1		possibility that in spite of that the jury might
	2		have had might have taken account of that piece
	3		of evidence, then I suppose you could say, well,
	4		wouldn't it be useful to be able to ask the jury
09:21	5		"didn't you do what the judge told you?" But I
	6		suspect there are so many powerful arguments which
	7		one could, which could be employed the other way,
	8		that I would hate to sit here and give a view one
	9		way or the other.
09:21	10	Q	Yes, and I've tried to preface my question by 11		saying that there may well be a number of policy
	12		or principle reasons why the state would not want
	13		to have jurors subjected to questions about why
	14		they decided a certain way, but if we can put
09:21	15		those aside?
	16	A	Uh-huh.
	17	Q	I'm just trying to understand whether the ability
	18		to talk to jurors for example, in the United
	19		States they have a different system and jurors are
09:21	20		not only talked to, I think they are interviewed
	21		publicly after and from your case of 22		investigation would there be some cases there
	23		where it might be helpful to know what again,
	24		keeping in mind that there might be powerful
09:21	25		reasons, as you say, not to
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

2 Q -- but just as far as information-gathering? 3 A Well I suppose the answer to that is if you're --4 if you ignore the policy reasons for not doing it, 99:22 5 yes, it would seem to follow there may be cases 6 which doing it could be -- could provide you with 7 relevant information.

8 Q If we can go to the next page, please. Section 16 9 talks about the prerogative of mercy, and it's my 09:22 10 understanding that with the creation of the CCRC 11 the Home Secretary retained the -- Her Majesty's 12 prerogative of mercy; correct?

13 A Uh-huh.

14QAnd so that there are, in addition to the CCRC,09:2215the Home Secretary was able to pardon people or16provide -- exercise the prerogative of mercy?17AYes.

18 Q And can you give us a general idea, is that --19 when and how is that prerogative exercised over the course of the CCRC?

21AWell, the specific powers under Section 16 have22never been exercised, the Home Secretary has never23asked the Commission to assist him and we've never24invited the Home Secretary to consider the issue09:2325

NG.

1	I think, as we were
2	considering yesterday in the context of the Royal
3	Commission report, the residual Royal Prerogative
4	of Mercy has, I think, probably taken an even more
0 9:23 5	residual position now, with the creation of the 6	CCRC, and in particular the CCRC's powers to 7	review and refer back cases which arose in the 8	Magistrate's Court, which was not a power which 9	had been open to the Home Secretary under the
0 9:23 10	previous regime.
11	But I think, again as the
12	Royal Commission observed, I think one of the 13	areas in which the Royal Prerogative of Mercy was 14	exercised was in relation to the discovery that 0 9:24 15	there was some flaw in processes applied to 16	drivers who were thought to have driven with 17	excess alcohol, and so the Home Secretary took the 18	view that the easiest way of dealing with that was 19	to compile a list of everybody who'd been
09:24 20	convicted on the basis of this flawed process and 21	simply issue a pardon to all of them, which was 22	the, at that time, that was the only thing that
23	could be done.
24	The only case which I can
0 9:24 25	think of at the moment in my own experience where

1		a pardon has been given in a more serious case
2		was, again, in this case of Derek Bentley, who was
3		convicted and hanged for the murder of a police
4		officer in 1953. And very many years later, as 09:24 5		part of a response to ongoing concern about that
6		and the suggestion that Derek Bentley, who was 19
7		when he was hanged, should never have been hanged,
8		he was posthumously given a pardon in relation to 9		sentence, but not in relation to conviction.
09:25 10		As I say, it's a
11		rarely-exercised power, the exercise of the 12		prerogative of mercy, and I think, with the 13		existence of the CCRC, it will be even rarer.
14	Q	Go to the next page, please. This talks about
0 9:25 15		supplementary powers and I think it gives the 16		Commission the power to access documents from a
17		public body; is that correct?
18	А	Yes.
19	Q	And can you just elaborate on that? What can you
09:25 20		get, what areas can you get documents, and what
21		where can you not?
22	А	Well the 'public body' is further defined, I
23		think, in Section 22. And 'public body' is given
24		a wide definition and it really covers anybody,
09:26 25		any public body, which is publicly funded and

	1		which exercises public functions. So it includes
	2		the police, the I'm thinking the start of an
	3		investigation and working outwards the power to
	4		obtain documents from police, prosecution, courts,
09:26	5		social services, arises because of Section 17,
	6		and providing our request is reasonable and
	7		we've never been challenged over the 8		reasonableness of any of our requests we can 9		require the production of any material which we
09:26	10		think may assist in the exercise of our functions.
	11		And further on in Section 17
	12		there is a provision which says that a request
	13		which the Commission made can't be defeated by any 14		suggestion that what we're looking for is secret,
09:26	15		confidential, or in other circumstances would not 16		be discloseable. So if the material is held by a
	17		public body as defined, and we reasonably think it
	18		might assist us as a Commission in the exercise of 19		our functions, then we can demand it and get it.
09:27	20	Q	Let's talk about a couple of areas. The 21		prosecutor's file, would that be a source, would
	22		you normally get the prosecutor's file in most 23		applications?
	24	А	In most applications, in by if it's a case
09:27	25		which has got into the category of application
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

which requires a fuller and more extended review

	2		then, almost invariably, the prosecution files
	3		would be obtained.
	4	Q	And what about the police files?
09:27	5	A	Them too.
	6	Q	What about
	7	A	Particularly, of course, because the question of 8		the prosecution's compliance with its disclosure
	9		obligations remains a very fertile source of
09:27	10		investigative activity, and to find out, you
	11		investigate that by finding out what the police
	12		had, what they'd told the prosecution about, and 13		what the prosecution disclosed, and you'd find
	14		that by looking at their material.
09:28	15	Q	Would that be one of the very early steps, then,
	16		of your investigation would be to review the 17		police file and the Crown file?
	18	А	Yes, it would be, yes.
	19	Q	What about defence counsel; would you try and
09:28	20		access his or her file?
	21	А	We would, but of course Section 17 doesn't apply
	22		to defence lawyers because they are not public
	23		bodies.
	24	Q	Presumably, the applicant would have the ability
09:28	25		to get authorization for you to get

	[		——————————————————————————————————————
	1	А	Oh, indeed. And the ap the very first
	2		application which form which the applicant
	3		completes has a section on it in which he is 4		invited to waive any privilege which might attach
09:28	5		to his lawyers and their files. So the starting 6		point is that we would ask, if we wanted to get
	7		them and it was necessary to have a look at them,
	8		then we would be we would be pre-armed with a
	9		waiver of privilege.
09:29	10	Q	And I may have touched on this yesterday, but have 11		there been many cases where an applicant would
	12		refuse to waive solicitor/client privilege with 13		respect to communications with his or her defence
	14		counsel?
09:29	15	А	If there have been, they are no more than a
	16		handful, I'm in I didn't come across that 17		situation in any case that I ever dealt with.
	18	Q	Go to the next page, please. Section 19 talks
	19		about:
09:29	20		"Where the Commission believe that
:	21		inquiries should be made for assisting

1 inquiries.", 2 and it goes on to the next page. If we can look 3 at, I think it talks here about being able to go to another police force than the one that 4 5 originally investigated the case, is that 09:30 correct, or is that a different section? 6 7 No, that is the provision which enables the Α 8 Commission to require the appointment of a person 9 serving in a police force different to that which carried the -- carried out the original 09:30 10 11 investigation. 12 Q And you talked about this a bit yesterday; does 13 the Commission rely on external police forces to assist in your investigation? 14 09:30 15 It does but, as I was saying yesterday, the Α 16 principle objective of the Commission in any 17 investigation is to do the investigation itself, 18 and in the great majority of cases that is what 19 happens, even though it may involve the Commission 09:30 20 inviting some form of external assistance in the 21 provision of further evidence or information which 22 generally will include -- will involve 23 commissioning expert reports in forensic science 24 or pathology or matters of that nature, but it may 09:31 25 extend to asking the police for further

1	assistance. If it's something which is a
2	self-contained "please, will you make this Inquiry
3	for us and report back to us", we will ask the 4	police to do that without going through the 5	formality of requiring the appointment of an
6	investigating officer.
7	The purpose of this section is
8	to allow us to call upon the resources, usually of 9	a police force. In fact, I think every time we've
10	requested the appointment of an investigating
11	officer it has been a police officer. It doesn't
12	have to be, it can be an officer from any public
13	body, of which I suppose an example would be if it
14	was a serious or complex fraud we could, in 15	theory, ask for the appointment of an
16	investigating officer from a serious fraud office.
17	But, in practice, all of the investigating
18	officers we have used have been police officers.
19	And what we're looking for is 20	a total investigative resource to be applied to 21	certain types of cases, and we identify criteria
22	in which we would usually look for the appointment
23	of an investigating officer under Section 19, and 24	I think from recollection they were essentially
25	three:

going to be so great that it was completely

3 unrealistic to expect the Commission's resources to be able to deal with it; 4 5 secondly was any investigation which, in 09:32 order to obtain information, was going to require 6 7 the particular exercise of police powers such as arrest, interview under caution, obtaining search 8 9 warrants, because those are powers which the 09:33 10 police officers have but which the Commission doesn't; 11 12 and the third category was any investigation 13 which looked as if, by its nature, it was going to 14 be looking into allegations of misconduct, such as 09:33 15 perjury or perverting the course of justice, 16 committed by the officers who investigated the 17 original case. 18 So, against those, those are 19 the sorts of criteria which the Commission would 09:33 20 apply, and the application of those criteria has 21 resulted in the making of 41 appointments under Section 19 out of all the cases which the 22 23 Commission has dealt with. 24 0 Can you tell us, to what extent does the 09:33 25 Commission get involved in investigating another Meyer CompuCourt Reporting = Certified Professional Court Reporters serving P.A., Regina & Saskatoon since 1980

	1		perpetrator? And let me just give you a bit more
	2		background there. Would you agree that in most
	3		cases where a person alleges wrongful conviction
	4		or a miscarriage of justice, that if they are
09:34	5		correct in their assertion, then someone else
	6		committed the crime for the most part; is that a
	7		fair premise?
	8	А	Well the assumption must be, of course, if 9		somebody hasn't committed it someone else has.
09:34	10	Q	Right.
	11	А	Umm, as I was saying yesterday, very few of our 12		applicants actually take the trouble to say in 13		their application "I am innocent of this offence,
	14		I am factually innocent of it". But leaving that
09:34	15		aside, as we were developing at some length
	16		yesterday, what the Commission is concerned to do
	17		is to investigate the safety of our applicant's
	18		conviction, and that is the focus of the 19		investigation. It may be, in some of them, that
09:34	20		it is a necessary part of that investigation to 21		inquire into the possibility of identifying or
	22		establishing the commission of the the actual 23		commission of the offence by someone else, but we 24		wouldn't be going into the investigation trying to
09:35	25		establish a prosecutable case against someone

1	else. That is, and remains, the responsibility of
2	the police, not the Commission.
3	So, if I can give you an
4	example, I have there are two examples I can
09:35 5	give. One is a, what one might regard as being a
6	relatively run-of-the-mill type of case, if I can
7	put it that way, the other was a much more
8	notorious case in England.
9	But the first was a young man
09:35 10	who was at the university, he was a law student
11	convicted of armed robbery on a shop, and he was 12	arrested by police officers who were called to the 13	scene. He was carrying his law books, but he 14	seemed to fit the description of one of the he
09:36 15	seemed to fit the description of the robber and,
16	also, he was wearing shoes, the imprint of which
17	matched a footprint, or the sole of which matched
18	a footprint in the soil out in soil outside the 19	shop. So he was prosecuted and convicted and his
09:36 20	defence was "I didn't do it, what happened was I
21	was just walking past the shop and someone came
22	out" I can't remember if he said he knew this 23	other person or not, but that may not matter. But 24	his defence, what he said was "this person came
09:36 25	running out of the shop, threatened me, and said

David William Kyle

1 'I want to swap shoes with you', and so I did 2 that, and that's how I come to have shoes which 3 match the imprint". Now this defence probably 4 5 didn't sound particularly plausible, and it 09:36 certainly wasn't one which the jury thought much 6 7 of, and he was convicted, the first appeal 8 He comes to the Commission, and the dismissed. 9 first thing we do is to have these shoes tested 09:37 10 for DNA, and lo and behold, you know, there is a significant amount of DNA on these shoes which is 11 12 not his. Again, I can't remember whether the DNA 13 which we found was matched to anyone else, but to 14 us that was not a significant point. We told the police we had got this DNA, and they might wish to 09:37 15 16 investigate as to whether they could find the 17 person who had the DNA which was in these shoes, 18 but from our point of view we now had the 19 evidence, the fresh evidence, which we felt was 09:37 20 sufficient to give rise to the real possibility 21 that the Court of Appeal would quash the 22 conviction because, whereas his defence had seemed 23 highly unlikely at the time of trial, all of a 24 sudden here was some hard DNA evidence which 09:37 25 actually gave some credence to what he was saying.

	1		So we referred the case to the Court of Appeal and
	2		his conviction was quashed.
	3		So that was a situation where
	4		our, the nature of our investigation necessarily
09:38	5		embraced the possibility of somebody else having
	6		committed the offence and, indeed, the evidence
	7		which we obtained tended to suggest that that may 8		have been the case, but our purpose was served by 9		doing what I've described. We weren't, as a
09:38	10		Commission, concerned to go on to try and identify 11		who that perpetrator might have been and ensure
	12		that he was investigated for the robbery.
	13		The other example I don't
	14		want to waste the Commission's time, I'm
09:38	15	Q	No, you're quite fine, please carry on?
	16	А	on stories, but there was a notorious case in 17		United Kingdom some ten years ago where the deputy 18		headmaster of a school in the south of England was
	19		convicted of the murder of a young 13-year-old
09:38	20		girl who was his foster daughter. He and his 21		family, I think he had four natural children, who 22		at the time were aged from there was a baby and
	23		then I think the eldest child at the time was 12
	24		or thereabouts. But they had this girl who had
09:39	25		been fostered with them, who by all accounts,
			Mover CompuCourt Penerting

	1	seemed to be settling into the family very well,
	2	and she was murdered in a particularly unpleasant
	3	way. She was beaten about the head with an iron
	4	bar as she was sitting in the garden of the family
09:39	5	home painting some French doors, and eventually
	6	her father the name of the case was Shawn
	7	Jenkins Mr. Jenkins was prosecuted and 8	convicted of her murder. And I think one of the 9	significant pieces of evidence which resulted in
09:39	10	his conviction was the appearance of blood on his 11	clothing, which was said to have come from his 12	foster daughter as he'd hit her.
	13	I mean there were a number of 14	strange things about the case, not least if you
09:40	15	batter someone over the head and she was bleeding,
	16	the victim was very heavily bloodstained, as to 17	why there wasn't more blood on the father. And he
	18	said, anyway, that when he'd got when he found
	19	his daughter he denying responsibility he
09:40	20	thought she was still alive and he cradled her and 21	he thought she was still breathing. But he was 22	convicted of murder.
	23	And as you might imagine with
	24	this type of case, in the when the case was
09:40	25	initially reported, but in the press, there was a

	1	sort of underlying suggestion that maybe there had
	2	been some sort of sexual motivation behind the
	3	relationship between Mr. Jenkins and this young
	4	girl. In fact there was absolutely none, but it
09:41	5	had the effect of turning his wife against him,
	6	which in turn had the effect of having a severely
	7	adverse impact so far as the conduct of his 8	defence was concerned around the question of 9	whether two of his children should give evidence
09:41	10	on his behalf, because on the prosecution case the 11	time available for Mr. Jenkins to have killed his 12	foster daughter was no more than four minutes,
	13	because he'd brought one of his children home from 14	a music lesson and four minutes later they had
09:41	15	driven off somewhere else and then returned and,
	16	according to him, found the body. So there was a
	17	very, very short time frame in which he could have
	18	done this, and I think the defence would very much
	19	have liked to have called these two girls to give
09:41	20	evidence and they didn't for reasons I'll come
	21	onto for a moment.
	22	But one of the, another very
	23	strange and never satisfactorily-explained part of 24	the case was that the pathologist, when the
09:42	25	postmortem was conducted, discovered a piece of
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40193 : 1 plastic, the sort of plastic which comes from bin 2 liners, --3 0 Yes? -- yeah, stuffed deep up one of the child's 4 Α 5 nostrils, and that -- that, to this day I don't 09:42 think that has ever been really explained. 6 7 But the significance of it --8 and this was something which was known at trial --9 was that there was another man who was known to 09:42 10 have been in the area where the family lived, 11 there was park land adjacent to the house, and he 12 was known to have been in this park at around the 13 material time, someone who had some strange 14 propensity for stuffing plastic into holes, 09:43 15 usually into electrical outlets. Now that was 16 known at the time of trial but the police 17 investigated that at the time and there was --18 they were satisfied that actually, at the time 19 when this murder must have taken place, he wasn't 09:43 20 in a position to have been the perpetrator, so he 21 was rejected by the police as a suspect and the 22 defence, although they were aware of it, weren't 23 really able to make very much of it at trial. 24 When the case came to the 09:43 25 Commission there were three broad strands which

- Page 40194 -

I

		1 490 1010 1
	1	the Commission investigated, one of which related
	2	to this man with the propensity for
	3	sticking/stuffing plastic in holes, and we were 4	able to find new evidence which actually
09:44	5	significantly diminished the earlier evidence
	6	providing him, effectively, with an alibi. So we 7	were able to make some inroads into the alibi of 8	this particular person and that was something
	9	which, when we referred the case, we relied on as
09:44	10	part of our reasoning for referring the case.
	11	The other strand of the 12	investigation which we pursued related to
	13	scientific evidence concerning the blood
	14	spattering and how that might have occurred.
09:44	15	And the third line was to deal
	16	with the question of these two young girls, who by 17	now were in their late teens, as to what had been
	18	going on with them as to which had precluded
	19	them from giving evidence because, effectively,
09:44	20	their mother had refused to allow them to give 21	evidence and she had been telling the police, in
	22	the period between Mr. Jenkins' arrest and trial,
	23	about what the girls had been saying to her about
	24	their father's behaviour, all of which tended to
09:45	25	be pretty adverse to Mr. Jenkins. But the defence

1	lawyers were unable to explore this because they
2	were not allowed to interview the girls, and so
3	although defence counsel believed that the girls
4	could give evidence which was extremely helpful to
09:45 5	their father, he couldn't run the risk of calling
6	them because he didn't actually know what they
7	were going to say. He had every reason to think
8	that they may have been manoeuvred, in the 9	intervening months between the offence and the
09:45 10	trial, into being hostile towards their father,
11	and he had no way of finding out what the position
12	actually was, so they weren't called.
13	So we investigated that at the 14	Commission and, again linking this back to
09:45 15	something, what we were talking about yesterday,
16	we weren't that interested in what their
17	recollection of the incident was because we're, by
18	now, seven or eight years on, and in any case
19	their interview, their interviews at the time had
09:46 20	fortuitously been video recorded so we knew what
21	they could have said if they were consistent with 22	their evidence. What we were interested to find
23	out is what they had to say about all these 24	behaviours of their father which their mother had
09:4 6 25	ascribed to them, so we obtained the consent of
	Mover CompuCourt Penerting

- Page 40196 -

1	the Family Division High Court to interview these
2	two girls, and did so, and, to a certain extent,
3	were able to demonstrate, through their mouths,
4	that a lot of what they were reported to have said
09:46 5	which was hostile to their father, in fact, they 6	didn't they did not agree with. So a
7	significant part of the reference back to the 8	Court of Appeal, in addition to the blood and the 9	man with the plastic, was the fact that the
09:4 7 10	defence had been unfairly deprived of the 11	opportunity of calling evidence which was
12	favourable to the defence.
13	When it eventually got to the 14	Court of Appeal, one of the first things the court
09:4 7 15	did was to make a request to the Commission under 16	Section 15 for further inquiries into the man and 17	the plastic and, in particular, into his
18	psychiatric record, so we did that for the Court
19	of Appeal and reported back to them with the
09:47 20	further information about this man.
21	In the event, the Court of
22	Appeal attached little significance to the man
23	with the plastic and, as I say, that appeared, the 24	appearance of the plastic deep in her nostril
09:47 25	remains to this day a very strange and unexplained

1 part of the case. 2 The Court of Appeal was not 3 that persuaded either by the arguments around the two girls' evidence and what won the day for Mr. 4 5 Jenkins was the fresh evidence on the blood 09:48 6 splattering, so in this particular instance the 7 Court of Appeal ordered, guashed the conviction 8 and ordered a retrial. Mr. Jenkins was retried. 9 As a result, the first jury failed to agree, so he 09:48 10 was tried again and acquitted. 11 Q Okay. So that would be a case then where, I guess 12 from the Court of Appeal inquiries, would be made 13 about another possible perpetrator? 14 Α Yes. 09:48 15 Can you comment on, and again I'll give you, I 0 16 think you have a general understanding of the 17 Larry Fisher -- Larry Fisher's involvement in the 18 David Milgaard case? 19 Α Uh-huh. 09:48 20 He was part of the first application, and I think 0 21 the ground put forward, at least in part, was 22 David Milgaard -- there had been a miscarriage of 23 justice because Larry Fisher had committed the 24 crime, not David Milgaard? 09:49 25 Uh-huh. Α

	1	Q	Can you tell us generally, how would the
	2		Commission deal with an application of an inmate
	3		who says I was wrongfully convicted and I think X
	4		committed the crime and here's why I think so
09:49	5	А	Uh-huh.
	6	Q	and if you can prove that X did the crime, then
	7		I didn't, and so that type of ground. First of 8		all, is that something that the Commission would 9		normally receive, that type of argument, and
09:49	10		secondly, how would you approach that?
	11	А	Well, I think interestingly, from my recollection,
	12		I don't think that the Commission has ever
	13		received an application in such stark terms. I
	14		can think of an example which I'll come onto in a
09:49	15		moment where another name has come into the frame
	16		subsequent subsequent to in a slightly
	17		different way, but I don't think that the 18		Commission has ever been, ever had an application
	19		which is quite so stark in its terms, "I didn't do
09:49	20		it, I'm nominating a named person as being
	21		responsible."
	22		Where it has arisen has been
	23		more in the circumstances of the two examples that
	24		I've given, that there is a suggestion that
09:50	25		there is an inference from the way the application

	1	is framed that someone else has done it, but it
	2	may not be someone known to the applicant, but
	3	assume there was such an application. Well, the 4	Commission would embark on an inquiry to see to
09:50	5	what extent evidence could be found which tended
	6	to support the suggestion which was being made,
	7	but as I say, the objective that the Commission
	8	was following was to find that evidence which
	9	would be sufficient to meet the Commission's test
09:50	10	for referral and the focus would be on new 11	evidence tending to show that our applicant had 12	been wrongly convicted.
	13	Now, if that involved
	14	endeavouring to show that somebody else had
09:51	15	committed the offence, all we would be looking for 16	would be sufficient evidence to suggest that that 17	was a possibility and a sufficiently significant
	18	possibility to give rise to real to doubt as to 19	whether our application, our applicant was in fact
09:51	20	the perpetrator. As I said earlier, what we 21	wouldn't be doing is trying to prove a
	22	prosecutable case.
	23	Now, I can envisage a
	24	circumstance, but it has never happened, in which 09:51	25	that might be necessary, and I think that would
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		almost certainly be a circumstance in which we
2		would have asked for the appointment of an
3		investigating officer.
4	Q	So just back on the first point then, if the
09:51 5		Commission would investigate and find that the 6		possible involvement of a third party might be a
7		basis to say that the conviction of the applicant
8		is unsafe, that would be the extent of your
9		investigation?
09:5 2 10	А	Yes, yes. So, I mean, if I take what I understand
11		to be the position of Larry Fisher
12	Q	Yes.
13	А	that I think if I was putting this in the 14		context of an investigation by the CCRC, we would
0 9:52 15		have the first thing or we would hope that 16		we would have found from a review of all the 17		police files that Larry Fisher's wife had made,
18		had suggested to the police that she thought her
19		husband might be responsible, so we would then be
09:52 20		looking and saying, well, what was the police
21		response to that, and the investigations we
22		carried out would develop from there and
23		presumably we would then reach the point which was 24		reached when the application went before the
09:52 25		Supreme Court here in 1992, that here was a man

	1		who, in relation to whom there was certainly
	2		substantial reason to think that he was a
	3		plausible suspect for this offence, particularly
	4		having regard to previous convictions in a matter
09:53	5		of that nature. I mean, I can't sit here and say
	6		we would definitely have found our test to have 7		been satisfied because that would depend on the 8		rest of the case, and of course there's an awful
	9		lot more to this case than simply the Larry Fisher
09:53	10		dimension, but what we would be looking at was we 11		have now found this new evidence which was
	12		probably available at the time if anyone had made
	13		the links, but whether that's, those links were 14		made right or not and whatever the situation was,
09:53	15		there was information about this suspect which 16		wasn't disclosed to the defence at trial and we 17		think that had this information been available to 18		them, they could have deployed it effectively to 19		suggest that there was a reasonable doubt about
09:53	20		Mr. Milgaard's guilt, and if that was the case, we
	21		might welcome the conclusion that our real
	22		possibility test was satisfied and refer to the 23		Court of Appeal for them to consider.
	24	Q	And so would it be correct to say that your focus
09:53	25		would not be on whether or not Larry Fisher

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

J_

	1		committed the crime or David Milgaard committed
	2		the crime, but whether the information relating to
	3		Larry Fisher that had not been known by defence,
	4		if it had been known, what effect if any it would
09:54	5		have on the jury's verdict?
	6	А	Yes, could it have been deployed effectively to 7		induce the sort of doubt which the defence would
	8		be interested to induce in the minds of the jury.
	9	Q	And so really looking at the safety of Mr.
09:54	10		Milgaard's original conviction with this new
	11		information being other sexual assaults and Mr.
	12		Fisher's involvement in those assaults, could that
	13		information have made a difference at Mr.
	14		Milgaard's trial, that would be the focus?
09:54	15	А	That would be the focus, and it would of course
	16		be, I think it would take into account the fact
	17		that Mr. Fisher lived close by to, I think he 18		lived in the same building as one of the 19		significant Crown witnesses in the case.
09:54	20	Q	Yes, that's correct.
	21	А	Yes. So, you know, it's it clearly is not
	22		as matters were known when the application was
	23		considered by the Supreme Court in the early
	24		1990s, it certainly was not an off-the-wall
09:55	25		suggestion that here was another plausible
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40203 : 1 candidate and it might have been possible for the 2 defence to deploy that information effectively in 3 Mr. Milgaard's defence had they known about it at 4 the time. 5 Q And so would you look at questions as to whether 09:55 or not evidence about Mr. Fisher would have been 6 7 admissible at David Milgaard's trial? 8 Α Yes. 9 And, secondly, we've heard a fair bit of evidence Q 09:55 10 about similar act and whether or not the other 11 rapes committed by Mr. Fisher are similar to Gail 12 Miller's murder which I think many witnesses have 13 said goes to the question of whether or not the 14 Fisher evidence is significant enough to have 09:55 15 Is that something that you would raised a doubt. 16 have pursued as well? 17 Α Yes, I'm sure. And then I take it, though, your test is not to 18 Q 19 say that it would have affected the verdict of the 09:56 20 jury, but rather is it something that might be 21 expected to affect the verdict? 22 Yes. Α 23 0 And in fact even one step removed, is there a real 24 possibility that the Court of Appeal might conclude that this evidence might have affected

09:56 25

	1		the verdict; is that a fair way to put it?
	2	А	Yes, I mean, you get quite a convoluted sentence,
	3		but what we would be saying, asking ourselves is,
	4		is there a real possibility that the Court of
09:56	5		Appeal will receive this fresh evidence and,
	6		having received it, is there a real possibility
	7		that they will conclude that it might have
	8		resulted in the jury reaching a different verdict.
	9	Q	And it's correct to say then that you would leave
09:56	10		it up to the if you decided that there was the 11		real possibility, you would leave it up to the 12		Court of Appeal to decide I guess maybe the 13		tougher question is would it have affected the 14		verdict, and the Court of Appeal would decide,
09:56	15		number one, whether to receive the evidence and,
	16		two, to decide how it might have affected the 17		safety of the verdict?
	18	А	Yes. I mean, the Court of Appeal would be asking
	19		"might", they wouldn't be asking "would" I don't
09:57	20		think, and I think the test the Court of Appeal
	21		applies, which is identified in the House of Lords
	22		case of Pendleton, is that if they have any
	23		difficulty with fresh evidence because, I mean,
	24		some fresh evidence will be utterly overwhelming
09:57	25		in showing that the conviction is unsafe, other

	1		fresh evidence may be equally overwhelming the
	2		other way, but the grey area, and this would be a
	3		grey area, this type of evidence, the House of 4		Lords in Pendleton said in those situations the
09:57	5		Court of Appeal should ask itself to test their 6		own view of it, what impact that evidence might
	7		have had on the jury.
	8	Q	And just to finish up on that point then, I take
	9		it that you would not need to investigate Larry
09:57	10		Fisher as a suspect to the point of trying to 11		establish that he committed the crime?
	12	А	Well, not in the circumstances that we've been,
	13		we've just been talking about, no. I mean, the 14		reality in Mr. Milgaard's case now, if an
09:58	15		application on the basis if one hypothesizing
	16		an application from someone convicted in the sorts
	17		of circumstances which Mr. Milgaard was and the 18		circumstances are, as we now know them to be;
	19		namely, that there is available at the time the
09:58	20		application is made to the Commission exhibits
	21		available, forensic examination, the first thing
	22		the Commission would now do would be to have those
	23		existing, those still existing forensic exhibits
	24		examined for DNA because of the ongoing
09:58	25		improvement in DNA techniques, so it's quite
			Mever CompuCourt Reporting

	1		likely that in 2006 a review by the Commission of
	2		a murder of this nature in the late 1970s would
	3		start with a DNA analysis of available exhibits,
	4		and given what we now know about the outcome of
09:59	5		the DNA analysis which was done in Mr. Milgaard's
	6		case, the Commission would presumably discover
	7		fairly quickly that the semen at the scene did not
	8		come from Mr. Milgaard and that, irrespective of 9		whether or not that DNA could be matched to
09:59	10		someone else, that would be a knock-down reason
	11		for referring the case back to the Court of
	12		Appeal.
	13		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: You did say
	14		however, sir, that you would have asked for the
09:59	15		appointment of an investigating officer given the 16		circumstances of the case?
	17	А	I'm sorry, if you understood me to have said that,
	18		that was not what I intended to say. What I
	19		intended to say was if we thought it was necessary
10:00	20		to conduct an investigation which was in order
	21		to conduct the inquiries necessary for our 22		purposes, it was also necessary to investigate the 23		actual involvement of someone else
	24		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes.
10:00	25	А	which might involve arresting that person and

	1		questioning them, and we have done that in one of 2		our cases. It wasn't specifically about trying to
	3		prove that someone else had done it, but someone
	4		else who might have had a criminal involvement in 10:00	5		the offence in question was identified and so we 6		asked the police to arrest and interview that 7		person under caution. If that was necessary for 8		our part of it, for our investigations, we would 9		probably invite the appointment of an
10:00	10		investigating officer to do it.
	11		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Uh-huh.
	12	А	But in this case, our initial step would be to see
	13		to this was an offence in which a woman was 14		raped and murdered. There was evidence that we 10:01	15		would see as part of our review of the history of 16		the case that there was blood grouping evidence
	17		given around the frozen semen samples found in the 18		snow and we might reasonably assume that there
	19		could have been further relevant forensic evidence
10:01	20		on clothing, so we would find out what was 21		available to be examined now and because of an
	22		offence of this nature almost invariably results
	23		in the deposit of relevant bodily fluids which can 24		be examined, we would do that first, and we 10:01	25		wouldn't need an investigating officer to do that, we would simply get on to the Forensic Science

2 Service and say will you take these exhibits from 3 me and examine them. 4 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And assuming the 5 need for an investigating officer, your choice of 10:01 6 a policeman interests me. Inasmuch as we've 7 heard evidence in this case that the mere mention 8 of a policeman being involved in the 9 investigation of matters where police were 10:02 10 alleged to have committed a wrongdoing raised a suspicion of bias and --11 12 А Yes. 13 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And so do I take 14 it then that you just, you approach the matter 10:02 15 from a different point of view, from the 16 presumption of regularity, that the police will 17 do what they are supposed to never mind the 18 criticism from suspicious people? 19 Α Yes, and this is -- there have been occasions when 10:02 20 precisely this problem has arisen and we deal with 21 it at an early stage as part of the ongoing 22 management of our applicants, because the reality 23 is that if you are wanting to have a full-scale 24 investigation of something to be done by experienced investigators, you can say -- you can 10:02 25

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting –

	1	ask the applicant, well, who actually do you think
	2	is going to do it, who do you suggest has the
	3	necessary expertise and powers other than a police
	4	officer, which is usually a question which they 10:03	5	can't satisfactorily answer.
	6	The next thing after that, or
	7	maybe even before asking that question, is to make 8	sure that they understand absolutely that if the 9	Commission requires the appointment of an
10:03	10	investigating officer, that investigation is going
	11	to be carried out under the direction and
	12	supervision of the Commission and the actual
	13	process of getting one of these investigating
	14	officer reviews underway is an extensive and 10:03	15	protracted one and involves a considerable amount
	16	of discussion with the police around the nature of 17	the investigation, the sort of officer we would be 18	looking for to investigate it, and once we've 19	identified a suitable investigating officer, we
10:04	20	work out terms of reference for the investigation
	21	with them and the ongoing investigation is
	22	supervised and directed by Commission staff.
	23	So it isn't a question of 24	saying to the police we would like you to 10:04	25	investigate this, get on with it and let us know

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting ____

1 what you find out, it's much more closely confined 2 than that, and as I say, the final thing which we 3 can do to, both to improve the likely 4 effectiveness of the investigation and in passing 5 allay the applicant's fears about all of this is 10:04 6 to require the appointment of a police officer 7 from a different police force. COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: 8 Yes. 9 Α And I might say that in two of the cases which I 10:04 10 dealt with when I was at the Commission where we 11 did require the appointment of an investigating 12 officer, that circumstances arose in the course of 13 that investigation where we were not 100 percent 14 impressed with the way in which our investigating officer had gone about certain of the inquiries 10:05 15 16 and we simply got him to do them again. 17 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay. 18 So any foot dragging or how he might express it by Α 19 the investigating officer would be acted on by the 10:05 20 Commission. 21 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay. 22 BY MR. HODSON: 23 0 Do I understand, Mr. Kyle, that again -- just back 24 to the, this analysis of the Larry Fisher crimes 10:05 25 and whether that information might have affected Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

	1		the verdict of the jury. Would that be something
	2		that, and I appreciate this is just a very general
	3		discussion, but would you normally go to Mr.
	4		Fisher then and interview him or would you go
10:05	5		would you rely upon the record of his offences?
	6		In other words, here's the information about this 7		man, would it matter to you whether or not he
	8		denied his involvement or the rest of the matters
	9		that might link him to that crime?
10:06	10	А	Well, our starting point, I suppose in a way this 11		should be, we would adopt the same sort of 12		approach and strategy to the investigation,
	13		bearing in mind we know what our objective is,
	14		which is to see whether we can obtain new evidence
10:06	15		which calls the safety of the conviction into
	16		doubt, that's the objective. We would start with
	17		the we would start at the beginning and work
	18		outwards, and interviewing Larry Fisher as part of 19		the objective we wanted to serve is likely to be a
10:06	20		long way down the road in terms of earlier
	21		investigative activity and what we would be
	22		looking for, because what we would be looking for
	23		is what, in some respects, whether Larry Fisher
	24		admits or denies the offence and, frankly, if the 10:07	25		Commission just knocked on his door and said would Mover CompuCourt Perperting

	1		you we think you may have murdered Gail Miller,
	2		what do you say about that, likely he would tell
	3		us to go away and deny it, there would be a lot of 4		proprietary investigation before any question of 10:07	5		interviewing Larry Fisher arose, and if there was 6		a need to interview Larry Fisher, then, as I've
	7		indicated to the Commission a moment ago, I think
	8		that by that point an interview of Larry Fisher,
	9		if it was that sig if we needed to do that as 10:07	10		part of our investigation, would necessarily then
	11		involve the introduction of a dimension to the 12		investigation which included investigating Larry
	13		Fisher for the actual commission of the offence
	14		and that's a police matter, so that's why I say we 10:07	15		would be looking at that stage to ask for the 16		appointment of an investigating officer.
	17	Q	But do I understand that those cases would be rare
	18		where your investigation leads you to engage a
	19		police force to investigate another alleged 10:08	20		perpetrator?
	21	А	Yes.
	22	Q	Can you comment on, just on how the Commission
	23		deals with weighing the credibility of evidence or
	24		information that you seek to gather? Is there
10:08	25		again, keeping in mind your objective is the real

	1		possibility whether the Court of Appeal might find
	2		a basis to find the verdict unsafe, when you look
	3		at evidence of witnesses, what is your what do
	4		you do do you weigh the evidence, is it
10:08	5		something that you let the Court of Appeal decide,
	6		or how do you weed out that which might be not
	7		credible?
	8	А	Well, I think in this context, as indeed in many
	9		others, you quite rightly pointed out on a number
10:08	10		of occasions the Commission is a gateway into the 11		Court of Appeal and because real possibility is 12		not defined in the act and has been given a broad
	13		definition by the high court in the case of $ex$
	14		parte Pearson, we approach our work on the basis
10:09	15		that we are a wide gateway, we're not we see
	16		the real possibility test as being a relatively
	17		low threshold, it's not a hugely difficult hurdle
	18		for an applicant to overcome.
	19		As we were looking at the 10:09	20		figures, the two-third/one-third split in the 21		Court of Appeal suggests that there is a
	22		reasonable application of that real possibility
	23		test, but in assessing the weight of evidence and 24		the impact it's likely to have and its 10:09	25		credibility, the Commission has to have regard to

		J J
	1	precisely the same matter that the Court of Appeal
	2	is going to have because one of the factors the
	3	Court of Appeal has to take into account when 4	considering whether to receive fresh evidence is 10:10	5	whether it's capable of belief and that may, in 6	some respects, have some subjective elements to 7	it, but generally speaking, assessing whether a
	8	witness is capable of belief is something which 9	the Commission does on an objective,
10:10	10	evidence-based basis, so we will be looking for 11	essentially just how credible does this evidence
	12	appear, is it supported.
	13	This goes back to what we were
	14	saying yesterday with witnesses who recant or 10:10	15	co-accused who try to suggest after the event that 16	their partner in crime was innocent, we know that 17	the Court of Appeal is cynical about that and is 18	unlikely to find capable of belief a bare
	19	assertion by a witness that something is different
10:10	20	now to what it was, and so the assessment of 21	credibility of evidence, I mean, it's not really
	22	capable in a scientific analysis to how one goes
	23	about it, but it is a matter of taking the 24	evidence that you've got and assessing how
10:11	25	credible it is in the context of the case as a

2	Q	Okay. Go to 339755, please, and I obtained this
3		from the web site, I think this is the current
4		application that's used for inmates; is that
10:11 5		correct?
6	A	It certainly looks like it, yes.
7	Q	And if we can just go to page 339759, and it looks
8		like this is the part, if you can just enlarge the 9		top part, talking about would it be fair to say
10:11 10		that this application is geared towards the inmate
11		or the convicted person?
12	А	Uh-huh.
13	Q	As opposed to perhaps their counsel?
14	А	Yes, it is. I mean, the majority of applications
10:12 15		are received completed by the applicants
16		themselves or by friends of theirs and so the 17		language of the application is deliberately chosen
18		to make it easy for applicants to fill in 19		themselves.
10:12 20	Q	And here it says:

Uh-huh. 4 Α 5 And you commented on this yesterday and I think 10:12 Q you said generally that the grounds that the 6 7 Commission investigates are often guite different 8 than what the applicant puts forward? 9 In some cases the applicant will --Α Yes. 10:13 10 applicants will put their finger on what seems to 11 have gone wrong and will be able, in their own 12 terms, to identify issues which the Commission 13 subsequently thinks are significant. In other 14 cases applicants may not say anything, they will 10:13 15 fill in this part of the form, but it won't 16 actually identify anything which could conceivably 17 impact on the safety of the conviction, and in 18 other cases it may be a mixture, and then when the 19 Commission comes to review the case and decide on 10:13 20 the nature of the investigation and the extent of 21 it, that will include consideration being given by 22 the Commission as to whether there are any 23 relevant issues which the applicant simply hasn't 24 mentioned at all but which ought to be looked at. 10:14 25 And I think you told us yesterday, and maybe even Q again this morning, that your objective or your focus is to investigate those grounds that you think, if established, would provide a remedy; in other words --A Yes. Q -- your focus is on what might get you through the gateway? A Absolutely right, and it is now, and it probably wouldn't surprise anyone, that in the very early days of the Commission, before we had really got a grip on our own process and procedures, and in

9 10:14 10 days of the Commission, before we had really got a 11 12 particular where there was no Commission member 13 involvement with the case review manager in the 14 structuring and conduct of the investigation, that 10:14 15 we were finding that our case review managers were 16 full of enthusiasm to expose wrongful convictions 17 and were investigating anything and everything 18 which the applicant told them, and anything and 19 everything of issues which they, the case review 10:14 20 managers, identified, and what we were finding was 21 that an awful lot of time was being spent 22 investigating issues which, even if they had been 23 factually resolved in the applicant's favour, 24 could never have made any difference to the safety 10:15 25 of the conviction, so the development of the

	1		Commission's processes and working methods has
	2		been around this attempt to identify at an early
	3		stage what it is about the case which, were it to 4		be resolved in the applicant's favour, could
10:15	5		genuinely be said to have an impact on the safety
	6		of the conviction, but that is the focus of the
	7		investigation.
	8	Q	If we can go to 339668, please. This is a
	9		document again from the CCRC web site that just 10:15	10		goes through the application phases, and I'll just 11		generally deal with this, and I think you talked,
	12		the first step:
	13		"Is it a valid application?"
	14		And that is whether the appeals have expired, or 10:16	15		if there has been no appeal
	16	А	Yeah.
	17	Q	then it's a no. If it's yes, then it looks
	18		like:
	19		"Review amount of work required."
10:16	20		And that is, is it a five day fast-track?
	21	А	Yes.
	22	Q	Or is it something else?
	23	А	Yes.
	24	Q	And then case review and I'll get into this in 10:16	25		a moment, that would be the substantial

1		investigative work?
2	А	Yes.
3	Q	And then a provisional view; it's my understanding
4		the Commission would create a provisional view of 10:16 5		either reference or no reference; correct?
6	А	Yes. I mean I'm, certainly when I was at the 7		Commission the provisional view and the response
8		to provisional review related only to those cases
9		where we were provisionally deciding not to refer.
10:16 10	Q	Okay.
11	А	Now it may be that they have changed in the 12,
12		well, certainly that was still the case in March
13		last year when I was there as the case review
14		manager.
15	Q	So
16	А	So if they've changed their position now to give a
17		provisional view of a reference, then I'm not
18		aware of it.
19	Q	Yeah. There may be elaboration later on. So, in 10:17 20		any event, it's those cases where a reference
21		would not be made, then there would be a
22		provisional view and an opportunity of the 23		applicant to respond to that before a final
24		decision is made?
10:17 25	А	Indeed. And there have been cases where we have
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40220 1 responded, we have considered the response to our 2 provisional view and changed our mind, and made a 3 reference. There have been cases? 4 0 Yes. 5 10:17 Α It talks a bit about the 6 Go to the next page. 0 7 process, and I want to spend a bit of time on case 8 review, it says: 9 "Once a case is allocated to a 10:17 10 caseworker (usually called a Case Review 11 Manager or a Case Worker) the review 12 begins. At this stage the caseworker 13 will examine the issues raised in the 14 application, as well as any issues the 10:17 15 caseworker spots, to see if there might 16 be anything that could give grounds for 17 referring the case. In most cases we do 18 all the work on a case ourselves, but we 19 do have the power to appoint an 10:18 20 investigating officer (usually from the 21 police) to carry out investigations for 22 us." 23 And is it correct that this is where the leqwork 24 would be done, by the case review manager? 10:18 25 Α Yes.

1	Q	And
2	А	Under the guidance of a member of the Commission.
3	Q	So one Commission member would be assigned to 4		oversee the case review manager or the 10:18 5		caseworkers' investigation;
6	А	Yes.
7	Q	is that correct? And that investigator or
8		caseworker would gather, that would be the person
9		who would gather the documents, review
10:18 10		transcripts, review the files. And you talked,
11		yesterday, about creation of and I can't
12		remember what you called it whether it was a
13		plan or an investigation plan
14	А	A case plan, yes.
10:18 15	Q	or a case plan; can you tell us a bit about
16		that?
17	А	Well the object of the case plan is to identify 18		all the issues which had been raised by the 19		applicant or by the Commission, and in its early
10:18 20		stages that, of course, would include issues which 21		had been raised by the applicant which the
22		Commission then judges not to be of significance
23		to the safety of the conviction and, therefore,
24		not meriting any further investigation or review,
10:19 25		and the case plan will identify those issues and

1	it will record the decisions which are taken by
2	the case review manager and the Commission member
3	as to what issues should be investigated and how
4	that investigation should be started, you know,
10:19 5	how that how the what the components of 6	those, of the investigation against each issue,
7	should be.
8	And the case plan remains a
9	living document in the sense that as the 10:19 10	investigation progresses, outcomes are recorded
11	and any new lines of investigation are then put
12	into the case plan, and so as the investigation
13	progresses the steps which have been taken, and 14	their outcomes, are recorded in the case plan.
10:20 15	And the there is a there is a monitoring
16	exercise which the Commission has introduced.
17	Because one of the matters
18	which the Commission is particularly concerned
19	about, and something we touched briefly on 10:20 20	yesterday, is how long these investigations take,
21	and some of them can take a considerable amount of 22	time. What the Commission is anxious to know is 23	are they taking a long time because they genuinely
24	are taking a long time, or are they taking a long
10:20 25	time because, for some reason or another, the

	1	investigation has lost its impetus. Which may
	2	happen, for example, if you ask for further
	3	scientific examination to be done and you send the 4	stuff off to be examined and it doesn't come back,
10:20	5	and so you've got a chunk of time in which
	6	actually nothing is happening on the investigation
	7	at all, but the overall length of time that the 8	investigation takes is ticking on. So the 9	Commission had just started introducing a
10:21	10	procedure, as I left from being a member of the 11	Commission, whereby I think, I think after every
	12	six if six months had gone by since work
	13	started on one of these cases requiring an
	14	extended review, and that case hadn't been put up
10:21	15	for decision, then a case review committee of 16	three Commission members would be assembled and 17	they would require to be brought up to date on 18	what had been happening in the investigation and 19	why it was that, six months after work had 10:21	20	started, no the case hadn't been put up for 21	decision. And that would be the opportunity for 22	Commission members not actually involved in the 23	investigation to take stock of the position and we 24	found, when we first started doing this, that the 10:22	25	prospect of a case review committee prompted a

1		considerable amount of activity on the case in the
2		weeks before that case review committee actually
3		met so that, by the time the case review committee
4		met, the case was actually put to them for 10:22 5		decision.
6		So that it's but that,
7		that, effectively, is what the case plan is about,
8		it's to provide the control mechanism for the case
9		review manager and the Commission member to 10:22 10		self-monitor, if I can put it that way, what they
11		are doing and why, and it also provides a record
12		of what's been going on, so that if it is a case
13		in which a case review committee is assembled,
14		they can see what's been done.
10:22 15	Q	If we can go to the next page, provisional view,
16		and I think this will clarify what we've talked
17		about earlier. It says:
18		"When we reach a provisional view that
19		there are no grounds to refer a case,
10:23 20		the person who has made the application
21		to us will normally be given 20 working
22		days to respond to the provisional
23		view."
24		So it appears that
10:23 25	А	Then nothing has changed.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	Γ		Vol 192 - Tuesday, October 3rd, 2006
	1	Q	nothing has changed?
	2	А	Yeah.
	3	Q	If we can go to 339667. And this is simply a Case
	4		Statistics, and I think this is up to August 31,
10:23	5		2006, that we obtained from your web site, and I
	6		think it's consistent with the numbers you've
	7		provided. Yours may have been
	8	А	I'm happy to say that they are, they are the same
	9		numbers, yeah.
10:23	10	Q	Yes.
	11	А	It doesn't always happen in these situations.
	12	Q	Yes. So these would be, up until the end of 13		August, the 'Total applications', 'Open' would
	14		be what would 'Open' mean; do you know?
10:23	15	А	'Open' means that they are awaiting review.
	16	Q	Okay. And
	17	А	In other words, they are sitting on the shelf,
	18		waiting to be allocated for review.
	19	Q	Okay. And then 420 'Actively being worked on'?
10:24	20	А	Yes.
	21	Q	And 'Completed', 8,260 would be rejected, and that
	22		would be or dismissed, but that would include
	23		ineligible
	24	А	Yes, which is about a third of that number, I mean
10:24	25		the actual number of dismissed as being ineligible
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40226 : 1 is 2,346. And then 340 referrals to the Court of Appeal? 2 Q 3 Α Yes. 4 And it looks as though some are still in the que, 0 5 but of the 287 that were heard by the Court of 10:24 6 Appeal, 198 convictions were quashed and 89 were 7 upheld; --8 Α Yes. 9 -- is that correct? Q 10:24 10 Yes. Α 11 Q That's probably a good spot, Mr. Commissioner. 12 Α I might just say, for the sake of completeness on 13 that point, that --14 Yes? Q 10:24 15 -- within those figures there will be the very few Α 16 cases which have been referred, summary 17 convictions of the Magistrate's Court, which have 18 been referred to the Crown Court by the 19 Commission, and also referrals, equally few in 10:25 20 number, which have been made on the grounds of 21 sentence only. 22 Q Okay, both -- so primarily convictions. Of the 23 198 that are quashed, and we talked a bit about 24 this yesterday, --10:25 25 Uh-huh. Α

	1	Q	they would be quashed because the verdict is
	2		not safe;
	3	А	Yes.
	4	Q	correct? And as far as the factual innocence
10:25	5		or let me back up. I take it, once the 6		conviction is quashed, these people would be in 7		the position of being innocent;
	8	А	Yes.
	9	Q	correct? Innocent because there is no longer a
10:25	10		conviction?
	11	А	Yes.
	12	Q	And as far as the factual innocence, or I think
	13		your term was "innocence in the absolute sense",
	14		am I to understand your evidence that that would
10:25	15		not be something that your Commission would look
	16		into, nor would the Court of Appeal consider in
	17		granting the remedy?
	18	А	That's right.
	19	Q	If we could break?
10:25	20		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Uh-huh.
	21		(Adjourned at 10:25 a.m.)
	22		(Reconvened at 10:50 a.m.)
	23	BY I	MR. HODSON:
	24	Q	Just call up 339667 again. I think at the break,
10:50	25		Mr. Kyle, you were telling me that of these 198
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		cases that were quashed by the Court of Appeal
2		there were seven new trials ordered; is that
3		correct?
4	А	That appears to be so. I've just been through the 10:50 5		list of the referred cases and their outcomes and
6		I've on a quick review of that list there
7		appears to be seven cases in which the Court of 8		Appeal has quashed the conviction and, also, gone
9		on to order a retrial.
10:50 10		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Only seven, did I
11		hear correctly?
12	А	Seven, yes.
13	E	BY MR. HODSON:
14	Q	And what, and I appreciate we're speculating a bit
10:51 15		about what the Court of Appeal is doing and why it
16		is doing it, but is there any theme as to where 17		the Court of Appeal will order a retrial as
18		opposed to just quashing the conviction? Is there
19		anything that you can provide to assist us in 10:51 20		understanding what cases the English Court of 21		Appeal would order a new trial?
22	А	I think the main consideration in any case is
23		going to be whether the Court of Appeal considers 24		that it would be possible for any retrial to be 10:51 25		fair, and that, of course, would be 'fair' in the

– Meyer CompuCourt Reporting –

1 The

	1		widest sense, whether it would be possible, taking
	2		account of both the prosecution position and the 3		defence position, for any further trial to be a
	4		fair one. And the sort of considerations which 10:51	5		are going to arise there are the length of time
	6		since the offence giving rise to the criminal
	7		proceedings, the nature of the evidence, the 8		extent to which it depends on witness
	9		recollection, because and, of that, I think
10:52	10		probably the time lapse is likely to be the most 11		significant, because lapse of time is likely to 12		have the most significant impact on whether an 13		ensuing trial can be fair or not.
	14	Q	And so, in the David Milgaard case, I think the 10:52	15		Supreme Court well not I think the Supreme
	16		Court did advise the federal minister to set aside
	17		the conviction which happened in 1992,
	18	А	Uh-huh.
	19	Q	so 23 years after the crime. Just, again based
10:52	20		on your general understanding of the English Court
	21		of Appeal cases, would it be correct to assume
	22		that in England it would be highly unlikely that
	23		the English Court of Appeal would order a new 24		trial 23 years later?
10:52	25	А	Umm, yes, I think so, particularly given what I understand to be the nature of the -- and character of the evidence which was involved in this particular case.

4 Can you tell us whether, again just generally, 0 5 whether those applicants who get a remedy from the 10:53 Commission, go to the Court of Appeal and have 6 7 their conviction quashed without a new trial, whether those people are put in a state of -- or 8 9 perceive that they are in a state of legal limbo; 10:53 10 in other words that they have been convicted once, 11 it's been quashed, but they haven't been found not 12 quilty? Do you follow that? I'm just wondering 13 if there is -- and the reason I raise that, it's one of the items this Commission has heard about a 14 bit, that where an accused is -- has been 10:53 15 16 convicted, and then later the conviction has been 17 set aside, that there might still be a cloud or 18 some uncertainty over that person's perceived 19 guilt or innocence? 10:53 20 Uh-huh. А

21QAnd I'm just wondering in England, where your22Commission sends cases to the Court of Appeal and23a remedy is granted, do the applicants express the24same concern that they have not been exonerated10:5425sufficiently by having the conviction quashed?

Ī

	1	А	They may have that concern because it's easy, it's
	2		quite easy to envisage why someone who's in that
	3		situation might think that in their inner souls,
	4		if I can put it that way, but it's very unusual
10:54	5		for an applicant to express such feelings
	6		outwardly. Most, in my experience, are quite 7		prepared to accept that the quashing of the 8		conviction entitles them to tell anybody who's
	9		interested that they are innocent.
10:54	10	Q	And having a second trial and being acquitted, in
	11		your view, would that give that person any better
	12		status as far as being innocent?
	13	А	Well not as a matter of it wouldn't make any 14		different legal position. It would be I
10:55	15		whether it would actually make any factual
	16		difference to the individual applicant, I don't
	17		know, but of course in very many of these cases
	18		the applicant might be sufficiently realistic to 19		appreciate that if there was a retrial, he might 10:55	20		find himself reconvicted. And, you know, the 21		notion that applicants will say "well I'm not
	22		satisfied with this outcome, I wish to be retried
	23		so that I can clear my name through an acquittal
	24		by a jury", that's easy to say, but you can't
10:55	25		actually guarantee that outcome.

	1	Q	But, again, would from a legal sense, though, I
	2		think what you are telling us, that an acquittal
	3		by the jury puts that person in no different legal
	4		position than that person was in before the trial,
10:56	5		because the conviction had been quashed?
	6	А	Absolutely, yes.
	7	Q	Can you comment at all on well, let's just talk
	8		for a moment about compensation, and I don't want
	9		to get into it in too much detail because I
10:56	10		think it's my understanding that that's dealt
	11		with quite separate and apart from the CCRC?
	12	А	Yes, it is.
	13	Q	And I have tried to locate some information on
	14		that, I'm not going to put it to you, I may end up
10:56	15		filing it with the Commission and providing it to 16		the parties.
	17	А	Uh-huh.
	18	Q	But it's my understanding that there is 19		legislation in England and if I can find the 10:56	20	А	Section 133 of the Criminal Justice Act 1988.
	21	Q	Right. And it's actually Section 133, but it
	22		says:
	23		"When a person has been convicted of a
	24		criminal offence and when subsequently
10:56	25		his conviction has been reversed or he

Page 40233 1 has been pardoned on the ground that a 2 new or newly discovered fact shows 3 beyond a reasonable doubt that there has been a miscarriage of justice the 4 5 Secretary of State shall pay 10:57 6 compensation for the miscarriage of 7 justice to the person." 8 And then it's my understanding of the law that, 9 where the CCRC refers a case to the Court of 10:57 10 Appeal and the Court of Appeal quashes a 11 conviction, that that person then would be 12 entitled to apply to the Secretary of State for 13 compensation pursuant to that statute; is that 14 correct? 10:57 15 Umm, well, he'd certainly be in a position to Α 16 apply because he has now -- the convicted person 17 has now had his conviction guashed. 18 But the legis -- the 19 particular section in the legislation, whilst it's 10:57 20 mandatory in its terms as to the entitlement to 21 compensation so the only issue is going to be the 22 amount of compensation, the language of the 23 section is quite tightly drawn and it depends on 24 the applicant being able to show to the Home 10:58 25 Secretary, who is responsible for the payment of

	1		compensation, that, as a result of some new or
	2		newly-discovered fact, it can be said that, beyond
	3		a reasonable doubt, there has been a miscarriage
	4		of justice. And as I understand the way in which
10:58	5		the Home Secretary approaches his interpretation
	6		of that section, 'miscarriage of justice' is given
	7		the narrow sort of meaning that we were talking
	8		about yesterday, and what the Home Secretary would
	9		be looking for is to be satisfied beyond
10:58	10		reasonable doubt that the person who is making the 11		claim for the compensation is factually innocent.
	12	Q	Okay. And so that would be something separate and 13		apart from what the CCRC deals with?
	14	А	Absolutely. And I hope that if, sort of, one
10:59	15		thing stands out from the evidence that I have
	16		been giving to this Commission, I think the two
	17		questions are entirely separate. Whether or not
	18		somebody has been wrongfully convicted, I think,
	19		is a matter of quite wide interpretation, as I was 10:59	20		endeavouring to explain yesterday. Whether 21		someone who has been wrongfully convicted is
	22		entitled to compensation is an entirely separate
	23		question, and that's a matter for which the 24		criteria can be set as a wholly distinct exercise
10:59	25		and, as it happens, the legislation in the

1	Criminal Justice Act 1988, I think, is being
2	treated by the Home Secretary as effectively
3	saying "compensation will be paid if I'm satisfied
4	beyond reasonable doubt that this applicant is
10:5 9 5	factually innocent, and not otherwise".
6	Until, I think, the spring of
7	last year, the Home Office also applied a system
8	of making ex gratia payments of compensation, in
9	other words outside the statutory scheme, but I
11:00 10	understand, from inquiries which I've made, that 11	the system of or the willingness of the or,
12	yeah, the system's making ex gratia payments has 13	actually been stopped.
14	And I think the some
11:00 15	support for what I am suggesting about the narrow
16	interpretation to be given to 'miscarriage of
17	justice' in Section 133 is supported by a decision
18	of the House of Lords in a case called Mullen, who 19	applied for compensation after his conviction was 11:00 20	quashed by the Court of Appeal, where, on any 21	view, the evidence against Mr. Mullen for being 22	responsible for terrorist offences was
23	overwhelming, but he had managed to remove himself
24	from the jurisdiction of the English courts and 11:01 25	was, in fact, in Zimbabwe. He was returned to the

	1		United Kingdom and put on trial in circumstances
	2		which the courts categorized as being absolutely
	3		outrageous, there was collusion between the 4		security services in both countries to get him
11:01	5		back to England without going through the proper
	6		extradition process, the belief being that if the 7		United Kingdom applied for Mr. Mullen's
	8		extradition from Zimbabwe the political defence
	9		argument would be raised and a lot of time would 11:01 1	0		pass while that was sorted out. So he was
1	1		effectively
1	2	Q	Kidnapped?
1	3	А	kidnapped and brought back to England from
1	4		Zimbabwe, and that was characterized as quite 11:01 1	15		outrageous conduct by the Court of Appeal, which 1	6		quashed his conviction on the basis that the 1	17		prosecution, from the outset, had been an abuse of
1	8		process.
1	9		He applied for compensation
11:02 2	20		under the statutory provision and was refused by
2	21		the Home Office on the basis that, even though the
2	22		prosecution itself had been an abuse, there was
2	23		certainly no fact or newly-discovered fact which
2	24		suggested that he had been the victim of a
11:02 2	25		miscarriage of justice, implicit in that is

	1		miscarriage of justice means being factually
	2		innocent, and therefore we're not going to pay
	3		compensation, and that decision of the Home Office
	4		was upheld by the House of Lords.
11:02	5	Q	And do I take it from your evidence, sir, that you
	6		have a fairly strong view that the issue of 7		factual innocence, and looking at whether the 8		remedy granted by CCRC and ultimately by the Court
	9		of Appeal in tying that to a compensation claim,
11:02	10		that those matters should be kept very separate?
	11	А	Yes.
	12	Q	And maybe asked another way, if, in the CCRC work,
	13		that one of the elements imported into what you
	14		were doing was either looking at factual innocence
11:03	15		or trying to devise a remedy that would put the 16		applicant in a better position to get compensation
	17		once the process is done, that you would view that
	18		as being counterproductive; is that fair?
	19	А	Well, I would, because I think the work, the 11:03	20		actual work of the Commission, would be made
	21		immeasurably more difficult if the objective if
	22		the Commission's objective and the test which had
	23		to be applied as to whether a case should go back
	24		to the Court of Appeal in any sense rested on 11:03	25		establishing factual innocence.

	Ĩ		——————————————————————————————————————
	1	Q	Let me put it to you this way. Under your current
	2		system it's my understanding that an individual
	3		who gets a remedy, gets to the Court of Appeal and 4		has the conviction quashed, is in a position of 11:04	5		being a legally innocent person?
	6	А	Yes.
	7	Q	And in a position, a better position to seek 8		compensation from the Home Secretary, than he was
	9		before the process; correct?
11:04	10	А	That's true, yes.
	11	Q	And that whether he is entitled to compensation is 12		another matter dealt with by another minister
	13		another agency,
	14	А	Yes.
11:04	15	Q	correct, that may well deal with factual
	16		innocence?
	17	А	Yes.
	18	Q	And if we go back, if in your system that what was 19		necessary to deal with, in addition to getting the 11:04	20		conviction set aside, to also deal with factual
	21		innocence and/or entitlement to compensation, if
	22		that was sort of put in as part of it, is it fair
	23		to say that your bar would be much higher?
	24	А	I think inevitably, yes.
11:04	25	Q	And so that in other words, if the granting of a

1		remedy meant automatic compensation and factual
2		innocence, are you I think you are telling us
3		that there would be quite a different set of 4		standards applied to your review?
11:05 5	А	I think that's right, yes.
6	Q	And a much higher bar?
7	А	But I and also, the point I was making, I think
8		that to align the two concepts that way would be
9		wrong in principle.
11:05 10	Q	And why is that?
11	А	Simply because I think the question of whether 12		there is much there is much more to being 13		having a record of a conviction against you, in 14		terms of its impact on your life generally, than
11:0 5 15		the question whether you should whether you get 16		any monetary compensation for having been
17		prosecuted in the first place. And if you haven't
18		been rightly convicted in the wider sense, as I
19		was describing it yesterday, then you should not 11:05 20		have that conviction recorded against you because 21		of the impact it is likely to have on virtually
22		the whole aspect of virtually every aspect of 23		your life.
24	Q	And can you comment on whether those people who go
11:06 25		through the CCRC and get a remedy, is it correct
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

F

	1		Page 40240
	1		that the or comment on this. Is compensation
	2		on factual innocence something that they raise
	3		with you, or is it generally understood that
	4		that's to be dealt with after the CCRC and the 11:06	5		Court of Appeal deals with the conviction?
	6	А	I'm I think it very rare, indeed, for 7		applicants to be concerned, at the stage they 8		apply to the Commission about compensation, and if
	9		they are they don't tend to express it.
11:06	10	Q	Okay. If we can call up 339389. And this is an 11		article, Mr. Kyle, that you wrote for the Drake
	12		Law Review in 2004; is that correct?
	13	А	Yes.
	14	Q	I just want to go through parts of it. We've 11:06	15		covered much of what is in here, but if we can go
	16		to page 391, and actually just go to the top. And
	17		again, talking about wrongful convictions, you
	18		say:
	19		"Why do these things happen?
11:07	20		No doubt, the higher the profile of the 21		case, the greater the risk of 22		miscarriage of justice, fuelled by
	23		public concern and resulting pressure on
	24		investigators to 'get those
11:07	25		responsible.' There is the potential
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1	for tunnel vision once a suspect is in
	2	the frame, accompanied, at worst, by
	3	determination to produce the evidence by 4	whatever means or, less culpably, by
11:07	5	ignoring the possibility that the wrong
	6	suspects have been arrested. The quest
	7	of any criminal jurisdiction, faced with 8	incidents of miscarriages of justice, is
	9	to discover whether there is a systemic
11:07	10	problem to be addressed or whether some 11	idiosyncratic reason can be attributed
	12	to the individual case. It is
	13	significant that each of the cases
	14	mentioned above was investigated and
11:07	15	prosecuted at a time when there was no
	16	legislation defining and regulating the 17	exercise of police powers, particularly
	18	relating to the detention and
	19	questioning of suspects, and when there
11:08	20	was no adequate definition of the 21	prosecution's obligations to disclose
	22	unused material that might assist the 23	defence."
	24	And the cases that are referred to earlier in the 11:08	25	article are the, I think, the blockbuster cases,

	ī	Г	Vol 192 - Tuesday, October 3rd, 2006 Page 40242
	2	А	Yes.
	3	Q	the terrorist cases?
	4	А	Yeah.
11:08	5	Q	Just comment on a couple of things. First, the
	6		comment here about whether some idiosyncratic
	7		reason can be attributed to the individual case,
	8		or a systemic problem, and maybe just elaborate on
	9		that comment please?
11:08	10	А	Well what I had in mind when I was making that 11		particular observation in this article by 12		reference back to the blockbuster cases, which had 13		already been described, when you look at the 14		reasons why those cases turned out to be appalling
11:08	15		miscarriages of justice, they were symptomatic of 16		significant systemic problems which existed in the 17		criminal justice system at the time, particularly 18		in relation to the way in which the police went 19		about investigating cases and dealt with the 11:09	20		questioning of suspects, because in all the cases
	21		there was some form of fabrication of police
	22		evidence around interview notes and confessions
	23		which were allegedly made; and, also, systemic
	24		problems arising out of the fact that the defence
11:09	25		were deprived of the opportunity to explore
			1

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

- Page 40243 -

1		possibly exculpatory aspects of the case because
2		relevant information simply wasn't disclosed,
3		particularly in the context of the scientific
4		evidence which was relied on. So that, that was 11:09 5		the context in which I made that particular
6		comment.
7		Because there are clearly
8		cases where things go wrong, where it is simply a
9		matter of something having going wrong, gone wrong
11:10 10		in that particular case, and it can't be 11		attributed at all to be a systemic failure of some 12		aspect of the criminal justice system, and I think
13		the point I endeavour to make in this particular
14		article is that the intervening introduction,
11:10 15		particularly of the Police and Criminal Evidence
16		Act of 1984, and various other substantial
17		developments such as the creation of the Crown
18		Prosecution Service, have been quite fundamental
19		in overcoming the sort of systemic deficiencies
11:10 20		which gave rise to those blockbuster cases.
21	Q	So do I take it from that that in light of those
22		legislative changes that arose in the blockbuster
23		cases, some of the systemic issues that were 24		evident in those cases maybe eliminated is too
11:11 25		strong a word, but had been reduced?
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1	А	Substantially reduced, yes, and I think one of 2		the if I don't make the point clearly in the 3		article, then I certainly make it now, that one of 4		the longer-term benefits, if I can put it that
11:11	5		way, of the existence of the Criminal Cases Review
	6		Commission which gets to look at, as we've seen,
	7		some eight or 900 cases a year in which something
:	8		has been set to go wrong, is that the Commission
	9		itself is a body which is in a position to monitor
11:11 1	0		what is going on with the investigation and
1	1		prosecution of offences and ought to be able to
1	2		contribute as time goes on to the early
1	3		identification of any further systemic problems
1	4		which may be becoming apparent.
11:11 1	5	Q	And so do I take it from that that in the course
1	6		of your work, if themes develop as to potential
1	7		problems, that obviously those matters go to the
1	8		Court of Appeal and become public, that that
1	9		operates as a bit of a check and balance for 11:12 2	0		authorities who may be investigating and
2	1		prosecuting crimes?
2	2	А	Well, that's certainly true, I mean, that will
2	3		happen in individual references which we make, but
2	4		I see no reason why the Commission shouldn't
11:12 2	5		undertake a responsibility of reporting in a more

	1		generic sense either through its annual report or
	2		directly with the relevant body such as the
	3		director of public prosecutions or the Home Office
	4		or the Association of Chief Police Officers, there
11:12	5		are bodies such as those who are responsible for
	6		their individual aspects of the criminal justice
	7		system, and if the Commission were to detect what
	8		appeared to be a developing systemic problem in
	9		the way either the police or the prosecuting
11:13	10		authorities went about, were going about their 11		work, then they should flag them off.
	12		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Do they do so,
	13		sir?
	14	А	It has rather taken the view up until now that 11:13	15		because the cases which have been reviewed by the 16		Commission have been, have extended over half a
	17		century, the initial years that the Commission has 18		been dealing with cases which have gone back into 19		the 1950s, in fact the earliest case, we made a
11:13	20		reference of a case which had been prosecuted in 21		1927, we thought our test had been met and the
	22		Court of Appeal disagreed and we didn't get a lot
	23		of praise from the Court of Appeal for referring a
	24		1927 conviction, but certainly some of the real 11:13	25		old dog s of the miscarriage of justice system, if

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

- Page 40246 -

	1	I can put it that way, like Derek Bentley, James
	2	Hanratty, Ruth Ellis, all of which were in the 3	1950s and '60s, they have occupied a considerable
	4	amount of the Commission's investigative review
11:14	5	and decision-making activity and they have had the 6	effect of playing a significant part, I think, in 7	helping to restore confidence in the operation of 8	the criminal justice system, because however much
	9	the Court of Appeal may dislike dealing with old
11:14 1	0	cases, and they are at pains to point out on
1	1	occasions we do think the Commission would be
1	2	better spending its time on more recent cases, but
1	3	where you have these cases which are a blot on the
1	4	landscape and have been for years, the Commission
11:14 1	5	has taken the view that they should be dealt with,
1	6	but the effect of that has been that we don't
1	7	really, or haven't had, it may be that now the
1	8	situation is beginning to become more
1	9	contemporaneous, if I can put it that way, all
11:14 2	0	these old cases now seem to have been cleared out
2	1	of the system by and large, so the cases which the
2	2	Commission is now dealing with are going to be,
2	3	across the board, more contemporaneous which
2	4	should allow a better analysis of what is actually
11:15 2	5	happening now.

1		I mean, for example, I
2		mentioned, there is reference in this article I
3		think, and certainly in the Royal Commission
4		report, to the West Midlands serious crime squad
11:15 5		which was operating in the late 1970s, early 1980s
6		and there was some quite dreadful investigative
7		misconduct going on in those, in cases handled by
8		that particular squad which was set up to deal
9		with a spate of armed robberies which was the,
11:15 10		sort of the vogue crime in the West Midlands at
11		that time, serious mishandling of supergrasses.
12		Do you understand what I mean by supergrass? It's 13		an informant who is a heavy-weight criminal 14		involved in very many offences which informs on
11:16 15		hundreds of people and gets a very light sentence,
16		and there was serious mishandling of two
17		supergrass informants by that squad.
18		BY MR. HODSON:
19	Q	Sorry, is that supergrass?
11:16 20	А	Supergrass. Yes, if you grass on somebody, then
21		you inform on them, and a supergrass is someone
22		who does it to a very extensive level.
23	Q	Okay.
24	А	Additionally, the methods which were used for 11:16 25		interrogating suspects throughout, in the
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

		C C
1		disturbing information, that suspects would have
2		plastic bags put over their heads and virtually
3		suffocated before making their confessions.
4		Now, a great deal of the 11:16 5		Commission's time has been spent on cases arising
6		out of the investigations of the West Midlands
7		serious crime squad, but in terms of systemic 8		problem, the intervention of the Police and
9		Criminal Evidence Act 1984 means that the 11:17 10		opportunity for wholesale misconduct of that 11		nature by a police squad is virtually unthinkable
12		now.
13	Q	Are you telling us, Mr. Kyle, and again just your 14		views, that by the Commission detecting and
11:17 15		remedying wrongful conviction, that the Commission
16		may also be assisting in the prevention of 17		wrongful convictions?
18	А	Well, I would like to think that over the longer
19		term that is one of the benefits of an 11:17 20		organization like the Commission because it will,
21		albeit on a relatively small form, because, after
22		all, 800 cases a year out of the total number
23		prosecuted is a relatively small number, but it
24		will have some finger on the pulse of what is 11:18 25		going on in terms of investigating and prosecuting
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

crime.

	2	Q	Are you able to comment on whether or not the
	3		existence of the Commission may have an effect on 4		either investigators, prosectors or others
11:18	5		involved in the criminal justice system; in other
	6		words, knowing that if something goes wrong,
	7		someone is there to check it?
	8	A	Oh, I think that I think it will I think it
	9		does and has been seen to have that effect in 11:18 1	0		terms of there are cultural issues involved
1	1		here. If an investigator thinks he might be able 1	2		to get away with something by some form of 1	3		improper practice, then knowing that the
1	4		Commission is there is likely to be a factor which 11:18 1	5		might deter him from doing so, and we have had
1	6		cases where, and I'll call it idiosyncratic
1	7		misconduct has occurred, and if we discover it and
1	8		there is publicity about it, then it's likely to 1	9		have a deterrent effect, so I think there is the 11:19 2	20		positive effect of knowing that there is a body
2	21		which is likely to be interested in the process by
2	22		which people are prosecuted and convicted and also
2	23		the sort of individual deterrent on the way in
2	24		which investigations are carried out, and I'll
11:19 2	25		give you an example where we have, where that sort

= Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

	1	of idiosyncratic discovery has been made, was a
	2	case which depended on identification evidence,
	3	always recognized as a fertile source of possible
	4	miscarriages of justice, and the Defendant
11:19	5	concerned had said, well, he had been caught on a
	6	camera it was an arson case and there was a
	7	camera and the arsonist, whoever he was, was 8	caught on camera, and it was the usual thing, not
	9	very clear, you couldn't see features clearly, and 11:20	10	he said that's not me because the figure in that
	11	video is wearing a white T-shirt and I was wearing
	12	a black T-shirt that night and I can prove that 13	because I was at a nightclub and there was 14	security cameras at a nightclub and that will show
11:20	15	me wearing a black T-shirt, so that was his 16	defence at trial, and the position which the 17	police adopted in that case was, well, there may 18	well have been a security camera at the nightclub,
	19	but and it was somewhat unclear as to whether 11:20	20	the evidence was the camera wasn't working that 21	night or, if it was, the film, the tape has been 22	mislaid, which is fine as far as it went.
	23	Well, he applied to us after
	24	conviction and our case review manager went to the 11:21	25	police station concerned and simply went through all the material in the police station relevant to that investigation and found the tape from the security camera and, you know, the way in which the evidence had come out suggested that that was a deliberate concealment.

Now, a cynic would say all the Commission, all the existence of the Commission will do is make police officers a bit more careful if they are wanting to conceal evidence, but equally, you know, the fact that there is a body which is going to be thorough and is going to look very carefully at these things, and there have been cases maybe of more substance, there was a

14	case involving a terrorist offence in Northern
11:21 15	Ireland where the suggestion had been made that 16	the officers had shown, in interview, the 17	Defendant a list of names which they wanted this 18	particular Defendant to tell them about as having
19	been involved in terrorist offences, the deal
11:22 20	being, well, if you tell us about all these
21	people, we'll go easy on you or we won't prosecute
22	you, and this was completely denied by the police.
23	Well, when our case review manager went to 24	Northern Ireland and reviewed all the police
11:22 25	material, there was this list of names which had always been denied as being in existence, so, you

	3		think is a factor.
	4	Q	Are
11:22	5	А	And one of the, if I can just sort of finish again
	6		on a slightly lighthearted note, is that the 7		Defendant who was wrongly identified, so he said,
	8		in relation to the security video which was found,
	9		the Court of Appeal did order a retrial in that
11:22	10		case and when the retrial came up he pleaded

8		BY MR. HODSON:
9	Q	On this issue of idiosyncratic reasons, are there
11:23 10		cases, Mr. Kyle, where references are made to the 11		Court of Appeal and convictions are quashed where
12		you find that there has been no deliberate
13		wrongdoing by any of the participants in the 14		original investigation and trial?
11:23 15	А	I think that is frequently the case.
16	Q	In the sense that would that be a non-systemic
17		or would that how would you describe that as 18		being of those is that what you meant by 19		idiosyncratic reason, or did I misread that?
11:24 20	А	I well, I think there are two ways in which you
21		could look at idiosyncratic reasons. If I
22		mean, generally speaking, in the absence of any
23		deliberate misconduct or I guess any deliberate
24		failure by someone to do what they should do,
11:24 25		then and assuming that there are no, that there

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		are no systemic deficiencies such as, well, I did
2		this because, you know, I'm a police officer,
3		there is no, there is nothing which tells me what
4		I should or should not do when I'm interviewing a
11:24 5		suspect, therefore, what I did I thought was all
6		right. In the absence of any sort of systemic
7		deficiency of that sort, the sort of idiosyncratic
8		reason why a case may result in a wrongful
9		conviction is because, it's either going to be
11:25 10		because there is a one-of act of failure to act
11		properly or it is going to result from the fact
12		that someone, someone somewhere in the system,
13		whether it's the police, the prosecutor, the 14		Defendant or the trial judge has done has not
11: 25 15		done, to the full extent, that which should have 16		been done, and that need not be deliberate, it may
17		just be a mistake.
18	Q	And so again, so I understand it, the majority of 19		the cases where a remedy is granted are cases
11:25 20		where there has been no misconduct or deliberate
21		wrongdoing by anybody involved, i.e., police,
22		witnesses, Crown prosecutor; is that correct?
23	А	That's correct, yes.
24	Q	And that in cases where are there some cases
11:26 25		where presumably mistakes would be made, good
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40255 intention mistakes that end up resulting in a miscarriage of justice? Α Yes. And are there some cases where just due to the 0 nature of the case it may have been that the system worked how it was supposed to, but just arrived at the wrong result? Α Yes. And are those -- are there many of those? 0 Of which, the latter? Α Q The latter one where at the end of the day it is a case where the system worked how it was supposed to, but it just arrived at the wrong result based on information that was found out later? Yes. Α If we can go to 339392, a couple of questions Q here, and you talk about, you say:

18 "Of equal importance is the question of 19 why it took so long for the miscarriages 11:26 20 of justice represented by these cases to 21 be remedied." 22 And I think Judith Ward was the lady you told us 23 about yesterday?

	13	Q	Or, sorry, at an earlier date.
	14	A	Well, yes. I think there is quite a significant
11:27	15		point here because the longer which has elapsed
	16		between offence and conviction and subsequent
	17		review which exposes a miscarriage of justice
	18		well, actually that's rather putting the cart
	19		before the horse. The ability to expose a
11:28	20		wrongful conviction and a miscarriage of justice
	21		is, the ability to do that is adversely affected
	22		by the length of time which elapses because 23		memories dim, relevant evidence may disappear and
	24		generally the ability to find out what went on and 11:28	25		what can still be done to identify the new

	1	evidence is made all the more difficult the longer
	2	the time which elapses. For example, I mean, just
	3	take routine destruction of documentation, the 4	police and indeed all other public bodies in the 11:28	5	United Kingdom have destruction of document
	6	policies which means that if a case at the moment
	7	is more than five years old, it's quite likely 8	that the Crown court file will have been
	9	destroyed, if the Defendant wasn't sentenced to a
11:29	10	term of imprisonment of longer than five years the 11	Crown prosecution file would have been destroyed,
	12	and as may the police file, so simply by operation
	13	of routine destruction policies, length of time
	14	can make a difference, and that's in addition to 11:29	15	the problem which arises over expecting witnesses
	16	to recollect what's going on, but the point the 17	point I was emphasizing at this point in the 18	article is that given that in most, I think in all
	19	of the cases which gave rise to the establishment
11:29	20	of the Commission, the basis on which the 21	convictions were quashed was clear evidence of 22	misconduct in relation to the interviewing of 23	suspects and the recording of confessions and
	24	clear and significant deficiencies in the process
11:30	25	of scientific examination of relevant exhibits and

	1		disclosure affecting them, so what was discovered
	2		and presented to the Court of Appeal in the 1990s
	3		was, if anyone had chosen to look at it, equally
	4		discoverable and presentable to the Court of 11:30	5		Appeal at a very, very much earlier stage, and the 6		question arises why is it in such cases, when 7		there's no shortage of people saying that these
	8		are miscarriages of justice, we do have people
	9		here who have been wrongfully convicted, why is it
11:30	10		that it takes from the mid 1970s through to 1991
	11		before the remedy of the exposure is a miscarriage
	12		of justice and quashing the convictions actually
	13		happens, to which the obvious answer is that 14		during that period, although there was a lot of 11:30	15		noise and a lot of investigative journalism, there
	16		was in place within the United Kingdom's criminal 17		justice system no mechanism to pick up the 18		messages which were being flashed out and sounded
	19		loud and clear and get stuck in to doing something
11:31	20		about them.
	21	Q	If we can the bottom of this paragraph you say:
	22		"However, because it is idle to pretend
	23		that things will not go wrong in even
	24		the best regulated criminal justice
11:31	25		system, there is a question of critical

1	cultural importance. Will whatever
2	mechanism that is adopted to address the
3	cries of those who claim to have been 4	wrongly convicted have at its heart the 11:31 5	will to own up to mistakes and learn
6	lessons, or will it strive to preserve
7	the status quo?"
8	And I'm wondering if you can just elaborate on
9	that comment?
11:31 10	A Well, I think that is a comment which is very much
11	related to what I have just said, that is the 12	question. The point I seek to make is that if a
13	country or a jurisdiction has a criminal justice
14	system in which it is confident, then it will
11:3 2 15	recognize that however good the system is, things
16	are going to go wrong from time to time, that is 17	the way of the world, and it may be going wrong
18	because there is some fundamental defect of a
19	systemic nature, in which case that can be
11:32 20	addressed, or it may be that an individual case
21	has gone wrong for reasons which are peculiar to 22	that particular case, but either way, my view is
23	that a mature criminal justice system recognizes
24	that and doesn't feel threatened by looking at 11:32 25	those cases, and if they do turn out to have

	1		resulted in a wrongful conviction, ensuring that
	2		some early steps are taken to identify that and
	3		put it right, and I pose the question in this way
	4		because without expressing a particular view one
11:33	5		way or another, if you have cases where there has 6		been outright police misconduct and systemic
	7		failure to disclose in a number of cases which are 8		being portrayed publicly as being miscarriages of 9		justice and they take 20 odd years to put right,
11:33	10		one comment which might be made is that that is 11		the consequence of a criminal justice system which
	12		is frightened at looking into possible mistakes
	13		and doing something about it, whereas if you have
	14		a system which, when these types of cases arise,
11:33	15		immediately picks them up and investigates them
	16		thoroughly and makes an informed, independent,
	17		objective decision after a thorough investigation
	18		as rapidly as possible, then that can draw the 19		comment this is a mature criminal justice system
11:34	20		which is not threatened by the fact that things
	21		will occasionally go wrong.
	22	Q	And are you able to comment, again from your 23		experience on the CCRC, as to whether you've
	24		noticed a cultural change in the criminal justice
11:34	25		system in England from 1997 to date?

1	A Wel	l, I think I can only answer that by reference
2	to	the way in which the reputation of the 3	Com	mission appears to have developed over that
4	per	iod and the fact that it now appears to have a
11:34 5	pos	ition within the criminal justice system where 6	its	value and the contribution it can make to
7	mai	ntaining confidence in the criminal justice
8	sys	tem is recognized, particularly in those
9	are	as I have in mind the media in particular
11:34 10	and	members of parliament, and the parliamentary
11	ove	rsight committee is like the home affairs
12	com	mittee, do appear to rate quite positively what
13	the	Commission is doing.
14		I make the point later in the
11:3 5 15	art	icle that one of the concerns which might be 16	exp	ressed is, well, if you have so many
17	app	lications and you only refer 4 percent of them
18	to	the Court of Appeal, doesn't that mean that you
19	are	failing in your job, which is an easy comment
11:35 20	to	make because it's based simply on the figures,
21	and	our response to that is, well, we're always
22	loc	king to make sure that cases which ought to go
23	thr	ough the gate do so, but do bear in mind that 24	we	don't pick and choose which cases we
11:35 25	inv	estigate, they all get a thorough investigation
		Mever CompuCourt Reporting

	1		to the extent which appears to be necessary having
	2		regard to the case and the issues which are
	3		raised, and although it will always be the case
	4		that there may be wrongful convictions which 11:35	5		simply cannot, by any amount of investigation, be
	6		exposed as such. The fact that any applicant says
	7		that they've been wrongfully convicted is picked
	8		up by the Commission, thoroughly investigated and
	9		a decision made at the end of that investigation,
11:36	10		it is equally valid to suggest that a thorough
-	11		investigation of complaints of wrongful conviction
-	12		which turn out to be unfounded is as valuable to
-	13		contributing to maintain confidence in the
-	14		criminal justice system as exposing those where 11:36	15		the convictions can be shown to be wrong.
-	16	Q	Okay. You made the comment that there are some
-	17		cases where, despite the investigative efforts,
-	18		wrongful convictions cannot be disclosed; is
-	19		that did I hear that right?
11:36	20	А	Cannot be exposed.
	21	Q	Cannot be exposed. And do I take it from that
2	22		that there are some cases where you simply cannot,
2	23		for whatever variety of reasons, expose a wrongful
2	24		conviction where there may well be one?
11:37	25	А	I think inevitably that may be the case, yes, because it's difficult to know -- that's right, because all you can say is our investigation hasn't revealed any basis for saying that the Court of Appeal is likely to find this to be a wrongful conviction. That slip of the tongue you

7 made there is itself quite -- it reminds me of a 8 case where you are saying we can't disclose 9 wrongful convictions. We have had a case where 11:37 10 the reason why a conviction was unsafe involved matters of such sensitivity that we were unable to 11 12 tell the applicant what our reasons for referring 13 his case to the Court of Appeal were, although we 14 did give reasons to the Court of Appeal in a 11:37 15 confidential annex which was hand delivered, and 16 the Court of Appeal duly delivered a judgment 17 quashing the conviction saying we know what the 18 reasons are, but they are too sensitive, so to 19 this day the Defendant doesn't know why he's been 11:37 20 acquitted, simply that he has. 21 And I take it we aren't going to know either? Q 22 You certainly aren't. А 23 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Excuse me, Mr. 24 Kyle, it strikes me that this attitudinal change 11:38 25 as represented by the establishment of the

1		Commission provides an alternative to some
2		intractable problems in law reform touching the
3		jury system. For example, everybody involved in 4		the system knows that juries are sometimes
11:38 5		influenced when they shouldn't be and return
6		verdicts which they shouldn't do.
7	А	Uh-huh.
8		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: But it's
9		practically impossible to do anything about the
11:38 10		jury system, it's such an entrenched perceived
11		at least it's such an entrenched right of every 12		citizen.
13	А	Uh-huh.
14		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: So if one simply
11:3 8 15		accepts that they are going to make mistakes once
16		in a while but we have a means of addressing
17		those mistakes later on, that's a valuable thing;
18		is it not?
19	А	I think so, yes.
11:38 20		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes. And a jury
21		system is surely not the only problem which
22		arises from time to time, statutory law of course
23		creates problems as well?
24	А	Uh-huh.
11:38 25		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: At the same time

1 it seeks to redress or to meet other problems. 2 А Uh-huh. 3 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: We see that in our evidence acts and so forth. 4 5 Α Yes. 11:39 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And so reforming 6 7 those is a matter of great difficulty, but 8 perhaps it's not all that necessary if you have 9 this mechanism. 11:39 10 Α Well, certainly I think having this mechanism 11 helps, and, sir, you touch on an interesting point 12 there which I might just pick up on, that the 13 Royal Commission on Criminal Justice, amongst 14 other things, touched on the question of whether 11:39 15 the law should be changed to allow adverse 16 inferences to be drawn from a Defendant's failure 17 to answer questions when he's interviewed or 18 failing to give evidence at trial and there was a 19 firm recommendation of the Royal Commission that 11:39 20 there should be no such change. 21 That recommendation was 22 ignored by the government which legislated for the 23 drawing of adverse inferences from silence in the 24 Criminal Justice and Public Order Act of 1994 and 11:40 25 that particular statutory change which was highly

1	controversial has resulted in very many
2	applications to the Commission, very many
3	applications to the European Court of Human Rights
4	to which our domestic courts are now subject
11:40 5	because of the Human Rights Act of 1998,
6	considerable difficulty in the Court of Appeal in 7	sorting out exactly what, how that law should be
8	applied, and, in particular, how judges should be
9	required to charge the juries on those issues, so
11:40 10	that's quite an interesting example of something
11	which the Royal Commission said keep your hands
12	off.
13	The government chose a
14	different course and it has actually resulted in a
11:41 15	deal of work for the Commission which has, or 16	certainly had, unless the position has changed
17	which of course it may well do as courts
18	interpret, but certainly when I left the
19	Commission we thought we had reached the position
11:41 20	where we had managed to get the Court of Appeal to 21	bring their two-stranded dividing authority
22	together and have a reasonably clear idea as to
23	what was going to be, what was necessary, so I
24	think that probably is a concrete example, the 11:41 25	point that you were making, that the Commission
	Mever CompuCourt Reporting

	1		this was not about fresh evidence or anything like
	2		this, it was about fairness of trials which is
	3		equally important and, in my view, having a fair
	4		trial is just as significant in terms of rightful
11:41	5		conviction as anything else and the Commission was 6		able to play a significant part in the 7		development, understanding and proper
	8		interpretation of that particular piece of 9		controversial legislation.
11:41	10		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Thank you.
	11	BY M	R. HODSON:
	12	Q	Just on the issue of changes in the law, Mr. Kyle,
	13		can you comment on what happens when the law
	14		changes, for example on how witnesses are 11:42	15		interviewed from the time of investigation and 16		conviction to when the CCRC looks at it, whether 17		there is a change in either the statutory or the 18		common law, in other words that had the law that 19		was in effect when you looked at the case been in 11:42	20		effect at the time of investigation and trial,
	21		there might well have been a different result?
	22	А	Uh-huh. The general position is that a change to 23		the law which is affected by statute cannot be 24		backdated unless the statute expressly applies for 11:42	25		that to happen, which, in the sort of changes
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1	which we're particularly considering, doesn't tend
	2	to happen. So a statutory change means that an 3	applicant can't benefit from the fact that some
	4	that the law has changed as a result of statute.
11:42	5	If, however, there is a
	6	restatement of common law then, on the legal 7	fiction that at any given time the common law as
	8	it is now stated is as it has always been, means
	9	that an applicant can benefit from stated changes
11:43	10	in the common law. And that, that was reinforced
	11	by the Court of Appeal's judgement in the Derek
	12	Bentley case, which was the young man hanged for 13	the murder of the police officer in 1953. When
	14	the Court of Appeal quashed his conviction in 1988
11:43	15	sorry 1998, following a reference by the 16	Commission, the Lord Chief Justice, at the start
	17	of the judgement, made quite clear that whilst
	18	statutory change could not benefit an applicant,
	19	an appellant retrospectively, changes to the 11:43	20	common law could. And, in particular, the Court
	21	said that, in those circumstances, whether or not
	22	Derek Bentley had had a fair trial had to be 23	judged by today's standards, and not by the 24	standards which were applicable in 1953.
11:44	25	It doesn't take a towering

1		intellect to realize that there are considerable
2		risks involved in that, because it's quite likely
3		that you could take any case prosecuted in the 4		1950s and find something wrong with it by today's
11:44 5		standards, but the Lord Chief Justice didn't think
6		that that was going to be too much of a problem
7		and it doesn't seem to have been one.
8	Q	Would, in addition to the changes in law, would 9		the reasons for the changes also be a factor in 11:44 10		your inquiries? And let me maybe give you an 11		example. We've heard some evidence that, in this
12		case, in 1969 the manner in which young people
13		were dealt with by authorities
14	А	Uh-huh.
11:44 15	Q	was, at the time, different than, for example,
16		20 years later?
17	А	Uh-huh.
18	Q	Now that may well be as a result of statutory
19		change and/or common law,
11:45 20	А	Uh-huh.
21	Q	but again, if you could comment on the
22		situation where in 1990, looking back at how young
23		people were dealt with by authorities 20 years
24		earlier,
11:45 25	А	uh-huh.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1	Q	if the law had changed
2	А	Uh-huh.
3	Q	and that they would not have been dealt with 4		the same way, and the reason being that dealing
11:4 5 5		with them the old way may result in evidence that
6		might be unreliable;
7	А	Uh-huh.
8	Q	can you comment on how that type of change
9		would be in play to the CCRC?
11:45 10	А	Well I think that in that sort of situation the 11		if there is the if there is a change to the 12		law, be it statutory or as a result of developing
13		common law, the underlying reason is actually
14		going to be very significant, because if you're
11:4 5 15		looking in years after the event to the way in 16		which young people were treated when they were 17		being interviewed, whether as witnesses or 18		whatever, and you're looking at the reliability of 19		the evidence which they produced as a result, if
11:46 20		it can be said years later that the factual
21		circumstances which led to the change in the law
22		operated in that particular witness' case, then
23		you're not so much relying on a change of the law
24		to explain why you're taking a view about their 11:46 25		reliability, you're simply saying that the Mayor CompuCaut Departing

Page 40271 Circumstances giving rise to unreliability apply in -- to this particular witness, and incidentally, it was precisely because of those sorts of circumstances which led to the change in the law. Did -- is -- have I -- is that sort of confusing? Yes, no, and I guess one further question then. If that were the case, is that something that would be new, that the Commission could then send 12 А Oh yes, I think so, because you'd be -- you'd --13 what you would be saying was, well, back in --14 back at the time when this happened the 11:47 15 significance of what was being done simply wasn't 16 understood so there was no -- the -- no 17 representations were made to the Court or no part 18 of the defence case challenged the reliability of 19 this particular witness on the basis of facts 11:47 20 which may well have been known at the time, but 21 when you look at them now in the light of 22 developing knowledge as to how witnesses react to 23 this sort of treatment, you understand that there 24 is a new argument around the potential credibility 11:47 25 of these witnesses.

	1	Q	And would it be a case, then, of saying, if we can

	4		what we now know it may be, it may be that the 11:48	5		information that was obtained from them through

	8	А	Yes.
	9	Q	And not to say that they are lying or not, not to

	17	А	Yes.
	18	Q	And that would be something that may well provide
	19		the basis to go to the Court of Appeal and say
11:48	20		"the conviction is not safe because what we now
	21		know, our understanding now of how interviewing

	1		Commission was looking at the sort of circumstance
	2		which arise in Mr. Milgaard's case in the context
	3		of evidence given by Nichol John and Ronald
	4		Wilson, then the sorts of inquiries which you're
11:49	5		alluding to around their vulnerability as young
	6		people, with the lifestyle and characteristics
	7		that they had and the way in which they were
	8		their the evidence was obtained from them over
	9		a protracted period involving all sorts of 11:49	10		activities by the investigating officers,
	11		including exposure to a polygraph test, I mean all
	12		of those things would be legitimate areas for
	13		investigation in the light of current knowledge
	14		about the susceptibility and vulnerability of 11:49	15		young people who find themselves in the hands of 16		the authorities. And if if, as a result of 17		that investigative process, it appeared that the 18		sort of superimposition, if I can put it that way,
	19		of current knowledge about vulnerable people gives 11:50	20		rise to a new argument affecting their, the 21		reliability of the evidence they ultimately gave,
	22		then that could be a factor which was relevant to
	23		whether the Commission found its test of referral

4	А	Uh-huh.
11:50 5	Q	You're familiar with that?
6	А	Yes.
7	Q	Would that approach that you just talked about

11	А	Uh-huh.
12	Q	but in other words to put that back before the 13		Court even though the Court of Appeal dealt with 14		that as a ground of appeal back in 1970?
11:50 15	А	Well I obviously that would depend on the 16		circumstances, but I think I what the 17		Commission would be anxious to do is to take a
18		holistic view of the case and the product of its
19		investigations and the Commission would recognize,
11:51 20		of course, that the aspect of the Nichol Johnston
21		(sic) evidence and statement which was addressed

issue for the Court of Appeal was a fairly narrow, narrowly-confined one.

3 Now in the absence of any 4 changes in the law and the interpretation of that 5 provision which might benefit an applicant, the 11:51 CCRC would recognize that there is no mileage in 6 7 trying to go back to the Court of Appeal to get it 8 to reconsider its decision on the process which 9 was adopted at trial, but taking a holistic view 11:52 10 of the case, and particularly that aspect of the 11 evidence, namely the evidence which was given by 12 the two people who were with Mr. Milgaard on the 13 morning of the murder, it may well be that as the issues arise out of the wider investigation into 14 11:52 15 reliability and vulnerability which could have an 16 impact on both of them, so you wouldn't be going 17 back to the Court of Appeal re-arguing the 18 question of was the process correctly handled in 19 determining whether she was a hostile witness or 11:52 20 not, it would be around the generality of their 21 evidence, the vulnerability of both of them, and 22 the extent to which the evidence and the 23 information which was available to the jury -- and 24 that would include having available to it the 11:52 25 statement she made even though the jury was told made.

Q	And, again, would that and we talked about this a bit yesterday where, if you found a new ground, it might allow you to go in and explore something that had been before the jury; is that correct?
А	Well, I think so. I think what I am, what I was trying to say was that the discovery of the ground which justifies the reference may well also entitle the Commission to say, as part of its reasoning, that, because of the discovery of this ground which underpins the reference itself, it may well be appropriate, then, to put other aspects of the case which may have been considered by the jury, may even have been considered by the Court of Appeal, into the context of the new of the new evidence or the new argument which is being put forward, which may enable a different perception of the significance of that earlier aspect of the case, which was the point I was trying to illustrate with Sally Clark.
Q	For example, this was one which I think I had raised with you earlier about whether or not

2	2	jury not for proof of its contents but rather to
3	3	question her credibility, whether that might have 4	L .	contributed in some way to increasing the 11:54 5	5	credibility and reliability of Ron Wilson's
6		evidence?
7	A	Well I think I mean, as I say, we're
8	3	hypothesizing to an extent here but if the 9	)	Commission found additional bases and made and
11:54 10		let's assume for the sake of argument that there
11		were, you know, applying current understanding
12	2	about the treatment of vulnerable witnesses it was 13	5	possible to present either new evidence or a or 14	Ļ	new argument, or a combination of both, to suggest
11:55 15		that Ronald Wilson's credibility was or the 16		reli or the reliability of Ronald's evidence
17	,	was questioned, and that was a basis and part of 18	3	the reasoning for the Commission making a
19	)	reference, then it would be legitimate for the 11:55 20	)	Commission to point out that the jury had to 21		assess Ronald Wilson's credibility at the time
22		without the benefit of what we now say is current
23	3	understanding of issues affecting that
24		reliability. And, furthermore, the Commission
11:55 25	5	might point out, although in the context of Nichol

1		John the jury were told to disregard her
2		statement, we don't know what the jury did with 3		that admonition from the judge and there has to be 4		a risk, particularly. And bearing in mind that we
11:5 6 5		know that there are other reasons why Ronald 6		Wilson's evidence should be regarded as 7		unreliable, there has at least to be a risk that
8		the jury may have consciously or subconsciously
9		said "well, Ronald Wilson has to be telling the 11:56 10		truth because he is saying much the same thing as 11		Nichol John said in her statement, which we've 12		heard about".
13		So that's what I am trying
14		rather inelegantly to describe as taking a
11:5 6 15		holistic view of the situation, where it is 16		legitimate, as part of one's reasoning behind the 17		basis for a reference, to draw in other aspects of 18		the case which may have already been addressed
19		either at trial or on appeal.
11:56 20	Q	I see it's 12:00, Mr. Commissioner, probably an
21		appropriate spot to break.
22		I'll canvass, I shouldn't be
23		too much longer, I'll maybe just canvass with 24		other parties. I don't think we'll have any 11:57 25		difficulty finishing by 4:30, but I will check.

	2		(Reconvened at 1:30 p.m.)
	3	BY	MR. HODSON:
	4	Q	Mr. Kyle, just to pick up on a couple of points we
01:32	5		talked about this morning. Can you just explain
	6		for us the mechanics of once the Commission makes
	7		a reference to the Court of Appeal, they prepare a
	8		statement of reasons; is that correct, that goes
	9		to the court?
01:32	10	А	Yes.
	11	Q	And that would be the grounds upon which the 12		Commission thinks there's a real possibility the 13		appeal may succeed?
	14	А	Yes.
01:32	15	Q	And so, for example, on a fresh evidence, would it
	16		be the Commission has uncovered the following
	17		fresh evidence that may well affect the verdict,
	18		the new evidence is summarized as follows,
	19		something like that?
01:32	20	А	Yes, together with an articulation of the 21		Commission's evaluation of the impact of that
	22		evidence on the case.
	23	Q	And then I take it the appellant then, or the 24		applicant then would become an appellant in the 01:33	25		normal sense and would have to file would they
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		then file a notice of appeal?
	2	А	They would file grounds of appeal.
	3	Q	Or grounds of appeal. And presumably as well they
	4		would then apply to the Court of Appeal for leave
01:33	5		to call fresh evidence?
	6	А	Yes.
	7	Q	And the court then would deal with that
	8		application and if they allowed it, then would 9		hear the fresh evidence and then consider the
01:33	10		appeal?
	11	А	Yes.
	12	Q	And the Crown would appear as respondent?
	13	А	Yes.
	14	Q	And so once you send the reasons over, the normal
01:33	15		mechanics of an appeal take over?
	16	А	They do.
	17	Q	I have a question about the Commission members and 18		the term of appointment. What is the length of 19		appointment for Commission members? Is there any
01:33	20		limit?
	21	А	There's a statutory limit of 10 years, but within
	22		that period of 10 years Commission members can be
	23		appointed for any term which is thought
	24		appropriate, so if it happens that the 14 I think
01:34	25		members who were appointed when the Commission was

1		founded, seven were initially appointed for three
2		years and seven for five, I think the reasoning
3		behind that, although I never spoke to the 4		chairman directly about it, was that if the 01:34 5		hypothetical situation were to arise that when
6		Commission members came to the end of their term
7		none of them wished to apply for another
8		appointment, then continuity would be lost.
9		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Is it full-time
01:34 10		work, sir?
11	А	It's full time or part time. When I was at the 12		Commission I think these figures may be wrong,
13		but I think there were five or six that were full
14		time and the remainder were part time.
01:34 15		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: So it's a fairly
16		costly institution then to fund is it?
17	А	Well, the allocation of funding from the Home
18		Office is, at the moment, in the order of 8
19		million pounds sterling.
01:35 20	Q	An annual budget?
21	А	Annual budget, yes. And just to respond directly
22		to the question which you were asking, Mr.
23		Commissioner, as in any organization, a
24		substantial amount of that funding goes on paying
01:35 25		the staff who work for it.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40282 1 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes. Inasmuch as it would represent quite an incursion into ones 2 3 career, is it difficult to find members to sit on the Commission? 4 5 Α I don't believe so. I think that certainly when 01:35 the Commission was established, I think there was 6 7 something approaching a thousand applications --8 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Oh. 9 -- for membership on the Commission. I think now Α 01:35 10 when -- because at that particular time the search was on for the entire body of Commission members 11 12 whereas now vacancies arise in a more structured 13 manner, so at any given time the Commission may be 14 looking for two or three new appointments. 01:36 15 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: I see. Thank you. 16 BY MR. HODSON: 17 Can you comment on the proportion of the Court of 0 18 Appeal's work load that is represented by the 19 Commission's referrals? 01:36 20 It's quite significant. If we've referred Α 21 something in the order of 30 or 40 cases a year, 22 and I'm not entirely sure, I had the figure of 10 23 percent in my mind, but I think it's probably 24 going to be less than that, but it is still a 01:36 25 significant amount of work for the Court of Appeal which we generate.

2 Q If we can go to 339396 which is again --

3 A Can I just raise --

4 Q Sure, yeah.

5 As I say, I'm not clear on the figures, but I 01:37 Α 6 think there are some figures in the Royal 7 Commission report which do refer to the work load 8 of the Court of Appeal and very many people who 9 apply for leave to appeal to the Court of Appeal 01:37 10 are refused leave and so they never get to a full 11 hearing, so the -- I think the proper way to, if 12 we wanted to look at the actual proportion of work 13 which the Court of Appeal deals with, it would be 14 making a comparison between the number of cases referred by the Commission and the number of cases 01:37 15 16 which the court hears at a full appeal hearing. 17 And so after conviction in the Crown court then, 0 18 an accused, a convicted person does not have a 19 right of appeal?

01:3820ANo, unless the trial judge certifies that leave to21appeal should be given, which rarely happens, it22is usually necessary for a convicted person to23apply for leave to appeal, and the majority of24those applications are dealt with by a single01:3825

	1	Q	And any can you give us any idea of the
	2		proportion are those usually granted, not
	3		granted? Any idea of what percentage?
2	4	A	I don't I'm afraid, but I believe that in the
01:38	5		section in the Royal Commission report dealing
Ó	6		with appeals, there is certainly figures relating
-	7		to the situation as it was in the 1990s, but I'm 8	8		sure that information, if it was necessary, should (	9		be readily available.
01:38 10	0	Q	Sure. But it would can you tell us, is leave
11	1		something that's not granted as a matter of right,
12	2		though, that's it's not
1:	3	А	No, no, not at all, it isn't. I mean, I think the 14	4		position remains that considerably more people are
01:3 9 15	5		refused leave than granted, but of those who are 10	6		granted leave to appeal, the success rate in the 17	7		Court of Appeal is quite high.
18	8	Q	And back to your Drake Law Review, you talk here,
19	9		and I think you've touched on this, but I just
01:39 20	0		want to have you confirm this, you say:
2	1		"All would surely agree that convicting
22	2		somebody of a crime he or she simply did
23	3		not commit is a miscarriage of 24	4		justice what might be described as a

	2	about the situation when, after
	3	conviction, new evidence comes to light
	4	that, had the jury heard it, might have 01:39	5	induced some doubt about guilt? Or the 01.00	6	situation when there has been a flaw in the trial process? Most people would
	8	probably accept that these situations
	9	are indicative of miscarriages of
01:39	10	justice, but they would say that whether
	11	it is a miscarriage of justice depends
	12	on the agree of doubt induced to the 13	significance of the process flaw the
	14	most extreme view being that "people
01:39	15	should not get off on technicalities."
	16	Fortunately, the expression miscarriage
	17	of justice is nowhere to be found in the 18	Criminal Appeal Acts 1968 and 1995 in 19	their application either to the
01:40	20	Commission or to the Court of Appeal.
	21	This is fortunate because it means that
	22	in order to do its job, the Commission
	23	does not have to concern itself with 24	questions of guilt or innocence in the 01:40	25	absolute sense (only rarely, in the

01:40 10		And I think you've pretty much reiterated that 11		here, Mr. Kyle. Is there anything you wish to 12		add to what's noted there?
13	А	No, I don't think so. I mean, I think that
14		paragraph encapsulates concisely and, I hope,
01:4 0 15		coherently the views that I've been expressing
16		whilst I've been giving evidence to the Commission
17		about my view that what the Commission, and indeed
18		the Court of Appeal should be interested in, is 19		whether somebody has been rightly or wrongly
01:41 20		convicted having regard to the rules under which 21		persons are prosecuted and the requirements of a
22		fair trial and the standard of proof which have to 23		obtain rather than debating the somewhat more
24		difficult question as to what anyone might
01:41 25		understand by the term miscarriage of justice.

Page 40287 : 1 Q If we can go to page 398, and I believe here this, the notion of real possibility if I understand it, 2 3 you say: "... is not defined by the statute..." 4 5 But if we can go down to the bottom footnote, 01:41 here it appears that in the Pearson case, did the 6 7 court describe a real possibility as being: 8 "... more certain than an outside chance 9 or a bare possibility, but which might 01:42 10 be less than a probability, or a 11 likelihood, or a racing certainty." 12 Now, is that the court language of what the 13 court's view of what real possibility means? 14 I think that case was the first Α It is. application for judicial review which was heard in 01:42 15 16 the high court and that is what the court had to 17 say about a real possibility. I mean, it may not, 18 when you read it, actually seem to be particularly 19 helpful in defining what a real possibility 01:42 20 actually is because you are covering a whole 21 spectrum of possibilities there from outside 22 chance through to racing certainty and all points 23 in between, but the flavour of that observation 24 the Commission takes to endorse its view that the 01:42 25 threshold of a real possibility is properly set at

	2	Q Go to 339	9404, you talk here, you say:
	3		"Only a small number of applicants to
	4		the Commission who have been convicted
01:43	5		in more recent times complain of 6		deliberate police malpractice in the
	7		form of fabricating evidence, planting
	8		evidence, or otherwise "sitting them up"
	9		for crimes they did not commit. Most
01:43	10		are concerned to persuade the Commission
	11		that, for one reason or another, they

	13		accompanied by complaints that their

01:43	15		not follow their instructions, did not

	18		witnesses who should have been called.
	19		From the Commission's perspective, cases
01:43	20		that result in referral tend to fall two 21		broad categories. The first is cases in
	22		which relevant new evidence appears,
	23		occasionally if rarely being wholly

	2	to come to a different verdict."
	3	And then you go on to describe:
	4	"The second category, more closely
01:44	5	aligned to the types of issues raised by 6	applicants themselves, involves some
	7	flaw in the investigation, prosecution,
	8	or trial process not brought about by
	9	malice but rather, in plain terms,
01:44	10	because someone has not done his or her
	11	job properly and this may well be
	12	something to which the defence lawyers
	13	have contributed."
	14	And it goes on to say:
01:44	15	"In today's complex criminal justice
	16	system, opportunities for falling down
	17	on the requirements of fair trial are
	18	legion, but it is not the simple fact of 19	failure that counts, but its safety to
01:44	20	the safety of the conviction, taking 21	account of the whole circumstances of

	23	And I think you touched on most of this earlier, far as the types of cases that were advanced and

3	А	Yes, it is.
4	Q	Anything you wish to add to what's stated there?
01:45 5	А	No. I think the only point I think I would make,
6		that whereas applicants are frequently obtained to 7		think that they owe their misfortunes to the 8		failures of their lawyers, that is very rarely the 9		case, and certainly very extremely rarely is it
01:4 5 10		the case that the Commission has referred cases
11		back to the Court of Appeal based substantially on 12		the question of the competence of counsel who
13		represented the Defendant at trial.
14	Q	If we can go to document 339381, and just rotate
01:4 5 15		that, please. This is an article by Graham
16		Zellick, and Mr. Zellick is the current chair of 17		the Criminal Cases Review Commission; correct?
18	А	Yes, he is.
19	Q	And if we can go to page 383, and are you familiar
01:46 20		with this article generally? I think it dealt
21		with, I think responding to some criticism that

1		want to ask you about. On the next page go to
2		the next page, please, and I think Mr. Zellick
3		here is referring to criticisms that may have been 4		in an article or may have come from the court and 01:46 5		the eight concerns attributed to the court by 6		Nobles and Schiff, so if I read that correctly, I
7		think the authors may have taken from a court
8		decision some criticism, but the one here is 9		Restricting the re-interviewing of witnesses, and 01:4 6 10		Mr. Zellick writes:
11		"We note the sensitivities and
12		difficulties here, and the observations
13		of the court, but we must carry out our
14		reviews as we see fit, and this may on
01:4 7 15		occasion require the re- interviewing of 16		witnesses whether by us or by the police
17		on our behalf. The court is right to 18		point out the dangers."
19		And do I take it from that that the Commission
01:47 20		does not go out and re-interview witnesses as a
21		matter of course and that when it does, the Court
22		of Appeal has concerns about that, or am I
23		misreading that?
24	А	No, I think you are reading that correctly, the
01:47 25		Commission doesn't routinely re-interview

	1		witnesses, and I think that we have alluded to
	2		some of the difficulties which can arise with
	3		re-interviewing of witnesses, particularly if it
	4		appears that the purpose of the re-interview is
01:47	5		simply to get a different story from the witness
	6		to that which they may have told at trial, and I
	7		think that's consistent with what I was saying
	8		this morning about the fact that if we were 9		talking this morning specifically about the
01:48	10		possibility of re-interviewing of interviewing
	11		other suspects, but it would apply, the same sort
	12		of process principles would apply to 13		re-interviewing witnesses, that you would only
	14		consider re-interviewing witnesses if at a
01:48	15		fairly late stage in the investigation, and that
	16		for some precise purpose related to something
	17		which had been found during the course of the 18		investigation. The Commission certainly wouldn't
	19		start off by saying, well, let's go back and speak
01:48	20		to all prosecution witnesses and see whether they
	21		will tell us a different story, that would be a
	22		completely futile exercise.
	23	Q	I'm done with that article. Just a couple more
	24		questions, and we may have touched on this, sorry
01:48	25		if we have, but the oral hearings before the
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40293 1 Commission, --2 Α Yes. 3 -- do you allow the applicant and/or his lawyer to 0 come forward and make oral presentations to the 4 5 Commission before you make your decision on 01:49 whether to provide a reference? 6 7 It is not part of the general process by which the Α 8 Commission makes decisions to allow oral 9 representations by the applicant or indeed anyone 01:49 10 else. From the experience, from my experience 11 when I was actually at the Commission, I think 12 that we offered the opportunity for counsel 13 representing an applicant to come and make oral 14 representations to the committee which was making 01:49 15 the decision and in that particular case the basis 16 of the application involved -- it wasn't a case I 17 was personally concerned with, but as I understand 18 it, the nature of the application involved a 19 particular abstruse point of law and its 01:49 20 application to the case and the decision-making 21 committee acceded to the suggestion by the 22 applicant's counsel that it would assist the 23 decision-making committee's understanding of the 24 point to hear from counsel. 01:49 25 Does the Commission often get legal advice? Q

1	А	Umm, no, not often. The Commission is full of 2		lawyers, in amongst Commission members and its

4		full-time legal advisors.
01:50 5	Q	And to the extent that legal advisors, would they
6		then provide advice to the commission or to a case
7		manager, or what role do they play?
8	А	They are available to provide advice at any stage
9		of the review and, subsequently, decision-making
01:50 10		process.
11	Q	And is that advice generally disclosed to an
12		applicant on an unsuccessful application?
13	А	No, because the advice is not generally
14		disclosed in discrete form because the nature of
01:51 15		the issue and the Commission's view of it will be 16		expressed in the statement of reasons.
17	Q	And you may have touched on this yesterday, but
18		the when, in the course
19	А	Could I just supplement
01:51 20	Q	Sure?
21	А	that observation by if, however, the Commission
22		were to instruct independent legal advice from 23		outside the Commission, then in those 24		circumstances the advice to the Commission which
01:51 25		was obtained externally would, would probably be

1		disclosed to the applicant as part of the 2		disclosure of the evidence and information on
3		which the decision was based.
4	Q	If, in the course of the investigation, I think
01:51 5		you told us that, for example, if you uncovered a
6		new piece of information that may form the basis
7		of a remedy, that it would not be your practice to 8		contact the applicant or his counsel and say
9		"lookit, here's what we've uncovered, we're
01:5 2 10		following up, we've identified a new suspect", for 11		example, "and we're following up", and I think you
12		told us, generally, that would not be your
13		practice?
14	А	Umm, no. We might. What I was saying was that we
01:5 2 15		don't routinely, during the investigation,
16		disclose the fruits of investigation on a
17		piecemeal basis unless there is a reason which 18		assists the furtherance of the investigation to be 19		achieved by disclosing that information to the 01:52 20		applicant and inviting comments. We would,
21		otherwise, leave disclosure of the fruits of the 22		investigation to the point when we were
23		communicating either the decision on a referral,
24		or the provisional conclusion on a potential
01:53 25		non-referral.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

			——————————————————————————————————————
	1		However, that's not the same
	2		as keeping the applicant informed of what we're
	3		doing by way of investigation. We would endeavour
	4		to tell the applicant what's what investigative
01:53	5		steps are being taken, but the nature of that, of 6		what we tell applicants about the progress of the 7		investigation, would have to take into account the 8		fact that we would not wish to raise expectations
	9		which may subsequently be dashed.
01:53	10		So it would be a matter for 11		the discretion of the case review manager and the 12		assigned Commission member, in any individual
	13		case, to determine in what form an applicant
	14		should be kept abreast of the ongoing
01:53	15		investigation.
	16	Q	Okay. Thank you, Mr. Kyle, those are my questions
	17		for now.
	18		I think next is, is it Mr. Roy
	19		or Ms. McLean? And perhaps I could ask counsel
01:54	20		just to identify who you are and which client you
	21		represent so Mr. Kyle knows which interest you
	22		represent.

You don't need to for the purpose of my question.

	2	A	And I think I was actual talking about the Crown
	3		Prosecution Service files.
	4	Q	I see.
01:57	5	А	Their destruction policies, for example the great
	6		bulk of Crown Prosecution Service files are
	7		destroyed within are destroyed 12 months after 8		conviction, but longer retention periods will
	9		apply depending on the length of sentence and I
01:57	10		think perhaps, in some cases, the category of 11		case, the type of case.
	12	Q	All right. What I am what I want to ask you
	13		about is whether or not there's been any
	14		consideration to reforming the way governments
01:58	15		structure their retention of records in light of 16		the work that the CCRC does?
	17	A	The current retention periods which are applied by 18		the agencies most closely involved with the 19		operation of the criminal justice system, that is 01:58	20		the Crown Prosecution Service, the courts, the 21		police, have been settled upon taking into account
	22		the fact that there is a possibility of an
	23		application to the Criminal Cases Review
	24		Commission.
01:58	25		So, for example, I think that
		Ce	Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		many that some of the retention policies for
	2		these organizations will extend the period by
	3		reference to the fact that an application has been
	4		made to the Criminal Cases Review Commission,
01:58	5		which is fine, of course, providing the 6		application has been made. But if the application
	7		hasn't been made and isn't made until after the 8		point of time at which that organization's policy
	9		destruction document destruction policy comes
01:59	10		into effect, then of course the material has been 11		lost already.
	12	Q	Yes. And has there been any discussion about 13		changing that rule in terms of accommodating the 14		situation where a conviction review application
01:59	15		occurs long after the document is scheduled to be 16		destroyed?
	17	А	Well the, I believe that there was that there
	18		was discussion which took that into account,
	19	Q	I see.
01:59	20	А	but the preponderance of opinion was that the 21		factors in favour of a shorter restructuring a
	22		shorter destruction period outweighed the
	23		retention of all papers against the outside chance
	24		that somebody might, many years later, wish to
01:59	25		challenge the safety of the conviction.

Page 40302 1 Q But you would agree with me that in All right. 2 any event, if a system such as is in the U.K. were 3 to be contemplated somewhere else, that some attention would have to be also paid to the 4 5 retention of documents? 02:00 6 Oh, I think so, yes. Α 7 Now I want to ask you about the Q All right. 8 situation concerning forensic evidence --9 Uh-huh. Α 02:00 10 -- and biological samples, for example. 0 11 Α Uh-huh. 12 Q What is the situation concerning -- is there a 13 uniform policy in England concerning the retention 14 of those types of samples for review by your body 02:00 15 or, perhaps, others? 16 Umm, well certainly the Forensic Science Service, Α 17 which is the major provider of -- as its name 18 suggests -- Forensic Sciences Services will have a 19 retention and destruction policy. Again, I'm not 02:00 20 sure exactly what it is. 21 And has there been communication between the CCRC Q 22 and the Forensic Sciences Services to --23 Α I don't know whether there's been specific contact 24 between them. 02:00 25 All right. But in terms of if any kind of system Q

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40303 : 1 were to be contemplated somewhere else, is that 2 also an issue that ought to be considered as well? 3 I think it's something which ought to be Α considered. 4 5 I mean one of the things we 02:01 have discovered as a matter of practical 6 7 experience is that, notwithstanding the existence 8 of specific document retention policies, not all 9 organizations adhere to them absolutely and, 02:01 10 therefore, sometimes by chance we find that there is material still existing in a case which, 11 12 possibly, you might expect no longer to be around. 13 0 Yes? 14 But, certainly, the question of retaining material Α and the length of time for which material is 02:01 15 16 retained, I mean the bottom line of this, of 17 course, is we're talking about storage space as 18 much as anything else. 19 0 Yes. 02:01 20 Storage of material is, it takes up a lot of Α 21 physical space, so it's about the ability to 22 restore it -- sorry -- to hang onto it and keep 23 it, and I think the approach which would underpin 24 any consideration of this is that the system 02:02 25 should enable people to make applications relating

	1		to their case, whether it's for appeal or an
	2		application to, in our case, the Criminal Cases
	3		Review Commission, as promptly as they can and as 4		soon as they are in a position to do so. Of 02:02	5		course, that begs the question as to whether, at 6		the time the application is made, the necessary
	7		further evidence can be found, and if it's a case
	8		where the ability to produce fresh evidence which 9		called into question the safety of the conviction
02:02	10		depends on advances in science, that may not
	11		happen immediately.
	12	Q	I see.
	13	A	But there is nothing you can do about that.
	14	Q	All right. But, in any event, you would agree
02:02	15		with me that those issues that surround
	16		advancements in forensic evidence, and how we
	17		store samples, is something we ought to pay
	18		considerable attention to if we are to consider a
	19		competent conviction review process?
02:03	20	A	Well, the availability of material to be
	21		re-examined in the course of any subsequent review
	22		is an important consideration.
	23	Q	Thank you. Now, rather than taking you into 24		the line by line through the mechanics of how 02:03	25		you investigate in your case review process, I
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40305 1 want to try and elicit from you some of the guiding principles that seem to animate the rules 2 3 that are in place there. All right? Uh-huh. 4 Α 5 Now the first principle that I want to ask you 02:03 Q 6 about is the notion of independence --7 Yes. Α 8 0 -- that you told Mr. Hodson about. 9 Uh-huh. Α 02:03 10 Now would you agree with me that the notion of 0 11 independence, as you understand it and in terms of 12 how it's understood in the context of the CCRC in 13 England, is that independence goes beyond actual 14 independence to the issue of whether or not a body 02:03 15 is perceived to be independent? 16 Yes. Α 17 All right. And that concern about the perception 0 18 of independence is something that has been taken 19 into account in terms of how the CCRC was 02:04 20 structured; is that correct? 21 Α Yes. 22 All right. Now you would agree with me that, in Q 23 terms of the ability of the CCRC to do its work, 24 the perception that it has -- enjoys amongst 02:04 25 stakeholders and other members of the public is

Page 40306 : 1 critical in order for it to do its work properly; 2 is that right? 3 Α Yes. Now, if I could just put a little bit more meat on 4 0 5 the bones in terms of the relationship between the 02:04 Home Office and the CCRC, because the CCRC does 6 7 come, generally, within the purview of the Home 8 Office; is that correct? 9 The actual status of the CCRC is that of Α Yes. 02:04 10 non-departmental public body. 11 Q Yes? 12 А It's -- essentially the delivery of public sector 13 activity, if it's not to be done directly by a 14 government department, is increasingly given out 02:05 15 to either non-departmental public bodies, of which 16 the Commission is one, or executive agencies. 17 Now the significance, the 18 significant difference between the two is that an 19 executive agency has a management board which 02:05 20 includes, on it, people from the government 21 department of which the agency is an executive 22 agency, whereas with a non-departmental public 23 body the governance of the organization is 24 entirely internal. 02:05 25 So the governance of the

Certified Professional Court Reporters serving P.A., Regina & Saskatoon since 1980

Page 40307 : 1 Criminal Cases Review Commission is undertaken by 2 the Commission as a board, with a chief executive, 3 but there is no representation on the management 4 of the Commission, as a matter of governance, from 5 the Home Office. 02:05 So in terms of the two models that 6 Q All right. 7 were sort of available in England in terms of 8 structuring the CCRC, --9 Α Uh-huh. 02:06 10 -- the one that didn't include any involvement of 0 11 government officials was the one that was chosen; 12 is that correct? 13 Α That's correct. 14 And that was a very deliberate choice; was it not? Q 02:06 15 I would think so. Α 16 All right. Now, from the point of view of Q 17 perception of independence, it's very important 18 that it be clear that there isn't any type of 19 government direct involvement in terms of how 02:06 20 cases are reviewed; is that right? 21 Α That's right. 22 And that was why the choice that -- was made to Q 23 keep government people out of the direct 24 management of the CCRC; is that right? 02:06 25 But it would still have been possible, even if the Α

1		Commission had been established as an executive
2		agency, to ensure that the government department
3		had no involvement in had no actual involvement
4		in casework or casework decisions, but the process
02:06 5		of keeping it absolutely separate is made that
6		much easier
7	Q	Yes.
8	А	if there is no involvement of the Home Office
9		directly in the management of the Commission.
0 2:07 10	Q	And it also makes things clear, from a perception
11		point of view, because it's a little more
12		difficult to convey to the public that there's 13		independence when there's actually government
14		people sitting on the board?
0 2:07 15	А	I think that may be true, yes.
16	Q	Thank you. Now I believe the Commissioner asked
17		you some questions, towards the end of the day,
18		about whether or not there was an actual rule that
19		would prohibit a politician or an elected official
02:07 20		from contacting somebody on a Commissioner on 21		the CCRC and attempting to influence them
22		concerning a case;
23	А	Uh-huh.
24	Q	do you remember being asked about that?
02:07 25	А	I do, yes.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40309 1 Q And I think your answer was that there wasn't any 2 specific rule that dealt with that issue? 3 No, that -- no, there isn't. Α And, I mean, 4 anybody, whoever they are, I suppose, could seek 5 to contact the Commission to ask about cases. 02:07 Indeed, Members of Parliament 6 7 frequently write to the Commission on behalf of their constituents, asking what's happening and 8 9 what's going to be done and maybe even making 02:08 10 suggestions about what should be done. Now the 11 Commission would not regard that sort of approach 12 by Members of Parliament as being improper, I 13 mean, that is what Members of Parliament are there 14 to do, to represent the interests of their 02:08 15 constituents. 16 What would be inappropriate, 17 and I've no doubt would draw sort of immediate 18 condemnatory action by the Commission, would be if 19 anybody in the Home Office, either official or 02:08 20 minister, sought to contact the Commission wearing 21 their departmental hats, if I can put it that way, 22 and endeavour to discuss cases or their progress. 23 0 All right. So there's nothing wrong with an MP, 24 on behalf of a constituent, asking for information 02:09 25 from the organization, but it's a completely

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40310 : 1 different matter for somebody in an executive or ministerial capacity to attempt to contact the 2 3 Commission with a view to influencing its 4 decisions; is that right? 5 Α Yes. 02:09 And even though that's not written down anywhere 6 0 7 that's a principle that's well-recognized within 8 the civil service, and the notion that there isn't 9 to be political interference --02:09 10 Α Yes. 11 Q -- with civil servants, okay. So that's a matter 12 of sort of conventional principles of 13 Parliamentary democracy and there is no specific 14 _ _ 02:09 15 It would be a constitutional issue I think. Α 16 Now in terms of the contact that is Yes. Q permissible between the Home Office and the CCRC I 17 18 understand that the Home Office is entitled, in 19 fact obligated, to give policy or strategic 02:09 20 direction to the CCRC? 21 The relationship between the Home Office and Α No. 22 the Commission is around the fact that the Home 23 Office provides the funding for the Commission, 24 and to that extent the Commission is obliged to 02:10 25 account for its uses of the funding that it is

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

1		given through the Home through to the Home
2		Office, and ultimately through the Home Office to
3		Parliament. So the Home Office has legitimate
4		interests in, for example, how many Commission
02:10 5		members the Commission wishes to appoint, what 6		other staff resources are to be appointed, and 7		generally to approve the Commission's strategic
8		documents in the form of corporate and business
9		plans, but they are related to what I described a
02:10 10		moment ago as governance issues, to make sure that 11		the Commission is intending to make proper use of 12		the funding which is allocated by the Home Office.
13		And, of course, the amount of that funding is 14		going to depend on the Commission's ability to
02:11 15		persuade the Home Office that its corporate plans,
16		or the strategies which it intends to adopt, are
17		sensible and workable.
18	Q	All right. So, in terms of the reporting
19		relationship between the CCRC and the Home Office,
02:11 20		it's purely with respect to financial matters and 21		not with respect to the meat of what the CCRC does
22		on a day-to-day basis; is that right?
23	А	That's right. I mean, the nature of the 24		relationship is around governance issues, not
02:11 25		about how it deals with casework.

Page 40312 : 1 Q And, again, this is a deliberate choice in terms of ensuring a perception of independence on the 2 3 part of the CCRC? 4 Well, it's actual independence and the perception, Α 5 02:11 yes. 6 Q Now you gave evidence yesterday Thank you. 7 concerning the Runciman report and the debate 8 concerning whether or not the Home Secretary 9 should be the one that is involved in conviction 02:12 10 reviews, and you gave evidence that the Runciman 11 report -- and we saw the Runciman report --12 Α Yes. 13 0 -- recommended strongly that that issue of conviction review be removed from the Home 14 02:12 15 Secretary; is that right? 16 Yes. Α 17 Now you gave a couple of reasons why All right. 0 18 that was recommended, and one of them was the 19 notion of a separation of powers between the 02:12 20 executive and the judiciary? 21 Α Yes. And another of the reasons you gave was what was 22 Q 23 perceived to be a conflict between the Home 24 Secretary's responsibility for policing and 02:12 25 prosecution on the front end --

1 A Uh-huh.

	2	Q	versus repairing potential miscarriages of
	3		justice on the back end; is that right?
	4	А	Yes.
02:12	5	Q	I'm going to suggest another reason, from a
	6		perception point of view, why a political or 7		elected official may not be in the position to be
	8		in charge of conviction reviews.
	9	А	Uh-huh.
02:13	10	Q	And that's the issue of, by nature of an elected
-	11		official, they have to be responsive to public
-	12		opinion to some extent?
-	13	А	Uh-huh.
-	14	Q	Would you agree with that?
02:13	15	А	That would certainly be an issue because, again,
-	16		the the what I think is lies underpins
_	17		the position which the English CCRC operates under
-	18		is the is this whole concept of independence.
-	19		And we, I think, would say that the makeup of the 02:13	20		Commission and the way in which it works means
2	21		that it doesn't have to have any ulterior motive
2	22		in mind, or any un or any external pressure in
2	23		mind.
2	24		You suggest one, which is that
02:13 2	25		if a minister is making decisions on whether to

Page 40314 = 1 allow a case through the gateway, that person may be influenced by external pressures around public 2 3 concern about the case or whatever, but there are 4 other, there are other aspects to the business of 5 independence, one of which, of course, is that we 02:14 6 don't act for the applicant either, so we're not 7 susceptible to having to take into account any 8 particular interest there either. 9 But the suggestion you make, I 02:14 10 think, or the point you make about somebody making 11 decisions who may be susceptible because he had 12 other pressures on him or other factors which may 13 influence his decision-making, is a valid one. 14 0 Thank you. 02:14 15 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Mr. Roy, do you 16 suggest that there's any difference between 2 and 17 3? 18 MR. ROY: I --19 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Between separating 02:14 20 the prosecution end and the review end and between the, from a perception point of view, making that distinction?

23MR. ROY: Yes, I do, I do.24COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay. Perhaps you02:1425could just suggest it again?

2	Q	Well, in terms of the type of conflict in the 3	~	second scenario that the Commissioner has just 4		mentioned, the conflict between being both the
02:15 5		prosecutor and the policeman and being the person
6		who fixes the miscarriage of justice, there seems
7		to be a conflict in terms of those roles?
8	А	Yes. As a, just as a, for the purpose of 9		exactitude, the Home Secretary is not, and never
02:15 10		has been, responsible for the prosecution process.
11		That's the responsibility of the Attorney General.
12	Q	Policing?
13	А	But the Home Secretary is responsible for 14		policing, law and order, and the management of the
02:15 15		prison service, the management of the privation
16		service, in other words virtually everything which 17		directly impacts on ensuring that the people who 18		commit offences are investigated and dealt with 19		appropriately. The bit in the middle about
02:15 20		prosecuting is another ministerial responsibility.
21	Q	Okay.
22	А	But it's that I think the point you're making
23		is that that front-end responsibility for a huge
24		chunk of the administration of the criminal
02:16 25		justice system, all of which is directed towards
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		detection and punishment, is in it's
2		inappropriate for somebody with those
3		responsibilities also to be expected to make im
4		appropriate decisions in relation to the fact
02:16 5		that, notwithstanding everything that's gone
6		before, someone has still been wrongly convicted.
7	Q	Yes. And the nature of the conflict is that the 8		people that the Home Secretary manages, in terms
9		of the police may be partly responsible for how
02:16 10		the person ended up being wrongfully convicted,
11		and there is a bit of a conflict between whether 12		or not the Home Secretary would be prepared to 13		pronounce that in a given case; is that right?
14	А	Well, I think so. I mean I'm sure the Home
02:16 15		Secretary, acting entirely honourably and
16		honestly, would nonetheless hope, in any given
17		case, that all the other aspects of the process
18		for which he is responsible have worked and,
19		therefore, is less able to take to stand back
02:17 20
21	Q	Yes.
22	А	and take a dispassionate view of someone who 23		says "I'm sorry, Home Secretary, you're wrong, it
24		hasn't worked."
02:17 25	Q	And whether or not the Home Secretary, any given

Page 40317 : 1 Home Secretary, is able to do that, from a 2 perception point of view there is -- there might 3 be a perception on the part of the public or the 4 applicant that that separation that would be 02:17 5 necessary to do both jobs could be put into 6 practice; is that --7 Yes. Α 8 0 Okay. But the third point is a concern about the 9 vulnerability of the Home Secretary to political 02:17 10 pressure from the public. For example, the 11 terrorism cases are a good example? 12 Α Uh-huh. 13 0 That a concern or a fear generally amongst the 14 public about terrorism might apply some pressure 02:17 15 in terms of the Home Secretary's ability to review 16 a conviction, a potentially wrongful conviction, 17 in a terrorism case; right? 18 Yes. Α 19 Okay. 0 02:17 20 Perhaps I could -- this was something -- and I Α 21 think the point you make is absolutely right, and 22 it's a valid one, and commentators would say that 23 that -- it is that which lay at the heart of the 24 reasons why some of these cases took so long for 02:18 25 anyone to get a grip of them and deal with them.

1		But I also have in mind the
2		fact that, in a case which related to the 3		conviction of the Guildford 4, which is another of 4		the blockbuster cases, I seem to recall that there
02:18 5		was some civil proceedings arising out of that in 6		which Lord Denning, who was then one of the who
7		was then one of our most senior and respected
8		judges, threw out the civil litigation on the 9		basis that in order to allow this action to
02:18 10		proceed it would necessarily involve an assumption
11		that the police officers in this case had been 12		involved in misconduct, and that would be,
13		frankly, unthinkable.
14		So it, it's not just a
02:18 15		political and ministerial problem, it in that 16		particular case, at least in the eyes of one
17		particular judge, the notion that police officers
18		may have been guilty of misconduct in relation to 19		an investigation was unthinkable and the civil
02:19 20		proceeding was stayed on that basis.
21	Q	I see. It's another reason to put the
22		responsibility of reviewing convictions in the 23		hands of a body that's dedicated to that role?
24	А	Well it certainly, it's certainly a re it
02:19 25		certainly tends to illustrate and illuminate why
		Mever CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40319 : 1 it is that, if the mechanisms for investigating 2 and hopefully redressing miscarriages of justice 3 are left with whoever it may be, but who had --4 who is trying to balance off one ill against 02:19 5 another, then you might -- you can tend to get some skewed thinking around where you -- what your 6 7 objectives are. 8 0 And this, the point of the CCRC is you don't 9 engage in that form of balancing, you have a 02:20 10 inquisitorial type of approach where you --11 Α Absolutely, I --12 Q -- investigate the facts and go where they take 13 you? 14 Absolutely. And that was one of the most Α 02:20 15 refreshing aspects which I found when I started 16 work as a Commission member. Having spent most of 17 my professional career up until that time 18 prosecuting, where all the time you were doing 19 your best to prosecute in a fair and appropriate 02:20 20 manner but, all the time, you had to wonder about 21 whether what you were doing was somehow going to 22 have some adverse effect on the ability to 23 prosecute a case successfully, one of the most 24 refreshing things about being at the Commission 02:20 25 was that all those sorts of concerns and fears

1	simply evaporated. We just went out and did what
2	was necessary, and then we made what we will of
3	what we found, because we didn't have to worry
4	about damaging anybody's interests.
02:20 5	Q Now, your article, and Mr. Hodson has already
6	taken you to the passage that I was going to take
7	you to, but I want to put it to you again for 8	emphasis, is and that's the passage on page 60.
9	Page 660 rather?
02:21 10	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Can I have the 11	doc. number, Mr. Roy, please?
12	MR. ROY: I'm sorry, it's 339389.
13	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And that's not
14	merely the page number, that's the document
0 2:21 15	number is it?
16	MR. ROY: That's the document number, and
17	the page number is 339392.
18	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Thank you.
19	BY MR. ROY:
02:21 20	Q And it's right above it's the passage right
21	above the title where it says the Royal Commission
22	on Criminal Justice.
23	A Yes.
24	Q And what you pose at the end of that paragraph is
02:21 25	sort of a choice between two ideas:
	Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40321 1 "Will whatever mechanism that is adopted 2 to address the cries of those who claim 3 to have been wrongly convicted have at 4 its heart the will to own up to mistakes 5 and learn lessons..." 11:31 on the one hand? 6 7 Uh-huh. Α 8 0 "...or will it strive to preserve the 9 status quo?" 02:22 10 Α Yes. And in terms of how the CCRC and how it's 11 Q 12 structured, how it tries to answer that question 13 in the way it does its work, it tries to show a 14 will to own up to mistakes and learn lessons in 15 terms of mistakes made by the criminal justice 02:22 16 system; is that right? 17 I mean, I think what I would say about Α Yes. 18 the -- those I think are the questions, and you 19 can either have a situation -- and it may not be 02:22 20 quite as stark as this, but for the purpose of 21 illustration you can look at either end of the 22 spectrum and you have a criminal justice system in 23 which the possibility of mistakes being made is 24 thought to be very threatening and damaging and 02:22 25 therefore you do your best to try and pretend that

	1		they don't happen, or you have a robust and mature
	2		criminal justice system which recognizes that
	3		mistakes will happen and is prepared to do
	4		something about them. I'm not making any
02:23	5		particular comment as to where the English
	6		criminal justice system fitted on that particular
	7		end of the spectrum, but the mechanism which has
	8		been adopted in the United Kingdom is the creation
	9		of the Commission and that mechanism, I would say,
02:23	10		tends very strongly to suggest that the that
	11		the United Kingdom's criminal justice system
	12		intends to recognize that mistakes will happen and 13		do something about them rather than try to bury
	14		them and pretend they don't.
02:23	15	Q	All right. And I want to take you to certain
	16		aspects of the CCRC's work that I'm going to ask,
	17		that I'm going to suggest confirm what you just 18		said, that it tends to show a new willingness on
	19		the part of United Kingdom to have the will to own
02:24	20		up to mistakes and learn lessons.
	21		The first part that I want to
	22		ask you about is the, what the CCRC's practices
	23		are concerning outreach, in terms of trying to 24		reach out to the community and solicit
02:24	25		applications from potentially wrongfully

1 convicted. 2 Α Uh-huh. 3 I take it that in order to be effective, the CCRC 0 4 has to engage in some form of public education 5 about what its role is? 02:24 Uh-huh. 6 Α 7 And it's even more important that stakeholders are Q 8 properly educated about the CCRC's role; correct? 9 Uh-huh. Α 02:24 10 And you would agree with me that potential 0 applicants are potentially a difficult audience to 11 12 reach in terms of that public education message 13 that has to go on? 14 Α Yes. 02:24 15 And part of the reason for that is from time to 0 16 time -- it's not uncommon for the potential 17 applicants to actually be in custody; is that 18 right? 19 Α A lot of them are, yes. 02:25 20 And when they are in custody, they are 0 Yes. 21 isolated from their normal social networks? 22 Α Yes. 23 Q And they are a difficult audience to reach for 24 that reason; correct? 02:25 25 Α Yes.

Q	And the other issue is because of their experience in the system, there may be a lack of trust of authorities?
А	Yes.
Q	And there also may be issues of poverty as well and lack of resources?
А	Yes.
Q	So the CCRC can't sit back and be an obscure little government organization in some office somewhere, it has to actually go out into the community and reach people; is that right?
А	Yes.
Q	And are you able to elaborate for us on some of the things that the CCRC does in that regard?
А	Well, certainly I can talk about some of them.
	You are right about of course that many of the applicants are in prison and therefore the ability to make people who are in prison aware of the Commission has to take account of the circumstances of their being in prison, but certainly on various levels there is a lot of information about the Commission in the public domain. We've looked at some length at the Commission's web site, for example, which may or

1		institution that they are in, but certainly we
2		have, in every prison, literature about the
3		Commission which is certainly in the hands of the 4		appropriate prison staff who deal with the
02:26 5		reception of prisoners and with the probation
6		officer in the prison who we encourage to make
7		prisoners aware, as part of the induction process
8		of being in prison, about the existence of the 9		Commission and make, giving them to understand
0 2:27 10		that there is, the Commission is there if they
11		believe that they may have been wrongfully
12		convicted and wish to make applications, so that's
13		how we can deal with how we can make the prison
14		population aware of our existence.
02:27 15		I mean, in some respects, if
16		I'm talking about making individuals who feel
17		they've been wrongly convicted aware of the 18		Commission's existence, that in some respects is 19		easier with prisons than it is for people who 02:27 20		don't get custodial sentence because there you are 21		just dealing with the population at large.
22	Q	If you are prepared to go out to the prisons and
23		distribute the material there, then they are, in 24		some sense, an easier population to reach?
02:27 25	А	I think so, yes, and we have from the outset made

——— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

1	conscientious efforts to ensure that the
2	literature about the Commission and the processes
3	which people need go through to apply to the 4	Commission are available throughout the prison
0 2:28 5	institutions in England, Wales and Northern 6	Ireland.
7	There are also organizations
8	who represent the interests of persons who may 9	have been wrongfully convicted, groups of
0 2:28 10	solicitors, for example, organizations such as 11	Justice, and again the Commission, from the 12	outset, has taken positive steps to embrace
13	stakeholders who come into those categories to 14	ensure that they are aware of our existence so
0 2:28 15	that they in turn can disseminate information
16	about the Commission, and from time to time we
17	will have we will have stakeholder liaison
18	meetings with organizations of that nature not
19	only from the point of view of making sure that 02:29 20	they know of our existence, but also from the 21	point of view of discussing with them how we're
22	doing, which is something which I refer to later
23	in that Drake review article where I point out
24	that although the Commission believes that it is
02:29 25	carving out a good and positive place for itself
	Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		within the criminal justice system, it certainly
	2		doesn't receive universal acclamation on
	3		everything it does, and we are interested to know
	4		what the concerns are and respond to them as best
02:29	5		we can, and one of the ways of doing that is to 6		have this engagement with organizations which are
	7		interested in the matter of wrongful convictions.
	8	Q	And this is all consistent with a more proactive
	9		as opposed to a reactive approach that was perhaps
02:29	10		the case in the past?
	11	А	I would say so, yes.
	12	Q	Thank you. Now, I also notice from your web site
	13		and your application form that there seems to be a
	14		real effort to ensure that the form is written in
02:30	15		ordinary language, and the form is document
	16		339755, Mr. Commissioner, and in fact on the face
	17		of the
	18		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: 337 was it?
	19		MR. ROY: 339755.
	20		BY MR. ROY:
	21	Q	And if you look on the bottom left-hand corner of 22		the document, you've actually got a seal of 23		approval concerning the ease of the language that
	24		you use?
02:30	25	А	Yes, from the Plain English Campaign, yes.
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1 Q All right.

	2	А	And the design of the document was done in
	3		conjunction with the Plain English Campaign to
	4		make sure that it did achieve that objective.
02:30	5	Q	And you do the same thing in terms of your web
	6		site, you try to not just speak to the lawyers or 7		the professionals in the community, you try to 8		speak directly to the potential applicants; is
	9		that right?
02:30	10	А	Oh, that's absolutely right, because, as I say,
	11		the huge bulk of our applications come from 12		applicants directly with no involvement of the 13		legal fraternity at all.
	14	Q	Now, in addition to the outreach that you do, the 02:31	15		proactive steps that the Commission takes doesn't
	16		stop just with soliciting the applications, it
	17		also happens after the applicant makes his
	18		application; is that correct?
	19	А	Sorry, in what respect, the
02:31	20	Q	Well, in terms of the proactive approach that the 21		Commission takes doesn't stop with just soliciting
	22		the application, it continues right throughout the 23		process; is that correct?
	24	А	That's so, yes.
02:31	25	Q	It doesn't, for example, depend on the applicant
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		going out and gathering his own evidence; correct?
	2	А	No. I mean, as I was endeavouring to explain, I
	3		hope in a coherent way, that in some respects to 4		expect the applicant to do that can be counter
02:31	5		productive.
	6	Q	For example, the last thing that you would want to
	7		do is come up with a long check list of documents
	8		that the applicant has to come up with before his
	9		application can get off the ground; correct?
02:32	10	А	We wouldn't think to do that. We encourage 11		applicants to send us whatever they've got and 12		anything they think they would like us to look at.
	13	Q	Yes.
	14	А	But we certainly don't make it a precondition of
02:32	15		how we go about investigating, that they should 16		send any particular material to us. We regard it

1 02:32 1 17 as our responsibility to get hold of the necessary However, of course, if the applicant 18 information. 19 has got material which only he has, then obviously 20 we would want to, we would want him to send us 02:32 21 that, but we would discover that I think during 22 the course of the investigation and review, so --23 for example, if I take a case which I dealt with 24 last year when I was back at the Commission as a 02:32 25 case review manager, it was a case in which, one

	1		of the many cases involving a conviction for
	2		sexual offence, and the applicant suggested that
	3		he had very many letters and cards from the 4		children he was convicted of assaulting, all of 02:33	5		which would indicate that there had been no abuse
	6		at all, so he was the only person who had that 7		material, so the only way we were ever going to 8		see it would be if he gave it to us, which he did.
	9	Q	But leaving that aside, you don't make the 02:33	10		applicant jump through a bunch of hoops and gather
	11		up all of his own documents before the application
	12		can even get considered; right?
	13	А	No, no, all we need is to know that there's an
	14		application.
02:33	15	Q	Yes. So beyond actually just filling out the very 16		short form that you have and submitting it, the 17		applicant really doesn't have to do a heck of a
	18		lot more to get his application considered?
	19	А	No.
02:33	20		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: I just have one
	21		question I would like to ask, Mr. Roy, about
	22		that. In a typical sexual assault case, sir,
	23		that would not be very onerous, I suggest, for 24		the taxpayer. However, if you take a complicated
02:33	25		fraud case, for example, that went on for months
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	Г		——————————————————————————————————————
	1		and months and months, the appeal book might be a
	2		very expensive thing to duplicate, and if you
	3		thought as a Commission you needed that, then you
	4		are simply billing the taxpayer for it aren't
02:34	5		you, whereas the normal rules of appeal require
	6		an appellant, at least here I think, require an
	7		appellant to provide at least the basic court
	8		record in support of his appeal. I mean, how are 9		we to guard against extravagant expense brought 02:34 1	0		by vexatious litigants or trivial complaints in
1	1		that respect?
1	2	A	I'm not sure I fully understand it, and it may be
1	3		because of differences of procedures.
1	4		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Well, perhaps,
02:34 1	5		yes, but take a typical criminal appeal, for 1	6		example
1	7	A	Yes.
1	8		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: in the province
1	9		where I come from, it involves duplicating the 02:34 2	0		trial record, and depending on the length of the 2	1		trial obviously, the expense is either small or
2	2		perhaps very significant.
2	3	А	Well, we would expect I mean, if I understand
2	4		you correctly, so when an applicant, when a
02:35 2	5		convicted person applies for leave to appeal, then

	1		as part of that process there will be obtained a
	2		transcript of the judge's summing up to the jury,
	3		maybe even transcripts of evidence which has been 4		given. Is that the sort of documentation you are
02:35	5		referring to?
	6		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: That's the sort of
	7		thing, yes.
	8	А	Well, we would get that simply by asking for the 9		Court of Appeal file.
02:35	10		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Oh, the Court of 11		Appeal file, I see. Okay, that answers my
	12		question.
	13	А	Yes. And in fact that process is made
	14		immeasurably more easy now than it was because we 02:35	15		obtained some particular funding for setting up an
	16		IT link with the Court of Appeal which now means
	17		that their documentation can be obtained
	18		electronically.
	19		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes, okay.
02:35	20	А	So we don't have to re-invent the wheel every
	21		time.
	22		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Uh-huh.
	23	А	But again, it will depend on what documentation
	24		was obtained. This is why I say we set such a
02:36	25		premium in the early stage of investigation to
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40333 : 1 gather in all the existing material relating to 2 the case. 3 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes, surely. 4 Α So that we don't have to start from scratch with 5 getting transcripts if they've already been 02:36 obtained. 6 7 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Uh-huh. Go ahead, 8 Mr. Roy. 9 BY MR. ROY: 02:36 10 But the bottom line in terms of being accessible 0 11 and being proactive, keeping in mind that you are 12 often dealing with people who are in custody who 13 don't have the ability to go out and gather all 14 the materials that may once have been accessible 02:36 15 to them, you take care of that for the applicants? 16 We will if necessary, and some of them are great Α 17 hoarders and some of them will send in, they will 18 have the judge's summing up and they will have all 19 the transcripts in the cell with them and they 02:36 20 will send them to us, but if they don't or 21 haven't, then the likelihood is that any 22 documentation which they might have had of that 23 nature will already be available for us to obtain 24 from other sources without having to go back to 02:36 25 the drawing board.

1	Q	But that's not going to hold but the bottom
2		line is that the applicant's failure to produce
3		these documents is not going to hold up his
4		application process is it?
02:37 5	А	Well, it's not going to prevent him, it's not
6		going to prevent his application being considered,
7		but if one takes for example, the Commissioner
8		a moment ago was referring to a fairly
9		straightforward case, let's assume that we have an
0 2:37 10		applicant who suggests he has been wrongfully
11		convicted of a sexual offence and the issue, the 12		pointed issue is some flaw in the trial judge's
13		summing up which may either have been missed last
14		time on appeal or may need to be reviewed in the
02:37 15		light of some change to the law, if the applicant
16		sends us a copy of the summing up, then we'll have
17		it immediately and we won't have to spend time
18		trying it find it from some other source, so it
19		may be that the review can proceed more quickly if 02:37 20		the applicant sends us the documents than if he 21		doesn't, but it makes no difference to our actual
22		willingness to review the case.
23	Q	It might slow it down, but it doesn't stop it in 24		its tracks?
02:38 25	А	Yes, that's right.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40335 1 Q Now, I want to ask you about some of Thank you. 2 the principles that come out of your case review 3 process. Uh-huh. 4 Α 5 And I noticed from the web site that you have 02:38 Q 6 very, very comprehensive written guidelines and 7 policies concerning how the case review process 8 works; is that correct? 9 Α Yes. 02:38 10 And I actually counted, there were around 40 0 written policies --11 12 Α Right. 13 0 -- which the Commission has generated concerning how it does its work. 14 02:38 15 I'll certainly take your word for it on the Α 16 number. 17 And I take it that generating very 0 All right. 18 detailed policies such as those are a significant 19 expenditure of the Commission's resources? 02:38 20 Yes, they are. I mean, when I was there -- I Α 21 mean, this was something which I took a particular 22 interest in when I was at the Commission and 23 whilst I was at the Commission the majority of 24 that work was undertaken by the case work 02:39 25 operation group which consisted of a

	1		representatives from amongst the Commission
	2		members and the case review manager and we would 3		either identify or pick up on matters which were 4		drawn to our attention by the Commission as to 02:39	5		being areas in which either policy or procedural
	6		guidance would be helpful. As far as I know, that
	7		group still exists, but it's supplemented by a
	8		legal advisory group, so I think you'll find when
	9		you look at these 40 things, that they are divided
02:39	10		into operational and legal matters.
	11	Q	All right. Now, in terms of what principles come
	12		out of all that policy and guideline work the 13		Commission has done, I'm going to suggest to you
	14		one of the things that comes out of it is the 02:39	15		notion of consistency, in that there's a great
	16		effort made to ensure that all applications are 17		dealt with along the same, in the same way in 18		terms of there's a tiered approach, but all the 19		applications follow the basic similar structure;
02:40	20		is that not correct?
	21	А	Certainly. I mean, the Commission's objective is 22		to be as open and transparent as possible about
	23		its processes and procedures and one way in which
	24		that is done of course is to make publicly
02:40	25		available the procedural and legal guidance on
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

- Page 40337 -

	1		which the Commission staff operate and the topics
	2		which are selected as being, as meriting some form
	3		of written documentation tend to be those where it
	4		is thought that consistency of approach is 02:40	5		important. I mean, the Commission has never had
	6		what some organizations do have which is a 25
	7		volume manual of procedure and guidance because
	8		the sort of work which the Commission does doesn't
	9		really lend itself to having every aspect of it
02:41	10		documented in such a way, but there are facets of 11		what the Commission does which, in which guidance
	12		to ensure consistency of approach and hopefully
	13		outcome is important, and those are the sorts of 14		areas which are covered by the documents to which 02:41	15		you've referred.
	16	Q	Now, in terms of the message of consistency that 17		sends, would it I'm going to suggest to you in 18		terms of the message it sends, is that an
	19		applicant doesn't need to have his lawyer writing
02:41	20		to the Commission constantly to have his file
	21		moving forward through the process; is that right?
	22	А	We would certainly hope not, that that doesn't
	23		need to be the case, yes.
	24	Q	And it doesn't suggest to an applicant that he has
02:41	25		to have his MP call the Commission to inquire
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	[		Page 40338
	1		about his file either does it?
	1	7
	2	A	No.
	3	Q	Because the applicant can actually see that
	4		there's a written process, a detailed process that
02:42	5		his application is going to follow?
	6	А	Uh-huh.
	7	Q	And which leads to the issue of transparency that
	8		you alluded to?
	9	А	Uh-huh.
02:42	10	Q	It's also important from the point of view of the 11		Commission's work to convey that be open about 12		how it considers the applications; is that
	13		correct?
	14	А	Yes.
02:42	15	Q	It shouldn't be a mystery to the applicants or 16		members of the public how the decision-making
	17		actually occurs?
	18	А	Not at all, no. I mean, right from the outset the
	19		Commission's concern was to ensure that it
02:42	20		developed processes and working methods which were 21		appropriate to the work it was doing and that they
	22		should they should be publicly available.
	23	Q	And you told us in your evidence about a written 24		case plan in terms of how an investigation is
02:43	25		planned?

Page 40339 1 Uh-huh. Α 2 0 And that's a written document obviously? 3 Α Yes. And that document is added to record all the 4 0 5 different steps that are taken and conclusions 02:43 that flow from the documents? 6 7 Yes. Α 8 Yes? 0 9 Uh-huh. Α 02:43 10 And that is a method of ensuring that the way 0 11 investigations are conducted is transparent; 12 correct? 13 Α It's a document which enables the way in which an 14 individual case is being conducted can be 02:43 15 communicated to the applicant, yes. 16 Yeah. Q 17 And we don't make the world at large generally Α 18 aware of what we're doing in every individual 19 case, the documentation which we do publicize to 02:43 20 make, in furtherance of the transparency objective 21 is around policies and procedures as opposed to 22 the handling of individual cases. 23 0 All right. But there are rules that govern which 24 documents are to be considered by a Commissioner 02:43 25 when determining an application; is that correct?

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

	1	А	There are certain there are processes which
	2		guide the thought processes of both the assigned
	3		Commission member and the case review manager as 4		to the documentation they should look for and 02:44	5		there are some there are some processes which,
	6		if you like, they are set in stone. So, for 7		example, the minute an application is received, as 8		sure as night follows day the Commission's 9		administrative staff will be in touch with the 02:44	10		Court of Appeal asking them to download their
	11		file, and that documentation should produce enough
	12		information at a very early stage to enable the 13		Commission member who screens the case to decide
	14		whether it's going to require an extended review
02:44	15		or whether it can be dealt with in a shorter time
	16		to be able to make that sort of decision, but when 17		that screen, it's call a screening process, when 18		that screening process takes place, it's up to the 19		individual Commission member then to form his own
02:45	20		view as to what further documentation may be
	21		required.
	22	Q	All right. But in terms of there is an actual
	23		standard form for recording decisions; is there
	24		not?
02:45	25	А	Yes, there's a case record.
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1	Q	And that case record will include all the
	2		documents that were considered; yes?
	3	А	It is it will the case record will include a 4		reference to the documentation which has been
02:45	5		obtained so that particularly, of course, so
	6		that if another member of staff takes over the 7		case, they can immediately see by looking at the 8		case record what has been done and what material
	9		is available, but the document which records in 02:45	10		detail what information is being considered and 11		the impact that it has on the Commission's 12		decision will be the statement of reasons which is 13		compiled when the decision is made.
	14	Q	All right. We're going to get to that in a
02:46	15		moment. Now, the decision, or the document that 16		records the decision provides reasons relating the 17		documents that were considered and how they 18		figured into the decision that was made; is that
	19		right?
02:46	20	А	That's right. I mean, the structure of the 21		statement of reasons is one which we designed at a
	22		fair, at an early stage and it is quite a
	23		comprehensive document and in all cases it will
	24		set out the nature of the prosecution of defence
02:46	25		case at trial, it will set out a summary of what
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		happened at the first appeal hearing, what the 2		grounds of appeal were and the outcome. It will
	3		then identify the nature of the investigative
	4		steps which have been taken; in other words, it
02:46	5		will identify what documents have been obtained
	6		and what other investigative steps have been taken
	7		such as the interviewing of witnesses or the 8		commissioning of expert reports, and then having
	9		set the stole out in that way, it will then have a
02:47	10		section which will be shorter or longer, depending 11		on the nature of the case, called the analysis and
	12		reasons, which draws together all the material,
	13		information and facts in the case as they may 14		impact on the safety of the conviction and sets
02:47			out the Commission's reasoning against each of the 16		relevant issues as to what new information has 17		been obtained and what impact that is thought to 18		have.
	19	Q	So it's clear from written documentation why a
02:47	20	×	decision is made in terms of an application?
02.11	20	А	Yes.
	22	Q	Another principle that I'm going to ask you
	23	×	questions about is the idea of fairness.
	24	А	Uh-huh.
02:47		Q	I take it that there is common-law in England that 02.41	20	×
	Į		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40343 : 1 would govern the fairness of your process; is that 2 correct? 3 Yes, which is now of course also supplemented by Α 4 article 6 of the European Convention on Human 5 Rights. 02:48 And the CCRC functions sort of as an 6 Q 7 administrative or quasi-judicial body; is that 8 correct? 9 Well, we see ourselves as making guasi-judicial Α 02:48 10 decisions in the sense that the basis of separation of investigation from decision-making 11 12 functions and the fact that the decision to refer 13 a case or not to the Court of Appeal has a 14 quasi-judicial flavour to it, but particularly by 02:48 15 reference to article 6 of the convention of the 16 right to a fair trial and, more particularly, the 17 subsidiary rights there around being represented 18 by counsel of choice and being able to call 19 witnesses, etcetera, and matters of that nature, 02:49 20 we do not regard our process as being a process to 21 which article 6 directly applies. 22 All right. Now, the provisional decision is one Q 23 of the primary means, am I right, in ensuring that 24 the applicant has -- ensuring fairness to the 02:49 25 applicant?

1	А	We think so, yes, and that's not a new concept,
2		it's one which applied to the procedure which was
3		adopted by the Home Secretary, that as a matter of 4		fairness, if the Commission is thinking that there
02:4 9 5		is no basis for a referral, the applicant should
6		be given prior notice of that as a provisional
7		conclusion together with the reasons why that
8		provisional conclusion has been reached and to be
9		given the opportunity of making further
02:49 10		representations about it.
11	Q	And the reasons in the provisional notice would be 12		consistent with the reasons for decision that 13		you've just elaborated on previously; is that
14		right?
02:50 15	А	The
16	Q	In terms of the level of detail that would be
17		required?
18	А	It would be exactly the same, yes.
19	Q	Okay. So the applicant, before a final decision
02:50 20		is made, is given a lot of detail concerning why
21		the Commission has made the decision that it has?
22	А	Yes, why it's reached the provisional conclusion,
23		yes.
24	Q	Yes. And then he or she is given an opportunity
02:50 25		to add further evidence or make submissions?
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1	А	Yes.
	2	Q	And it's only then that a final decision is made;
	3		is that correct?
	4	А	Yes.
02:50	5	Q	And am I right in saying, I've tried to follow the
	6		various tiers of your process
	7	А	Uh-huh.
	8	Q	am I right in saying that no application can be
	9		dismissed finally without the provisional reasons
02:50	10		being provided and an opportunity to be heard?
	11	А	That's correct.
	12	Q	So regardless of how the application is 13		classified, the applicant always has that right to 14		be heard to hear the reasons for why his 02:50	15		application is likely to be dismissed and have an 16		opportunity to make submissions about that?
	17	А	Yes.
	18	Q	I want to ask you about another principle that 19		arises from your procedures, and that's the issue
02:51	20		of timeliness.
	21	А	Uh-huh.
	22	Q	You would agree with me that the timeliness of the 23		resolution of these applications is an issue that
	24		affects the perception of the CCRC?
02:51	25	А	Yes.

Page 40346 1 Q And, obviously, any -- most government agencies 2 would like more resources, but there are limits, 3 obviously? 4 Yes, all government agencies would like more Α 5 resources, and they'd all like to do things 02:51 6 quicker than they do but, at the same time, 7 maintaining the required standard. 8 0 But, to deal with the scarcity of resources, you 9 actually have a formal procedure for priorizing 02:51 10 the applications; is that correct? 11 Α That is correct, yes, yeah. 12 Q And in fact the cases that are in custody get --13 or are potentially given more priority? 14 Than those at liberty, yes. Α 02:52 15 And, also, the issues concerning Q Yes. 16 deterioration of evidence, --17 Yes. Α 18 -- those cases are given more priority; right? Q 19 Yes. Α 02:52 20 And once the application is -- starts its path 0 21 towards being considered, reviewed, and resolved, 22 23 Α Uh-huh. 24 0 -- there are written rules that prescribe the 02:52 25 various stages that the application goes through;

Page 40347 1 yes? 2 Α Yes. 3 And there is actually an assigned person, a case 0 4 manager, that's responsible for moving it along 5 that process; is that correct? 02:52 6 Α Yes. 7 And that case manager is actually supervised by Q 8 one of the Commissioners; right? 9 Α Yes. 02:52 10 And it's not the same Commissioner that makes the 0 11 decision on the application? 12 Α Correct. 13 0 And the supervision of the Commissioner ensures that there is some form of accountability in terms 14 15 of processing the cases in a timely fashion? 02:52 16 That is certainly one of the reasons, an Α 17 associated reason. And the reason why we adopted 18 the role of assigned Commission member to the case 19 review process was that, apart from having a 02:53 20 mechanism for monitoring the progress of the 21 investigation and review, as with so many other 22 aspects of human endeavour it's quite often 23 sensible to have two heads working on a problem 24 than one. And particularly on this all-important 02:53 25 question of trying to identify issues which might

1		go somewhere and how the investigation might be
2		effectively conducted, we thought that having the
3		combined experience of a case review manager and a
4		Commission member on that process was also a valid
02:53 5		one.
6	Q	And then you also have a mechanism for flagging
7		the applications that have been in the process for
8		more than six months?
9	А	Yes.
02:54 10	Q	And those are given special considerations; is
11		that right?
12	А	They come before a case review committee. Again,
13		that case review committee may well consist of the 14		assigned Commission member as one of the members
02:54 15		as this is not part of any statutory process or is 16		related to the independence of decision-making, it
17		is simply about case management. And that case
18		review committee will review what is being done
19		with that case, how close it is to being brought 02:54 20		to the stage where a decision can be made, and 21		whether there needs to be any pressure applied or 22		escalation procedures adopted externally to ensure
23		that any external work is also progressed.
24	Q	Now I want to ask you about the mechanisms of 02:54 25		accountability for people that work at the

Certified Professional Court Reporters serving P.A. Regina & Saskatoon since 1980

Page 40350 1 to get a lot of meritless complaints, it's 2 important to have a complaint process? 3 Α Undoubtedly, yes. And you also have a code of conduct that affects 4 0 5 all Commissioners and staff? 02:56 Yes. It certainly affects all Commissioners, the 6 Α 7 -- no, I think you are right, yes, I think there 8 is a code of conduct which does cover everybody. 9 And that deals with issues of conflict of Q Yes. 02:56 10 interest, potentially? 11 Α Yes. 12 Q And, again, this is --13 Α So, for example, I mentioned the fact that when 14 the case of Steele came to the Commission, which 15 had been one case, a case which I had prosecuted 02:56 16 in the director of the prosecutions office, I had 17 absolutely nothing to do with either the review or 18 the investigation of that case. 19 0 Again, the code of conduct and ensuring that all 02:56 20 Commission members and staff are bound by it is 21 with a view to enhancing the perception of the 22 CCRC? 23 Α Yes. 24 0 Now I want to ask you some questions about what you described as an interdisciplinary approach 02:56 25

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40351 1 that the CCRC takes. 2 Α Uh-huh. 3 And you've already given evidence about the 0 4 composition, and there is actually a requirement 5 that there be lay people --02:57 6 Α Yes. 7 -- on the Commission? Q 8 Yes. А 9 Now would you agree with me that this, the 0 02:57 10 requirement that there be non-lawyers involved in 11 this process of reviewing convictions, is also 12 important from the point of view of perceptions? 13 Α I think so, because as I was explaining yesterday, 14 although much of the work of the Commission does have a heavy legal flavour to it, nonetheless, 02:57 15 16 there is a risk that the taking a too-legalistic 17 approach to particularly the review and 18 investigation carries with it the risk of the 19 consideration of the issues being too narrow and 02:57 20 too -- and too legalistic if it's only done by 21 lawyers. Lawyers like to think in terms of 22 process and rules of evidence and matters of that 23 nature, and you may well miss important points 24 which will be spotted, or at least raised for consideration by people who are not lawyers. 02:58 25

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting ___

Page 40352 1 Q And, in terms of the environment at the CCRC, 2 there's an opportunity for the lay people and the 3 lawyers to actually communicate and develop in a 4 collegial environment; is that right? 5 Α Yes. 02:58 So that the non-legalistic and the non-restrictive 6 0 7 approach of the lay people, there is an 8 opportunity for that to have an influence on the 9 people who are lawyers at the Commission? 02:58 10 Α Oh, absolutely, yes. 11 And that's an intentional --Q 12 А Yes. 13 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Mr. Roy, it's 14 about time for our afternoon break, are you going 02:58 15 to be a little while longer? 16 Umm, I won't be done in 5 MR. ROY: 17 minutes, so --18 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay. Let's take 19 our break now then. 02:58 20 (Adjourned at 2:58 p.m.) 21 (Reconvened at 3:17 p.m.) 22 BY MR. ROY: 23 0 Good afternoon, Mr. Commissioner. 24 I want to move on to another 03:17 25 issue, and that's the alternate suspect issue --= Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

1 А Uh-huh. 2 -- where, through the Commission's work, it 0 3 appears that there may be another person that's 4 actually committed the offence for which the 03:18 5 applicant has been convicted. Uh-huh. 6 Α 7 All right? Q 8 Α Yes. 9 And if the, if document 339587 could be put on Q screen, please. 03:18 10 This is the CCRC's formal memorandum concerning the Section 19 appointment 11 12 of a police officer? 13 Α Yes. 14 And you gave evidence earlier about how Section 19 Q 03:18 15 works, and I don't want to go over that again, but 16 if you look at paragraph 3, paragraph 3 sets out 17 the considerations --18 Α Uh-huh. 19 0 -- for the appointment of a police officer under 03:18 20 Section 19? 21 Yes. Α 22 Q And if you go to the second, I won't take you 23 through the first three, but if you look at the 24 fourth bullet point on the top of the second 25 page --Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

1	A	Uh-huh.
2	Q	"Where there are grounds to
3		suspect that a person, who is not

6		prosecution of offenders, has committed
7		a serious offence in such circumstances
8		that if there were to be sufficient
9		evidence there is a real possibility
03:19 10		that the person would be prosecuted."
11	А	Yes.
12	Q	Now that would cover the situation of an alternate
13		suspect?
14	А	Yes.
03:19 15	Q	But, if you look back at paragraph 3, there is no
16		mandatory obligation on the part of the CCRC to 17		actually appoint a police officer, the language is 18		"may", not "shall"; correct?
19	А	Yes.
03:19 20	Q	So even when there is a, according to this
21		memorandum, even if there is an alternate suspect
22		who may be worthy of a police investigation there
23		is no obligation, under this memo, to engage
24		Section 19 and have a police officer appointed,

2 Q Okay. Now --

3 Well this document is endeavouring to, as it Α 4 indicates, set out a non-exhaustive list of 5 factors which may be taken into account in 03:20 deciding whether it's a case in which a Section 19 6 7 investigating officer appointment should be made. 8 I mean the underlying 9 objective so far as the Commission's work is 03:20 10 concerned remains the same, which is to 11 investigate whether or not our applicant's > conviction is safe or unsafe, and whether there may be grounds for referring the conviction back to the Court of Appeal.

03:20 15 Now you're absolutely right 16 that the fourth bullet point, the fourth factor 17 there which would, which might well tend to 18 indicate that an appointment of an investigating 19 officer would be desirable is very apt to include 03:20 20 the circumstance where another person may be in 21 the frame for having committed the offence. The 22 re -- but the terms of reference which, and the 23 scope and ambit of the investigation which was 24 agreed with the investigating officer on 03:20 25 appointment, would be clearly directed towards the

1 Commission's objectives and responsibilities. 2 The reason why we would ask 3 for an investigating officer is not so that we can then control an investigation designed to bring 4 5 another person to justice but to make sure that 03:21 the way in which the investigation is conducted to 6 7 serve the Commission's purposes does not, at the 8 same time, prejudice the possibility of bringing 9 someone else to justice at a later stage. 03:21 10 Q All right. Now when you have a Section 19 11 appointment --12 Α Uh-huh. 13 0 -- I think what's implicit in your answer is that 14 a police officer, under Section 19, may be wearing 03:21 15 more than just one hat; is that correct? 16 Yes, yeah. Α 17 He's wearing a hat as an agent, effectively, of 0 18 the CCRC, pursuing the investigation with respect 19 to the wrongful conviction; yes? 03:21 20 Α Yes. 21 But he also, he never takes off his hat of the Q 22 powers and duties that a police officer ordinarily 23 has? 24 Α Correct. 03:21 25 So that if a police officer appointed under Q

Page 40357 : 1 Section 19, while doing the work on behalf of the Commission, --2 3 Uh-huh. Α -- comes across criminal offences, he is obligated 4 0 5 to pursue that in the ordinary way a police 03:22 officer would? 6 7 Yes. Α And that's expected and understood by the 8 Q 9 Commission when they make these appointments; yes? 03:22 10 Α Yes. 11 Q All right. So there's very little danger, in the 12 case of a Section 19 appointment, that a potential 13 alternate suspect is going to fall through the 14 cracks and end up not being investigated by 03:22 15 anybody? 16 One would certainly hope so. Α And there's another memo that I want to bring 17 No. 0 18 to your attention that bears on this issue, and 19 that's at 339444, 339444. And the memo is 03:22 20 entitled Crimes Discovered During the Review. 21 Uh-huh. Α 22 Q Are you somewhat familiar with this memo? 23 Α Umm, I believe so. I see that this is version 24 four, which means that there's been three earlier 03:22 25 versions, so the document number of 614,000, I Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

	1		would think, would be within the time when I was
	2		at the Commission. Yes, okay, I'm familiar with 3		there having been a formal memorandum on this 4		subject. Whether this document is identical to 03:23	5		the one which was around when I was at the 6		Commission, I wouldn't like to say, but yes, I'm 7		generally familiar that there is a there has,
	8		for some time, been a policy which the Commission
	9		applies where crimes are discovered during the 03:23	10		review.
	11	Q	Yes. And, according to the first three paragraphs
	12		of the introduction, it appears to cover just this
	13		type of situation where there is a potential
	14		alternate suspect; correct?
03:23	15	А	Can I just quickly read through it?
	16	Q	Yes, please.
	17	А	(Witness reading) I'm sorry, could you repeat the
	18		question?
	19	Q	What I am asking is, or I'm suggesting to you that 03:24	20		this memo also covers the situation where there is 21		an alternate suspect?
	22	А	Well I imagine that, yes, it would. It would 23		cover it if, during the course of the 24		investigation, the Commission discovered, from 03:24	25		interviewing of witnesses, that another that an
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40359 1 alternative suspect was being put up at that 2 stage, yes. 3 And this is, leaving aside a Section 19 0 Yes. 4 appointment, --5 А Yes. 03:24 -- this would cover an investigation where it's 6 Q 7 just the Commission doing their own investigation; 8 yes? 9 Α Yes. 03:24 10 All right. And if you look at the last sentence 0 11 of the second paragraph --12 Α Uh-huh. 13 0 Well, more generally, the introduction recognizes 14 that there is a bit of a paradox or a difficulty in terms of ensuring that witnesses are open and 03:24 15 16 candid when they are interviewed by your 17 investigators? 18 Yes. Α 19 0 And the tension between that and potentially 03:24 20 reporting offences to the authorities; yes? 21 Α Yes. 22 Q And in terms of how that tension is resolved, in 23 the last sentence of paragraph 2: 24 "However, the Commission is a public 03:25 25 body and an integral part of the Page 40360 1 criminal justice system - it cannot 2 simply ignore the fact that it is aware 3 of a crime having been committed." 4 Do you see that? 5 Α Yes. 03:25 So there is a balancing or a tension between 6 0 7 reporting and not reporting, keeping in mind the 8 broader mandate of the CCRC; yes? 9 Α Yes. 03:25 10 But if you go further down in the memo, under 0 11 General Principles, there are guiding principles 12 with respect to whether an offence ought to be 13 reported? 14 Α Yes. 03:25 15 And if you look at the second bullet point under 0 16 paragraph 4 it appears that where there is an 17 actual referral to the Court of Appeal, --18 Uh-huh. Α 19 0 -- which would be likely in the case of a viable 03:25 20 alternate suspect; yes? 21 Α Yes. 22 Q That the police are normally informed? 23 Α Yes. 24 0 And that would trigger the police duty to 03:26 25 investigate crime and prosecute offenders; yes? = Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40361 1 Yes. Α 2 And if you go further, if you go to page 2 of the 0 3 memo, and the first complete bullet point on that 4 page. 5 Α Uh-huh. Is that the one which begins: 03:26 "The Commission will take into account 6 7 ..."? 8 0 Yes. 9 "... the age and seriousness of the crime Α 03:26 10 and may also have regard to the Code for 11 Crown Prosecutors." 12 Q And what that refers to is the fact that the more 13 serious the crime that the alternate suspect has 14 committed, the more likely it is that there is 03:26 15 going to be an obligation to report; yes? 16 Yes. Α 17 0 And if you go further down in the memo, please, at 18 page 3, please, at the top of page 3 there is a 19 section entitled Procedure --03:26 20 Α Yes. 21 -- that sets out an actual formal procedure that's Q 22 supposed to happen when a member of the CCRC 23 discovers that a criminal offence has been 24 committed? 03:27 25 Α Yes.

Page 40362 1 Q And there is a process where the investigation's 2 advisor is to be notified? 3 Α Yes. 4 And a Commissioner is to be involved; yes? 0 5 Yes. 03:27 Α And they are to consider the issue of whether or 6 Q 7 not it ought to be reported, keeping in mind the 8 factors that were enumerated in the paragraphs 9 earlier? 03:27 10 Α Yes. 11 Q And that decision, as to whether or not to make 12 the report, is actually formally logged and 13 recorded; right? 14 Uh-huh. Α 03:27 15 Yes? 0 16 Yes. Α 17 Again, these are formal procedures that are 0 18 dedicated to ensure that where there is an 19 alternate suspect, or somebody has committed a 03:27 20 serious criminal offence, that that person doesn't 21 simply fall through the cracks because the CCRC is 22 concerned with a different mandate; yes? 23 Α Yes, that's correct. And when I -- the -- this 24 particular formal memorandum certainly isn't 03:27 25 limited to alternative suspects.

1	Q	No.
2	А	But, if there were to be an alternative suspect to
3		whom the anticipated circumstances envisaged by 4		this formal memorandum applies, then this
03:28 5		procedure would be apt to cover it, yes.
6	Q	And the bottom line is, because the CCRC has taken
7		the effort to be detailed in the way that it
8		designs its procedures, it actually has
9		contemplated this very situation; correct?
03:28 10	А	It certainly contemplated that, as part of its 11		investigation, it may come across and expose the 12		commission of criminal activity by persons whom it
13		has who have been considered during its review,
14		and that would certainly include an alternative
03:28 15		suspect.
16	Q	If we
17	А	Or could include.
18	Q	If we could go to page 4 of the memo, please.
19		Actually, if you could back up to page 3, please,
03:28 20		I'm sorry. The memo also, at paragraphs 11 and
21		12, even deals with a situation where the police
22		come to the Commission looking for information or 23		evidence about a criminal offence;
24	А	Yes.
03:29 25	Q	correct?
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40364 1 Yeah. Α 2 So, in a situation where the police have become 0 3 interested in an alternative suspect, --4 Yes. Α 5 -- there is a procedure that deals with them 03:29 Q 6 coming to you --7 Uh-huh. Α -- to get information that you've gathered through 8 0 9 your investigation of the wrongful conviction; 03:29 10 right? 11 Α Yes. 12 Q Again, there are guidelines that deal with the 13 situation to make sure that a potential offender, 14 an alternative suspect or not, is -- does not 03:29 15 simply fall through the cracks between the CCRC 16 and the police; is that right? 17 Α Yes. 18 Now you referred, in your evidence, to an Q 19 educative function that the CCRC has the potential 03:30 20 to provide to other actors within the criminal 21 justice system? 22 Α Uh-huh. 23 0 I, in listening to your answer, it didn't strike 24 me that there's any formal provision for this 03:30 25 process of education to occur? Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

A True.

Q And that happens on sort of an informal or ad hoc level?

4 It would. I -- yes, in the sense that it's Α 5 something which I believe the Commission thinks it 03:30 could usefully do once it has the necessary 6 7 information, evidence, experience in which to do 8 it and would see that as being, if you like, a 9 voluntary benefit which the Commission could 03:30 10 provide to the criminal justice system. 11 Q Yes. And you earlier testified that a lot of the 12 Commission's work in the early part of its mandate 13 was dealing with some more historic cases, so the 14 educative function was somewhat limited by that; 03:31 15 yes?

16 Not only because there were fewer people Α Yes. 17 having to focus and concentrate on casework, which 18 of course remains the Commission's core function, 19 but also because of the absence of empirical 03:31 20 evidence on which to make those sorts of comments. 21 But now, with the Commission entering its tenth Q 22 year, I suppose --23 Α Yes.

24 Q -- it's dealing with more contemporaneous cases, 03:31 25 there should be more ability to do that?

	1	А	Well, certainly, there should be the availability
	2		of empirical evidence and the scope to identify,
	3		from that, whether there are matters of a generic
	4		nature which can usefully be fed back into the 03:31	5		system.
	6	Q	Do you see a role for having that function that
	7		we're talking about actually specifically
	8		enshrined in statute to make it a requirement for 9		(a) the CCRC to report on such matters, and (b)
03:32	10		for the other actors in the system to actually
	11		receive the report and listen to it?
	12	А	Umm, that would certainly be a possibility, and as 13		it happens that is a statutory responsibility
	14		which is being placed on the fairly
03:32	15		recently-created Independent Police Complaints
	16		Commission. The Police Reform Act of 2002, which
	17		creates the Independent Police Complaint
	18		Commission, embodies, as part of the statutory 19		function of the IPCC, the guardianship role in 03:32	20		relation to the treatment and investigation and
:	21		com but not only dealing with police
	22		complaints, but also dealing with policing matters
	23		generally, which might improve the quality of

03:32	25		embodied in statute would not be a new one.

Page 40367 Whether it's -- whether it would be necessary to 1 2 do it in relation to the Commission, that may be something which will arise out of the extent to 3 which the Commission, in fact, is able to do it. 4 5 Q So there is models or precedent for such an 03:33 6 approach to be taken; yes? 7 Yes, in the sense that the IPCC, which is also a Α 8 non-departmental public body, has a specific remit 9 in relation to the oversight or investigation of 03:33 10 complaints of police misconduct, is also given this sort of umbrella role of contributing to the 11 12 better quality of policing --13 0 And in terms --14 -- in the United Kingdom. 	1	Q	Good afternoon. I'm going to keep moving this

	3		Good afternoon, sir. Joanne
	4		McLean is my name, I represent Joyce Milgaard, for 03:35	5		the record, the mother of David Milgaard. And I
	6		should also indicate for the record we've met
	7		before, at the Morin Inquiry back in 1997, when
	8		you testified there.
	9		Now, at that time, the
03:35	10		Criminal Cases Review Commission had really just

	12	А	Yes.
	13	Q	And you didn't have much of a track record but an 14		awful lot of good wishes?
03:35	15	А	That's right.
	16	Q	But now some, now that there is a bit of a track

	18		advantages that an investigative body such as the 19		CCRC would have had, particularly in this case,
03:35	20		which would have helped or been of some assistance
	21		to Mrs. Milgaard in her efforts to free her son.
	22	А	Uh-huh.
	23	Q	And, also, to help this Commission make some

	2	Q	And I should also advise you that in 1998 there
	3		was some solicitation by the Department of

	17	А	Uh-huh.
	18	Q	And we've also had evidence and acknowledgements

03:36	20		beyond a codification of the procedures that were 21		in place in Section 690; do you understand that?
	22	А	Yes.
	23	Q	Okay. Now Mrs. Milgaard was in the position where 24		she was a newcomer to the justice system and, like
03:36	25		a lot of people, was of the belief that the system would free the innocent.

2 A Uh-huh.

3 There was very little done in the way of activism 0 4 or attempts to go beyond the system until 1980, 5 and it was a matter of David exhausting his 03:37 appeals to the Court of Appeal, and to have his 6 7 application to the Supreme Court dismissed. In 8 1980 he had escaped from a temporary release, and 9 in the course of being apprehended some months 03:37 10 later, he was shot in the back. At that point, so 11 it's 1980, is when Mrs. Milgaard's campaign really 12 comes to life to get him out.

13 Now at that time, 1980, she 14 had, and the family had, and David had, nothing but his knowledge and his assertions that he was 03:37 15 16 utterly innocent, their observations of the trial 17 and the evidence that had come forward at the 18 trial, and their analysis of the impossibility of 19 some of the evidence that was led at the trial. 03:38 20 The concern is 'how do we get David Milgaard out 21 of jail'. So if they'd come to a body such as the 22 CCRC in 1980, asserting nothing but "I'm innocent, 23 the witnesses lied", and that that is some 24 knowledge that David would have had because the 03:38 25 witnesses that I'm referring to here, Nichol John

:	2	А	Uh-huh?
:	3	Q	are people who were with him
	4	A	Uh-huh.
03:38	5	Q	who gave, nonetheless, incriminating evidence
	6		against him at the trial, so he knows that they 7		lied.
:	8	А	Yes.
	9	Q	Okay. So, in those circumstances, what would the 03:38 10	0		Commission be able to do or what would they have
1	1		done?
1:	2	A	Well I am I would imagine that the application
1:	3		from Joyce Milgaard on behalf of her son as I
14	4		understand it you're saying she was unrepresented
03:39 1	5		at that particular time?
10	6	Q	Yes.
1	7	A	She had no legal assistance at all?
18	8	Q	Assume that to be the case.
19	9	A	Right. Well she, presumably, would have completed
03:39 20	0		one of our application forms and set out, as best
2	1		she could, what the nature of the application was
22	2		and, on the circumstances as you've described
23	3		them, the application form would presumably have 24	4		been along the lines of "my son has been is in 03:39 2	5		prison, having been convicted of a murder which he

- Page 40372 -

	1		did not commit", would probably explain something
	2		about the circumstances giving rise to that
	3		conviction, and given that the application form
	4		specifically invites an applicant to say "what do
03:39	5		you think went wrong in your case" I would imagine
	6		that the summary on the application form would 7		make specific reference to the fact that "one of 8		the reasons why my son was convicted of this
	9		offence was because the his two friends, Nichol
03:40	10		John and Ronald Wilson who were with him on the 11		morning that the murder was committed, gave 12		evidence to the jury which is simply untrue." I
	13		imagine that that would be the core of the
	14		application.
03:40	15	Q	What steps would the Commission then take to 16		investigate that case?
	17	А	Well, we would be put on notice that the applicant
	18		was the applicant's mother is saying my son is 19		innocent and that there are at least two witnesses
03:40	20		in the trial who have given false evidence. At 21		that stage, and just sort of thinking back to what
	22		the Commissioner was saying earlier about
	23		documentation coming in, there may be no
	24		documentation at all accompanying that
03:41	25		application.

1 Q Uh-huh.

		×	011 11411.
	2	А	So we would immediately embark on the process of
	3		gathering in documentation which would tell us
	4		about the criminal proceedings to date.
03:41	5	Q	And would that include the police files from the
	6		Saskatoon police?
	7	А	In the circumstances of this case. I mean, I
	8		appreciate that I'm answering this question with 9		more knowledge of the case than I would actually
03:41	10		have had if this application was being received,
	11		but imagine that I was the screening member of 12		this particular application; in other words, I was 13		looking at this application to see where do we go
	14		from here, so I would by the time I came to 03:42	15		screen this application, I would expect to have 16		the Court of Appeal file, so I would know what the 17		issues were in the appeal, but more importantly,
	18		of course, I would have the judge's summing up to 19		the jury which is a very good starting point to 03:42	20		get some idea as to what the case was about, what
	21		the evidence was and what the issues were, but I
	22		would also, of course, see from the Court of 23		Appeal file that there had been an issue at trial
	24		which was dealt with at the first appeal around
03:42	25		Nichol John's evidence and I would instantly see,

	1	based on the nature of the application, that
	2	witnesses had lied, that I find a situation where
	3	when Nichol John gets into the witness box, she
	4	gives evidence in which she's effectively saying I
03:42	5	don't remember anything, but has previously made a
	6	statement in which apparently she witnessed David
	7	Milgaard committing the murder, so already I would
	8	be beginning to get some idea, some feel for what 9	the what was inside this case which was 03:43	10	relating to what I had been told in the 11	application and I think the likelihood is that if
	12	I had been the Commission member who was screening
	13	this application, I would immediately be saying
	14	this is a case which is going to require an
03:43	15	extensive investigation. There is an allegation
	16	that witnesses lied, there's already an indication
	17	from the Court of Appeal file that there are 18	concerns around how a witness' evidence was 19	obtained and gets into a statement in one form and
03:43	20	then she turns up at court and says I can't
	21	remember anything, so without a shadow of a doubt,
	22	I think, I would then be saying, as part of the 23	screening process, this case needs a full review,
	24	which means there is bound to be a lapse of time
03:44	25	before a case review manager is assigned to it and

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting –

Page 40375 1 the investigation starts, but in the meantime, we 2 must obtain the police files and the Crown 3 prosecution service files. 4 0 And in this particular case when you obtain Okay. 5 those files, at least the initial files from the 03:44 6 Saskatoon police, upon reading them, and I'm not 7 so concerned about the time that it might take to 8 do this --9 Α Let's just assume that that's happened, yes. 03:44 10 -- upon reading them, you would certainly 0 Yes. learn from those files that there was also 11 12 involvement of the RCMP in Saskatoon, the Calgary 13 Police Service --14 Uh-huh. Α 03:44 15 -- and the Regina police? 0 16 Right. Α 17 And that there was also obviously some involvement 0 18 with the head of the prosecution service in Regina 19 as well as Saskatoon? 03:45 20 Α Yes. 21 And you would obtain all of those files as part of Q being prepared to review the case in its entirety; would you not? A Well, that I think would be something which would happen downstream.

1 Q Yeah.

2 Because at the state I'm asking for the police А 3 files, that's to get what I think is the core material in which will enable the case review 4 5 manager to start an effective process of review 03:45 6 and get the case plan going, so the involvement of 7 -- and of course this is peculiar to your own sort 8 of structure over here which doesn't particularly 9 apply for me. 03:45 10 Yes. 0 But putting myself in the situation of doing this 11 Д 12 in Canada, I'm the case review manager, I look at 13 the police files which have been obtained which 14 will be from the Saskatoon police directly 03:45 15 connected with the investigation. As case review 16 manager, I will see that there are other police

03:4620QYes, that's why I prefaced it with I'm not so21concerned about how much time it would take, but22ultimately as part of doing the full investigation23of the case, what you would want to have is the24files of all of the police services that were03:4625

1 A Yes.

2 Q And all of the Crown prosecuting offices that were 3 involved?

4 A Yes.

03:46 5 Q And in the allegation of the witnesses lied, an 6 area of prime concern would be the circumstances 7 of taking the statements from the witnesses?
8 A Yes.

9 So again, with what you know now that you wouldn't 0 03:46 10 have known at the outset, you would have learned from the, from those files things that were known 11 12 to various police officers and which became known 13 to the Milgaard family in about 1992 about the 14 police questioning, and that's specifically, and this may be more than you understand about the 03:47 15 16 evidence, the witnesses, Nichol John and Ron 17 Wilson, were questioned by an outside police 18 officer purportedly with the aid of a polygraph 19 and the evidence concerning what really happened 03:47 20 according to that officer was given in 1992 and it 21 included things like showing these two witnesses, 22 who were 16 and 17, bloody clothing from the 23 victim.

happened. 3 Uh-huh. Α 4 And also you would have learned I guess in a 0 5 preliminary investigation of the type of questioning, you would have learned that Nichol 6 7 John, who was 16, had been brought to the 8 Saskatoon Police Service and had been left 9 overnight in a police cell before her interview 03:48 10 with Inspector Roberts --11 Α Uh-huh. 12 Q -- and before she gave any incriminating 13 statements. And Mrs. Milgaard, in her efforts 14 later, discovered that the matron of the jail had 03:48 15 some comments to make about Nichol John's 16 condition --17 Uh-huh. Α 18 -- and apparent trauma at her night in jail. Q 19 Those are the kind of things that might really 03:48 20 cause some concerns about whether or not accurate, 21 reliable statements were obtained from these 22 witnesses? 23 Α Well, I would have thought so and -- because they 24 are clearly factors which surround the eventual 03:49 25 statement which Nichol John made, and having Meyer CompuCourt Reporting = Certified Professional Court Reporters serving P.A., Regina & Saskatoon since 1980

	1	explored those circumstances and I hope it's
	2	difficult not to sort of confuse hindsight
	3	evidence into the fact that there you are, you
	4	don't actually know anything to start off with and 03:49	5	you've got to build up the pictures as you go on,
	6	but I would certainly hope that the investigation
	7	which the Commission undertook sort of building up
	8	the picture would lead it fairly rapidly through 9	the police files and through inquiries which would
03:49	10	then be made around the documentation and people
	11	who were concerned with the interviewing of that 12	particular witness, that we would build up the 13	picture which you've just outlined, and once we
	14	had that picture, then, if I was the case review
03:50	15	manager or considering the fruits of what I was 16	finding, I would be saying to myself at that 17	stage, well, there are obvious concerns here
	18	around how the evidence was taken from this 19	witness and the circumstances in which it was 03:50	20	taken. I know for a fact that when she came to 21	give evidence at trial she said she couldn't
	22	remember anything which is going to raise the 23	question, as it would have done had the jury been 24	considering this to the fullest extent, when she
03:50	25	says she can't remember, is that a deliberate lie

	1		or is it that she genuinely can't remember, in
	2		which case how does it come about that she has Ζ		which case now does it come about that she has 3		made a statement in which she asserts that she 4		witnessed the murder, and we're beginning to we
03:50	5		would be beginning to build up a picture around
	6		the taking of that statement which, with a young
	7		and vulnerable person with the sort of 8		circumstances you are describing are likely to 9		raise concerns in the mind of a case review
03:51	10		manager at the Commission who is investigating the 11		case, and one of the things which I think would be 12		immediately concerning is the next step in the 13		investigation, would be to find out how much of 14		this information which we've now discovered was 03:51	15		not only known at the time, but given that these 16		are matters on which those responsible for 17		defending David Milgaard would have been quite 18		entitled to cross-examine about when dealing with 19		the matter of Nichol John's credibility, how much
03:51	20		did they know at the time of the trial, so that 21		would be an essential question I think which we
	22		would be wanting to answer.
	23	Q	If I can just jump ahead, light years, Nichol John
	24		testified not only that she didn't remember events
03:52	25		that were outlined in the statement, she also
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

- Page 40381 -

	1		testified that she didn't remember giving parts of
	2		the statement, and what was done by the justice
	3		officials that were investigating this file many
	4		years later was attempts to obtain from Nichol
03:52	5		John her recollection of the statement under 6		hypnosis. Do you think there would have been some 7		merit or some serious interest given to trying to 8		obtain her memory of the questioning itself?
	9	А	I do find that very difficult to answer because 03:52	10		the concepts, the concepts of either putting
	11		people under hypnosis or applying polygraph tests
	12		is so alien to me, we simply don't do it, that my
	13		initial reaction is that if I was an investigator
	14		at the Commission looking at this, I wouldn't be 03:53	15		thinking in terms of putting witnesses under 16		hypnosis.
	17	Q	Okay.
	18	А	But that is simply because of my lack of 19		experience of doing that and the fact that we
03:53	20		don't do it in general. I think that on occasions
	21		where the police as an investigative method have 22		sought to sort of go along the lines of putting 23		witnesses under hypnosis, they usually come to 24		they are usually viewed with a fair amount of 03:53	25		disfavour, so I find it very difficult to answer

____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

that question.

2 Q Okay.

3 A From my own experience, I wouldn't be thinking of 4 putting witnesses under hypnosis.

5 Nor would I, and I would hope nobody would now. 03:53 Q And I also made the point of course earlier when 6 Α 7 dealing sort of generically with the way the 8 Commission goes about its work, we wouldn't be 9 rushing to interview witnesses years after the 03:54 10 event about recollections of the events until we 11 got a very solid basis on which to do that. 12 Q If we can leave hypnosis out of it then --13 Α Thank you.

14 Q -- would you think there's as much reason to be 03:54 15 concerned about her lack of memory of the 16 questioning as there is about her purported lack 17 of memory of witnessing a murder?

18 A Yes.

03:54 25

19QAnd the approach to resolving this would certainly03:5420consist of more than asking the police officers if21they had done anything wrong, you would be22investigating looking for documentation and23looking for records?24AYes.

1	in front of me we have a grave sense of unease as
2	to the path that we're going down here, the
3	purpose for which we're going down it and whether 4	this is an appropriate use or area to take this
0 3:57 5	witness into and I state that for the record.
6	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Thank you. Do you
7	have any comment about that?
8	MS. McLEAN: Well, I simply, for starters,
9	haven't asked the witness to comment on it. The
0 3:57 10	date we have established in my submission was 11	clearly before the statements had been made by 12	Ron Wilson and Nichol John and the evidence of 13	the RCMP officers that testified were to the 14	effect that they had used this document in a
0 3:57 15	meeting when deciding who should be the suspect.
16	What I wanted to ask this witness is for his
17	comment on what effect that kind of document
18	would have on his assessment of the statements.
19	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: As a Commissioner
03:57 20	you mean?

2	appreciation of the purpose for which he is here
3	and if he doesn't think it's a question he's
4	competent to answer, he'll surely tell you, so go
03:58 5	ahead and ask.
6	MS. McLEAN: I'm sure he will.
7	BY MS. McLEAN:
8	Q And the other factual thing I should tell you,
9	sir, is that both Nichol John and Ron Wilson had
03:58 10	given statements to the police, as had David
11	Milgaard, in the very early stages of the 12	investigation, the three of them had been 13	questioned separately and essentially said the 14	same thing, that they came, they left, nothing
03:5 8 15	happened, and then we have the Mackie summary here
16	that emerges sometime prior to the second
17	statement.
18	What my question to you would
19	be, if you found a document of this nature that 03:58 20	essentially predicted what the witnesses said in 21	their second statements, would that trigger some
22	inquiries or concerns?
23	A Well, I think I can best answer that by taking
24	into account what I know is the purpose behind
03:59 25	your question and also having regard to the

	1		comment which was made a moment ago, that the
	2		general area of concern which has been flagged up
	3		from the initial investigation, from the initial 4		application through the initial stages of the 03:59	5		Commission's investigation and ongoing as the 6		Commission's investigation progresses is that
	7		there are issues which the Commission should
	8		investigate around the, not only the evidence
	9		which was actually given at trial, but also the 03:59	10		circumstances in which this evidence was obtained,
	11		and the Commission would know from what it had 12		already discovered, that both or all I think
	13		this document also included is it Shorty
	14		Cadrain, was that his name?
04:00	15	Q	That's his nickname. Is formal name is Albert.
	16	А	Albert Cadrain, but Nichol John and Ronald Wilson,
	17		we would know that they had originally made
	18		statements saying we didn't see anything happening
	19		which had somehow translated it at a later stage
04:00	20		to, in the case of Ronald Wilson and Nichol John
	21		certainly, we witnessed something and incriminated
	22		David Milgaard.
	23	Q	Okay, if I could just
	24	А	So our investigation would be around the
04:00	25		circumstances, how does it come about that you get

	1		from one position to another, and my own concerns
	2		would be raised by references to hypnosis or
	3		polygraph for reasons I've already mentioned, but
	4		the suggestion that what emerges from this 04:00	5		document is the suggestion we haven't got the 6		story that we think they ought to be telling, so
	7		let's have them all together and see if we can get
	8		them to tell a true story. I mean, this is a
	9		document which I think would undoubtedly be 04:01	10		relevant to the Commission's consideration and
	11		investigation of the issue generally of Nichol
	12		John and Ronald Wilson as witnesses who
	13		contributed to the conviction of David Milgaard.
	14	Q	Okay. If I could interject one correction to what 04:01	15		you said, there is not a transformation in the 16		statement of Albert Cadrain.
	17	А	No, I'm sorry.
	18	Q	His had been
	19	А	Yes, I appreciate that, but he wasn't I don't
04:01	20		think he was, in any event, suggested that he 21		would have been in a position to see anything.
	22	Q	In terms of the murder?
	23	А	Again, I think we're getting into difficulties
	24		with the point which was raised because I'm being
04:01	25		asked to make comments about a situation about
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		which I have limited factual information, but in
	2		terms of the fact that clearly the reliability and
	3		truthfulness of evidence which was given at trial
	4		by these two witnesses, which on any view must 04:02	5		have been, certainly so far as Ron Wilson was 6		concerned, and there were issues around the way in 7		which Nichol's evidence was came to the 8		attention of the jury, therefore, there are
	9		general concerns, that would be a significant
04:02	10		issue for the Commission to investigate, and this
	11		document I hope would be one which sparked 12		interest and attention in the mind of whoever was 13		investigating that there was, that this was an 14		aspect which would need to be looked into.
04:02	15	Q	Okay. If we could have page 1 of the same
	16		document, sir. At the beginning of this document
	17		there is a reference to a (V1)- rape, (V1)- being
	18		the surname of what we now know to be one of Larry
	19		Fisher's victims.
04:02	20	А	Uh-huh.
	21	Q	And then there are references to the Miller file
	22		being Gail Miller, that Miss (V1)- had been shown
	23		an identification, photographs, that her attacker
	24		was a A group secretor, which is the same group as 04:03	25		David Milgaard and, as it happens, Larry Fisher.

:	2 Q	Would seeing those trigger some investigation or
;	3	ought it to trigger some investigation as to
	4	whether or not there is another suspect out there?
04:03	5	There appears to be some kind of linking between
(	6	the murder and another rape.
	7 A	Well, it would be difficult to say on simply ł	8	reading that knowing exactly what it imported, but (	9	I think that in this if the Commission were 04:03 10	0	investigating this particular case, then
1	1	references such as this would spark inquiry,
12	2	what's this about, what are we talking about here.
1:	3 Q	And other documents that you would have found in
14	4	the file, sir, would contain the reports of the 04:04 1	5	RCMP officers who were involved in assisting in 10	6	the case and those documents turned up here at the 1	7	inquiry in 2005 outlining theories that the same
18	8	person who had been committing rapes in Saskatoon
14	9	had been responsible for the murder?
04:04 20	0 A	Uh-huh.
2	1 Q	There would have been documents authored in 1969
22	2	by various Saskatoon officers well, at least
23	3	one in particular, maybe more, connecting the 24	4	murder to the rapes. Would that kind of thing
04:04 2	5	trigger an inquiry by the Commission into the potential existence of another suspect for the murder? I would think the answer to that would be yes Α because the Commission would be anxious to know to what extent, given the fact that the police, the information which is being derived from the police documentation is that there were, the consideration was being given to other suspects which is not in itself an unusual occurrence. Indeed the requirements on the police when they are investigating criminal offences is to pursue all reasonable lines of inquiry and if they don't, they run the risk of being criticized for being too closed in their investigation, but the issue for the Commission would be whether there is sufficient substance in any belief or investigation into other suspects which would have 18 potentially given rise to the ability of the 19 prosecution to discharge the standard of proof 04:06 20 required of them and, in particular, whether 21 information about these other suspects had been 22 disclosed to the defence at the time. 23 0 And you also would have seen in there a statement 24 from Linda Fisher that had come in 1980, one 04:06 25 officer had assigned it for follow-up and no

Page 40392 1 follow-up had been done. Would there be some follow-up by the Commission into the allegations 2 3 of Linda Fisher that her ex-husband was a likely candidate for the murder given his predilection 4 5 for rape and the location where they lived at the 04:06 time of the murder? 6 7 Well, I think the Commission's initial reaction to Α 8 seeing that would be the question who is Larry 9 Fisher, what's all this about. 04:07 10 0 And there would have been some inquiries made as 11 to who is Larry Fisher and --12 А -- what is all this about, yes, and depending on 13 what all that reveals, well, as I say, being 14 careful not to confuse, sort of overlay this with 04:07 15 hindsight, the answer to that question on inquiry 16 might be that the Commission is satisfied that 17 actually there's no significance to it whatsoever, 18 in which case it would be dropped as a line of 19 investigation on any view. 04:07 20 Alternatively, the Commission 21 might come to the view this appears to have a 22 degree of significance and so we want to find out 23 more about all of this and evaluate the strength 24 of the suggestion that Larry Fisher is an 04:07 25 alternative suspect and then again say, well, if

—— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

1		this is the information which there was about him
2		and we think that it may have had a significance
3		in terms of introducing another suspect into the 4		proceedings as a means of inducing doubt as to
04:0 8 5		whether David was responsible were the defence in 6		a position to do that; in other words, did they
7		know about it.
8	Q	And you might have found also in the file other
9		documents that were not disclosed to the defence
04:08 10		that related to people that were in a position to 11		see the location at which David Milgaard
12		supposedly accosted Gail Miller but did not, and
13		also evidence from, or statements from witnesses
14		that made a Crown theory at trial all but 04:08 15		impossible, that kind of thing that could have 16		been used to attack Crown theories at trial is
17		something that would be of great interest?
18	А	Well, of great interest to the Commission in any 19		case, and this would be no different, would be to 04:09 20		have in mind the obligations on the prosecution in 21		relation to disclosure of unused material, and if
22		you have a situation where, on the prosecution
23		case that an event happened where if there were 24		other people around at the relevant time they
04:09 25		would have seen something and there are statements

X S

	1		from people who were there at the relevant time
	2		who didn't see anything, then that is evidence
	3		which tends to undermine the prosecution case, is
	4		therefore disclosable under the Criminal Procedure
04:09	5		and Investigations Act of 1996, and so if it
	6		wasn't disclosed, then that would be an issue
	7		which the Commission would then have to take
	8		account of and evaluate in terms of whether that 9		non-disclosure was material to the safety of the
04:10 1	10		conviction.
1	11	Q	Okay.
1	12	А	But again, you are asking there, we have now moved
1	13		in a sense away from the potential unreliability
1	14		and concerns around the witnesses Nichol John and 04:10 1	15		Ronald Wilson into the general responsibilities of 1	16		the prosecution in relation to disclosure by used
1	17		material, and in a case of this nature,
1	18		particularly which has been a complex
1	19		investigation, undoubtedly one of the issues which 04:10 2	20		would be identified clearly on the case plan is
2	21		check compliance with disclosure, of disclosure
2	22		obligations.
2	23	Q	And this would be something that comes to you, or
2	24		comes to the person who is reviewing the case on
04:10 2	25		behalf of the Commissioner, it's not something
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		that is asserted necessarily by the applicant?
2	А	I daresay that in I don't, I make no comment
3		about Joyce Milgaard's ability to express herself
4		in this case, but for many applicants they would
04:10 5		be unlikely to be able to articulate, and we 6		"would you please check that the prosecution had
7		complied with their disclosure obligations".
8		I mean it is since we know,
9		as I indicate in the article which I did for the
04:11 10		Drake Law Review, that non-disclosure of material
11		which should have been disclosed was a very
12		significant factor in the reason why Judith Ward
13		was wrongly convicted, and that our experience in 14		the Commission is that failure to comply with
04:11 15		disclosure obligations, either by design or by 16		mistake, remains a problem in cases where wrongful
17		conviction is alleged, it is also it is, I
18		would say, axiomatic in a review of a case of this 19		nature that the prosecution would be interested to 04:11 20		make I'm sorry that the Commission would be
21		interested to make sure that it was aware of all
22		of the material that was available to the 23		prosecuting authorities, and insofar as it was 24		material which wasn't relied on by the Crown, that 04:1 2 25		it had been properly disclosed.

Page 40396 1 Q And unlike the applicant, who has to go and ferret 2 out information themselves, this would be 3 information that you could obtain sort of, if not 4 all at once, you can have your package together 04:12 5 before beginning to really evaluate the strength of the case in terms of a referral? 6 7 Yes. Α Could I have 000002, please. What Joyce Milgaard 8 0 9 actually did in 1981 was go to a lawyer, and 04:12 10 subsequently to a second lawyer, and she was 11 eventually told that, in effect, "what you need to 12 have to get your case re-opened is a bombshell, 13 you need to have something that you can drop on the Department of Justice that will cause the case 14 04:13 15 to be re-opened, otherwise you're stuck", and 16 thereafter what Mrs. Milgaard did was her own 17 investigation, assisted at times by lawyers, at 18 times by journalists, one in particular, and 19 eventually wound up at the offices of Mr. Wolch 04:13 20 who has represented David since 1986. 21 There was an application made 22 to the Minister of Justice under what is now 696, 23 was 690, and at the time of the application was 24 617, and that's the application to the Minister of 04:13 25 Justice for consideration of the application. 	3		must have been on the first yes, sorry. There
	4		is an indication in the letter which accompanies

	7		was obtained by one Dr. Ferris, and attached to 8		the application is the report of Dr. Ferris. Now,
	9		if that was received by the Commission, that would
04:14 1	0		be reviewed by consultation with expert witnesses?
1	1	А	Yes.
1	2	Q	And if we have the second page of it, please,

1		David Milgaard. We are in a position to
2		factually demonstrate the errors in that
3	,	statement and that it cannot possibly be
4		true, but we have not done that because 04:15 5	,	Nicole John testified in Court that the 6	,	statement was not true."
7		That, in itself, is a little bit fuzzy. She
8		didn't adopt the statement, she didn't formally
9	,	deny it, because she was taking the position she
04:15 10		didn't remember. Okay?
11		But would the assertion by
12		counsel that her statement, given to the police
13		on the second occasion, was factually impossible,
14		could not possibly be true; would that trigger
04:16 15		some inquiries or investigations by the 16		Commission?
17	А	Yeah, well, the content the circumstance in 18		which this letter is written, of course, is 19		counsel effectively being in the position of the 04:16 20		case review manager in the Commission, because 21		here the as I understand it what is being
22		suggested in this application is to the Minister
23		of Justice saying "minister, I'd like you to 24		consider this application and decide whether it
04:16 25		affords you grounds for sending the case back for Mayor CompuCourt Departing

Page 40399 1 a further hearing"? 2 0 Yeah. 3 So, in actual fact, what Mr. Wolch is doing in the Α course of this letter is saying "I am" -- or, by 4 04:17 5 analogy, he is presenting an application to the minister, as the decision-maker, in much the same 6 7 way as the case review manager would present an 8 investigated case to decision-making members for a 9 decision at the Commission. 04:17 10 But assuming that this was a 11 letter by Mr. Wolch to the Commission saying "I'm 12 representing David Milgaard and I've looked into 13 this case, and one of the issues which I think is 14 significant here is that there are errors in 04:17 15 Nichol's statement which can't possibly be true", 16 and I would expect that if the application was 17 being supported by counsel such as Mr. Wolch that 18 assertion would be amplified and explained, what, 19 what -- why it is thought that that is to be the 04:18 20 case, then that would become an issue drawn to the 21 Commission's attention by legal counsel 22 representing Mr. Milgaard which we would then 23 consider it would be appropriate to investigate. 24 And indeed, when I was talking yesterday about applications who are

04:18 25

	1		represented applicants who are represented when
	2		they come to the Commission, the Commission is
	3		greatly assisted if an application is supported by 4		counsel who is able to draw attention to issues
04:18	5		such as this because it means that we are already,
	6		you know, we hit the ground running, if I can put 7		it that way, in terms of issues which may well be
	8		significant.
	9		Now, of course, we may
04:18	10		disagree with counsel. I mean, I'm not saying we 11		would in this case, because it seems to me that,
	12		given that a significant feature of this case
	13		generally is around the credibility of Nichol John
	14		and a suggestion that there are things she said
04:19	15		which can't possibly be true, it's un it would
	16		be difficult to dismiss those without some further
	17		investigation. But there may be circumstances in 18		which lawyers acting for an applicant raise an 19		issue and say "we think this is significant" and
04:19	20		we may immediately say "we don't think it is".
	21		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: But you also said
	22		that you would expect counsel to amplify it, what
	23		he said there, in other words give the reasons
	24		for
04:19	25	А	Well, all that's being suggested here is that

ASS.

		i aye +0+0 i
	1	there are aspects, there are errors in the 2	statement that can't possibly be true. I mean I
	3	would imagine, looking behind this document, that
	4	counsel would articulate what aspects of the
04:19	5	statement are said to be untrue. I mean, I don't
	6	know.
	7	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: But, if he didn't
	8	articulate that, would the Commission take any
	9	further investigative steps?
04:19	10	A Well we would probably write back to Mr. Wolch in 11	these circumstances and say "please, could you
	12	help us by amplifying those aspects of the 13	statement which you say can't possibly be true,
	14	and why you say that's the case, so that we can 04:20	15	know the context of where the investigation should 16	be going".
	17	BY MS. McLEAN:
	18	Q Yes. And that, Mr. Commissioner, is the 19	invitation that's put in the letter. It says
04:20	20	that:
	21	"In preparing the
	22	Application, we have deliberately
	23	attempted to be as concise as possible
	24	· · · " ,
04:20	25	and:

2		on any point of concern or answer any
3		query that may arise or that we have
4		perhaps not foreseen. For example,
04:20 5		Nichol John"
6	А	Uh-huh. But, as I was saying, we agreed between 7		us earlier this letter was written in the context
8		of this was effectively the document on which 9		Mr. Wolch was hoping, on his client's behalf, that 04:20 10		the minister would make a decision to refer.
11	Q	Not this document, the accompanying
12	А	The accompanying application.
13	Q	Yes.
14	А	Yes, absolutely, the accompanying application.
04:21 15	Q	And
16	А	Whereas we are looking at it in a slightly
17		different context, that this is the 18		accompanying application to this letter was, in 19		fact, the application to the Commission, "please,
04:21 20		would you investigate this case and then, in due
21		course, make a decision on it?"
22	Q	Yes.
23	А	So the bit, if you like, the intended added value
24		of the Commission is that the Commission would be 04:21 25		taking this forward in an investigative sense in
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		addition to making a decision on a referral.
2	Q	Yes.
3	А	And that, I think, is the essential point.
4	Q	Okay. Now in the CCRC regime it costs nothing but 04:21 5		a stamp to get your application in?
6	А	It's
7	Q	Unless it's dropped off?
8	A	Essentially, yes.
9	Q	So in the, in this system that was in place in 04:22 10		Canada, and still is, the applicant has to rely on 11		either their own work, their own efforts and their
12		time and expense in, you know, trying to contact
13		witnesses, which you've said may actually
14		undermine an effective investigation, long
04: 22 15		distance phone calls
16	А	It can do so in some cases, yes.
17	Q	long distance phone calls, travel, paying
18		experts, assembling all the information; then they 19		also could be open to accusations that they have
04:22 20		been putting in their application piecemeal, one
21		bit at a time, as it's discovered? You appreciate
22		that's a weakness of the do-it-yourself system?
23	А	I'm I'll if you say it is I'm sure that's
24		probably right, yes.
04:22 25	Q	Well, an applicant investigating their own case
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		certainly doesn't have the luxury of sitting down
	2		and examining every single piece of available
	3		information and assembling a cogent argument for 4		presentation when their goal is to get somebody
4:23	5		out of jail ASAP. It may very well be that they 6		submit what appears to be significant as and when 7		they receive it?
	8	А	I think you certainly I the comment I'd make
	9		on that is that the, given the sort of preparatory

04:23 10 work that the Commission does in terms of finding 11 out about how we've got to where we are at the 12 point where the application is made, and then 13 looking at the sorts of issues which arise in the 14 application, it is much easier for the Commission 04:23 15 to take a strategic overview of the case and the 16 issues which require investigation, investigating, 17 than it would be for an individual applicant to do 18 the same.

19 0 Whereas an individual applicant would simply be 04:24 20 saying "here's some evidence, here's some new 21 stuff, overturn my conviction, let me out, send me 22 back to the Court", rather than trying to 23 assemble, necessarily, every single conceivable 24 thing that they -- could be said about the case? 04:24 25 Α It would be far more difficult, it's far more

—— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

Page 40405 : 1 difficult for an applicant, even with legal 2 advice, to take the sort of strategic overview of 3 investigating a possible wrongful conviction. 4 0 And, in terms of investigating the case, the 5 applicant sometimes has the luxury of lawyers that 04:24 6 will work for either pro bono or for very little 7 money, --8 Uh-huh. Α 9 -- or has to go to advocacy groups such as Q 04:24 10 AIDWYC, --11 Α Uh-huh. 12 Q -- Centurion Ministries is one in the United 13 States that does similar work, I think Justice was 14 doing some in the U.K. --04:24 15 Yes. Α 16 -- before the CCRC? Q 17 Yes. А 18 And I mean the group Justice, not the concept Q 19 justice. 04:25 20 Yes, the group Justice, yes. Α 21 And, by nature of having to gather the information Q 22 and assist the applicant in putting forward the 23 arguments to a decision-maker, lawyers or advocacy 24 groups could be vulnerable to an accusation that 04:25 25 they are partisan?

1	А	Well yes, they certainly could, they certainly
2	2	could be. But I think, actually, the real
3	5	disadvantage is not so much about whether they are 4	Ļ	partisan or not, although I accept that that is a
04:25 5	5	possibility, but it is the difficulty which they 6	,	have, particularly if the case is complex and 7	,	there are a large number of issues, the 8	3	investigation of which could take a number of ç	)	different approaches. The it's this, the
04: 25 10	)	difficulty of obtaining, of having the strategic 11		overview which is necessary, I think that's the 12	2	biggest problem.
13	Q	And one of the things that did in fact happen here
14		which so where the Centurion Ministries was
04: 26 15	;	involved in obtaining the second recantation of 16	,	Ron Wilson, where he reverted back to his original
17	,	statement
18	A	Uh-huh.
19	Q	that nothing inculpatory had been said or done
04: 26 20	)	by David in relation to the murder, and that was 21		viewed by people in authority as having been 22	2	suspicious and there were questions raised as to
23		whether or not Mr. Wilson had received more than 24		religion for his recantation?
04:26 25	A	Yes.
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Page 40407 : 1 Q And even an investigation, as late as 1993-1994, 2 as to whether or not Joyce Milgaard had paid him 3 to recant? 4 Α Yes. 5 That is something that could not be said if the 04:26 Q 6 investigation was being done by an independent 7 body and not by people who are necessarily either 8 the applicant, related to the applicant, or an 9 advocacy group acting on behalf of the applicant? 04:27 10 Α I think, broadly speaking, that has to be right. 11 Q And, also, the decision-maker, to the extent that 12 those kinds of skeptical views are held by people 13 advising the decision-maker, you're in a position 14 where the person who's making a decision about 04:27 15 whether or not to refer a case back to the Court 16 of Appeal is potentially being influenced by the 17 opinions of people that are adverse to the decision to send it back? 18 19 Α Umm, yes, that's right, and which was a point that 04:27 20 we developed a moment ago when Mr. Roy was 21 standing where you are, but yes. 22 And in terms of acting in a reactive or a Q 23 proactive fashion, Mr. Roy was asking you some 24 questions about going out to let potential 04:28 25 applicants know about what you do and what you can

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting ____

	1		do, it's very difficult for an applicant to even
	2		know what to do without some sort of a proactive
	3		approach on behalf of people that have the power
	4		to refer a case; is it not?
04:28	5	А	Yes.
	6	Q	And, if a person had no involvement whatsoever in
	7		the crime they would have very, very little 8		information to contribute and, potentially, very 9		little idea about where to go to produce the
04 :28 1	10		evidence that's needed to get back into a Court?
1	11	А	I would think so.
1	12	Q	And that leads to things like you said, where they
1	13		may get the idea that they need to get a
1	14		recantation, they may run around attempting to 04:28 1	15		find out if the witnesses will change their story
1	16		and tell the truth?
1	17	А	As they see it, yes.
1	18	Q	And you've given evidence already of how that
1	19		could actually backfire or result in not getting
04:29 2	20		information that actually is helpful to a
2	21	А	Well, yes, because you are potentially I mean
2	22		if, at the end of the road, the willingness of the 2	23		Court of Appeal to receive fresh evidence is going
2	24		to depend on an assessment of whether the witness'
04:29 2	25		evidence is capable of belief, then uncontrolled

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

	1		interviews with that witness, particularly if it's
	2		done in circumstances which give rise to the 3		suggestion or possibility that some form of 4		improper or partisan, or even worse, payment has 04:29	5		been made to that witness to give that evidence,
	6		you are potentially adding to the burden of 7		establishing that witness is capable of belief if
	8		the Court of Appeal is going to receive it.
	9	Q	Or you might even, in some cases you might have
04:30	10		the situation where the interviews by well-meaning
	11		lawyers or well-meaning journalists or 12		well-meaning family members might damage an
	13		effective interview, they may, by asking the wrong
	14		questions or by providing information, they may
04:30	15		damage a witness' recollections that are of value?
	16	А	That is certainly true, and they also might have 17		caused damage to the witness' willingness to 18		participate in the investigation thereafter,
	19		because the witness may be irritated by having
04:30	20		been interviewed in a way that they in a manner
	21		that they don't like and don't appreciate, and are 22		not very happy to find a case review manager from 23		the Commission then asking to interview them as 24		well.
04:30	25	Q	Another thing that happens if you force the
			Mever CompuCourt Reporting

1 applicant to get their own expert, or scientific evidence, is that they may become quite wedded to 2 3 the opinion offered by the expert and be resistant 4 to any attacks upon it; --5 Α Yes. 04:31 6 -- correct? 0 7 Yes. Α 8 And if the issue is taken out of the hands of the 0 9 applicant by having an independent body seek 04:31 10 scientific or other expert opinion and, where 11 necessary, multiple opinions, there can be a lot 12 more confidence by the applicant in the opinions 13 that are ultimately rendered; could there not? 14 Well, that should be the case, yes. Of course, if Α 04:31 15 the expert opinions which are obtained by the 16 Commission are adverse to the applicant, then he 17 may not feel quite so keen about them, but --18 He may not like them, but they wouldn't be in Q 19 opposition to an expert opinion he had obtained on 04:31 20 his own? 21 Absolutely. Α 22 Q So you might feel very different about it if you 23 had an expert opinion and then somebody later, 24 like a year later, told you it was wrong --04:31 25 Α Yes.

	1	г
	1	Q	or dismissed it
	2	А	Yes.
	3	Q	when you had every reason to believe in what an
	4		expert had told you?
04:32	5	А	Yes.
	6	Q	And then another thing that happens with somebody
	7		trying to gather enough evidence to put before a
	8		decision-maker is a failure to deliver enough to 9		them. How do you know when enough is enough? And
04:32	10		we saw that, in the application that Mr. Wolch
	11		made, that application put forward medical
	12		evidence which was said to settle the issue
	13		scientifically,
	14	A	Yes.
04:32	15	Q	and in light of that it was submitted that
	16		there is other things we can put forward, there
	17		are arguments we can make, we don't know if we 18		should do them?
	19	А	Uh-huh.
04:32	20	Q	So that's an issue for somebody that's making an 21		application and gathering their own evidence and 22		putting it before the fact-finder; how much is
	23		enough?
	24	А	Yes, that's right.
04:32	25		And, of course, one of the
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

- Page 40412 -

	1	aspects of the Commission is that although the 2	separation, there is a clear separation between
	3	the investigation and the decision-making, if a
	4	case is put to the decision-making committee for 04:33	5	decision and the committee thinks that there is 6	not a basis on which to refer the case, but it is 7	perfectly at liberty, and indeed does and should,
	8	look to see whether there are aspects of the 9	investigation which have been already carried out
04:33	10	which it, the decision-making committee, thinks
	11	could have been done to greater effect, or there
	12	are things which should have been done which 13	haven't, or matters of that nature, or it can
	14	suggest, if one takes Mr. Wolch's letter saying
04:33	15	"we've got things we might have looked at that we 16	haven't", then the decision-making committee has
	17	the opportunity of discussing, with the case
	18	review manager, whether there should be some sort
	19	of further investigation and the case brought back
04:34	20	to the decision-making committee at a later stage.
	21	So there remains, although there is a separation
	22	of function, the decision can the
	23	decision-making committee is not going to say,
	24	when presented with a case for decision, "sorry,
04:34	25	we're not going to refer this case and that's it,
		Mayor CompuCautt Reporting

even though we can see that there might be other aspects of investigation which can be carried out".

4 0 The other thing that was discovered in course of, 5 I guess in the course of publicity about this 04:34 case, was the Fisher connection, which was known 6 7 to the representatives of David Milgaard in 1990, 8 and that's the discovery of the Linda Fisher 9 evidence and the telephone call to counsel for 04:34 10 David Milgaard indicating Larry Fisher's 11 identification, and that took place in February of 12 1990 as far as the phone call is concerned. 13 Α Uh-huh.

14QIf that evidence had, instead, been discovered by04:3515an independent body within the files, the police16files or the prosecution files, that would17certainly take away any attack or any argument18that was suspicious of the motives of people in19coming forward with that information; do you04:3520

21 A Umm, well, not really. I mean what -- what -- I 22 can understand the fact that it came very late. 23 Q Okay. If Linda Fisher is coming forward in 24 1980, --

	19		"what took her so long to come forward", the ten
04:36	20		years,
	21	А	Uh-huh.
	22	Q	and then the Sidney Wilson telephone call takes
	23		place in February of 1990 to Mr. Wolch's office,
	24		and it's an anonymous phone call by somebody
04:36	25		giving a false name who indicates that "Larry
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

Fisher is your guy", --

2 A Uh-huh.

3 -- and there is a lot of investigation by the 0 authorities as to "who is this Sidney Wilson and 4 5 why is he coming forward now"; so my question is 04:36 if that information had, instead of being 6 7 communicated to defence counsel, if that had 8 instead been discovered by an independent body 9 within the files there may not be so many 04:37 10 questions about "why is this person coming forward 11 now", because you'd have the information in there 12 about the serial rapes, about the connection of 13 the rapes to the murder, and you may look at it more as valuable evidence rather than a tactic 14 04:37 15 that is being put forward to get somebody out of 16 jail?

17 Α Well, understanding the way in which you put that, 18 the underlying proposition is that, as part of a 19 review by a body such as the Commission, the 04:37 20 existence of that information in police files 21 would have been discovered at the time of the 22 Commission's investigation, it wouldn't have lain 23 undiscovered until some years later when that, the 24 existence of that information is drawn to the 04:37 25 attention of Mr. Milgaard's lawyers by whatever means.

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting —

	2		So the motivation for drawing
	3		how that information came to be communicated to 4		Mr. Milgaard's lawyers would be irrelevant,
04:38	5		because it simply wouldn't have happened, and the 6		question for the Commission would be "well, there
	7		is that information in the police files, what
	8		significance does it have to the safety of the 9		conviction and what investigation should be
04:38	10		carried out in relation to it".
	11	Q	Okay. One of the criticisms that was bandied
	12		about in the early days of the CCRC, and has been 13		raised as a criticism of switching to that kind of 14		a system here, is that it would create just 04:38	15		another level of appeal or create a body that is 16		substituting their judgement for jury judgement,
	17		the jury's verdict. How would you respond to 18		criticisms or questions of that nature as a member
	19		of the Commission?
04:39	20	А	Well, I don't think that particular criticism, if 21		made, has a great deal of force because the 22		Commission isn't there to substitute its opinion
	23		for that of the jury. It is made quite clear in 24		the statute which sets up the Commission that the 04:39	25		basis for referring a case, letting a case through
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		the gateway and getting it back to the Court of 2		Appeal, is dependant on there being something new
	3		which, almost by definition, means it wasn't
	4		considered by the jury. So it's not substituting
04:39	5		the Commission's view for that of the jury, it is
	6		a matter of the Commission evaluating the impact
	7		of the new information which the Commission
	8		receives and asking itself whether there is a real
	9		possibility of the Court of Appeal finding that 04:39	10		that information, far from being a substitute for 11		the jury verdict, is something which can 12		legitimately be said to have an impact on whether 13		the jury would have reached the verdict that they 14		did had they been aware of that new information.
04:40	15	Q	And that may also involve a reassessment of some 16		evidence that was obviously accepted by the jury,
	17		and whether or not it would be necessarily 18		accepted by them now, given the fresh arguments or 19		the fresh evidence?
04:40	20	А	Yes.
	21	Q	And I don't have the numbers in front of me, but
	22		when the CCRC started, you inherited an awful lot
	23		of files from the Home Office?
	24	А	279 I believe, or 280 are the figures, but it was
04:40	25		around the 280 mark.

	1	Q	And some of those were applications that had been
	2		sitting there for some time. Now, did you also
	3		get in the early days, or maybe even now still,
	4		submissions of cases that had been previously
04:41	5		denied by the Home Office?
	6	А	I think the answer to that is, to that question is
	7		yes, but I have no idea how many.
	8	Q	Okay. So if you only think of it, then I don't 9		think you can answer my next question, which was 04:41 1	0		that some of them were subsequently referred by
1	1		the CCRC to the Court of Appeal
1	2	А	I'm sorry
1	3	Q	and you do not know the answer to that?
1	4	А	I do not know the answer to that. I would be
04:41 1	5		guessing.
1	6	Q	I believe it appears in the annual reports, but I
1	7		don't have them.
1	8	А	Excellent. If they do, then they are a matter of 1	9		public record and can easily be consulted. I
04:41 2	20		mean, I wouldn't be surprised if that were the
2	21		case, but I can't say for certain one way or the

	2	А	Been in the Court of Appeal?
	3	Q	Previously. It's, in effect, a resubmission to 4		the Court of Appeal.
04:42	5	А	Well, yes, because of qualifying conditions there
	6		should have been a previous unsuccessful appeal.
	7	Q	I don't know where my head was at that moment.
	8		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: You mean
	9		previously been in the Court of Appeal after

	11		MS. McLEAN: Yes.
	12		COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay.
	13	В	Y MS. McLEAN:
	14	Q	So as a bottom line, do you agree with me that a
04:42	15		system that says you do all the work and we might 16		react to it cannot possibly be seen as being fair?
	17	А	Well, my experience with the Commission is that a
	18		body which takes a proactive view to investigation
	19		is the more likely to identify cases where there
04:43	20		has been a wrongful conviction.
	21	Q	And more likely to be seen as fair?
	22	А	I think that's
	23	Q	As a fair process?
	24	А	Yes.
04:43	25	Q	And once you've passed the threshold in the CCRC,
			Mever CompuCourt Reporting

1		once you pass the threshold that there's a real
2		possibility that the Court of Appeal would allow
3		the case, it's not discretionary any more, is it,
4		you must refer it?
04:4 3 5	А	We have a discretion whether or not to refer a
6		case even though there is a real possibility, and
7		somewhere in the Commission's documentation,
8		getting back to Mr. Roy's questioning, there is a
9		formal memorandum on the exercise of the
04:4 3 10		Commission's discretion in those circumstances,
11		but all things being equal, the finding of a real
12		possibility that a conviction will be found to be
13		unsafe will result in a referral.
14	Q	What sort of circumstances would give rise to a
04:44 15		finding that there's a real possibility that the 16		Court of Appeal will find it to be unsafe and then
17		not have the case be referred to the Court of
18		Appeal?
19	А	I think the Commission's policy in relation to the 04:44 20		exercise of its discretion is founded largely on 21		the question that whether sorry, I'm being
22		attacked by some insect here whether or 23		not there whether there is the absence of any 24		tangible benefit either to the applicant or more
04:44 25		likely to the applicant's surviving family, or an
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		absence of tangible benefit to the criminal
2		justice system, so the circumstances in which the
3		Commission is likely to exercise its discretion
4		not to refer is where there is no surviving
04:45 5		applicant; in other words, the applicant is dead
6		and the application is being made by someone on
7		his behalf.
8	Q	Who may well have an interest in an acquittal?
9	А	Who may have an interest in acquittal, but if it's
04:4 5 10		a very remote interest and the case doesn't itself
11		raise any issue of significance to the wider
12		benefit of the criminal justice system, then that
13		would be a circumstance in which the Commission
14		might exercise its discretion not to refer.
04:45 15	Q	Or perhaps, I don't want to call them trivial
16		offences, but certainly less serious offences
17		where a sentence has already been served?
18	А	Well, if you have a surviving applicant, the fact
19		that he had a conviction at all may be very
04:46 20		damaging to him
21	Q	Uh-huh.
22	А	or her, so simply because they've served a
23		sentence or haven't, or didn't receive a custodial
24		sentence at all wouldn't necessarily be a reason
04:4 6 25		for exercising the discretion not to refer.

1	Certainly if the application was an appeal against
2	sentence only and the sentence had been served in 3	its entirety, we might take the view that, and 4	certainly I think the Court of Appeal would be
04:4 6 5	highly critical if we started sending cases down
6	where there was absolutely nothing of any
7	practical significance to the applicant.
8	I know that we, I mean, I was 9	thinking while you've been asking about this, we
04:4 6 10	did have a case in which the convicted person was 11	long dead, that the application to us was made by

16	cases in which the Royal Prerogative of Mercy had

18	considerable amount of monetary compensation paid
19	to the two elderly survivors. We took the view
04:47 20	that given the fact of the pardon, which to all

6 0 7 phrase that I've often used in court in other 8 context, notably in civil context, and that is 9 that sometimes bad things happen notwithstanding 04:50 10 the reasonable efforts of reasonable people, and I take it that included in the idiosyncratic reasons 11 12 that you've identified, there are circumstances in 13 which the investigators, the prosectors, the 14 system of justice functioned, the individuals 04:50 15 within that system of justice acted reasonably 16 having regard to the information they had, but 17 notwithstanding the functioning of the system and 18 the reasonableness of people's conduct, wrongful 19 convictions still occurred. Is that a fair 04:50 20 assessment as one of the examples in which a 21 wrongful conviction can occur for idiosyncratic 22 reasons? 23 Α Yes. 24 0 So in that respect, when you were answering Mr.

Hodson's questions and you said that in those

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting __

Page 40426 1 cases of idiosyncratic reasons mistakes are made, 2 those mistakes could be errors of judgment that 3 occurred despite the exercise of reasonable care; 4 for example, in the case of police investigators? 5 Α Undoubtedly, and one of the areas where I think 04:51 that is undoubtedly a valid observation and 6 7 remains so is in relation to the exercise of 8 judgment by the disclosure officer in relation to 9 identifying material which the police have 04:51 10 gathered in the course of the investigation which 11 is potentially disclosable to the defence and 12 should therefore be drawn to the prosecuting 13 authority for that purpose. If -- it is and 14 remains quite possible for the disclosure officer 04:51 15 to reach a wrong but nonetheless genuinely held 16 judgment about that, and therefore the effect of 17 that will be that material which should be 18 disclosed isn't and maybe if there's an 19 application to the Commission, the Commission will 04:52 20 then discover that because the Commission will 21 look at all that material and will be able to have 22 it, do a gap analysis, if you like, of what 23 material was held and what was disclosed and see 24 what wasn't, and if significant material which

	1		be the result of an honest but erroneous judgment
	2		by the disclosure officer.
	3	Q	And if we could use another example, and perhaps
	4		one less formal than that of a disclosure officer,
04:52	5		but a police investigator who is questioning a
	6		witness, not a suspect
	7	A	Uh-huh.
	8	Q	for example, if we are there are various
	9		approaches, and I'm sure in your experience, not
04:52	10		only with the Commission but also as a prosecutor,
	11		you were aware of various approaches that a police
	12		investigator can take to the questioning of a
	13		witness not a suspect, and in part it might depend
	14		on you would agree with me that in part the 04:53	15		approach taken would depend on the assessment an 16		investigator is making of a given interviewee, if
	17		you will?
	18	А	Yes.
	19	Q	So if a police officer makes an assessment of a
04:53	20		potential witness and comes to the conclusion that
	21		it would be very appropriate to employ persistent
	22		questioning in this witness, that would not 23		necessarily be an unreasonable thing to do, but if 24		the witness were one of those feckless,
04:53	25		irresponsible individuals who was prompted and
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1		muched by thet mousistent muchieving to
1		provoked by that persistent questioning to
2		implicate an innocent person, that could occur
3		notwithstanding the exercise of totally reasonable
4		care on the part of the investigator. Would you
04:5 3 5		agree with that?
6	А	It could, yes.
7	Q	Now, I wanted to ask a question that dealt more
8		specifically with the experience of the 9		Commission. I noted from Section 14 of the
04:54 10		Criminal Appeals Act that the consideration by the 11		Commission whether or not to order a reference
12		does not, and it's already been observed I believe
13		in the questioning by Mr. Roy, it does not depend
14		on an application by the person convicted, it can
04:54 15		be done in the absence of an application by the 16		person convicted; is that correct?
17	А	Yes.
18	Q	So I take it then that at least in theory perhaps,
19		and you can advise as to whether or not it occurs
04:54 20		in practice, in theory you can have a reference
21		which is prompted as a result of representations
22		from third parties, someone other than the person
23		convicted of the offence?
24	А	Yes, that in theory is right. Perhaps I can just 04:54 25		amplify that a little bit. As you quite correctly
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

- Page 40429 -

	1		observe, Section 14 of the Act allows the
	2		Commission to make a reference in the absence of
	3		an application, but in practice, of course, before
	4		the Commission is in any position to make a
04:55	5		reference, that there has to be some sort of 6		investigation and review, and the real question
	7		here is whether the Commission is going to embark
	8		on investigations or reviews as a talking
	9		entirely pragmatically, will the Commission embark
04:55	10		on the investigation and review which might lead
	11		to a reference without an application, because
	12		even in those cases where the Commission has done
	13		that, by the time the Commission is at the point
	14		of making a decision to refer the case, it's
04:55	15		almost certain that the affected convicted person
	16		will by then know that the Commission is thinking
	17		of referring the case, so by the time we get to 18		actually refer the case, the applicant will have 19		said yes, I would like you to do that. I don't
04:56	20		think we ever had a case where the applicant has 21		actually said no, I don't want you to refer my
	22		case.
	23	Q	I can appreciate that.
	24	А	So getting back sorry, I
04:56	25	Q	No, go ahead.

	1	7
	1	A	I was just going to say that the real question for
	2		the arising out of this is the extent to which
	3		the Commission would embark on an investigation
	4		and review which is not prompted by the convicted
04:56	5		person themselves and that can happen. The fact
	6		that there is concern about the safety of the 7		conviction may be drawn to our attention by, from 8		a source other than the applicant. In fact, the 9		applicant may be completely unaware that there is 04:56	10		some concern about the safety of the conviction
	11		and that external third party source, if I put it
	12		that way, could indeed include the police, and I
	13		can think of at least one case where the impetus
	14		which has prompted an investigation, and I can't 04:57	15		remember the precise circumstance or what the 16		nature of the concern was, but it was a concern
	17		which had come to the attention of the police in 18		the context of another investigation which the 19		police force concerned considered has a knock-on
04:57	20		effect to the safety of the conviction as somebody
	21		who had been convicted, so the police force
	22		concerned drew that to the Commission's attention
	23		and the Commission then took that forward as an
	24		investigation.
04:57	25	Q	I wanted to pursue that avenue in a moment, but ertified Professional Court Reporters serving P.A. Regina & Saskatoon since 1980

	1		other than police officers, what other third
	2		parties have presented information to the 3		Commission which has prompted it to consider the 4		possibility of ordering a reference other than 04:57	5		police officers? Has the Crown, for example,
	6		brought information to the Commission?
	7	A	Yes. Again, I can't remember specific cases, or I
	8		can't entertain what the factual circumstances of 9		the case, but yes, there have been a least one
04:58	10		occasion where the Crown has drawn the 11		Commission's attention to its concern about the 12		safety of the conviction.
	13	Q	And prior to the Criminal Appeal Act, prior to the 14		Commission coming into existence as set out in the
04:58	15		Criminal Appeal Act, what avenues, if any, existed
	16		for police officers or Crown prosectors who had 17		received information which may cast some doubt as 18		to the propriety of a prior conviction, what 19		avenues did they have in the past prior to the 04:58	20		enactment of this particular provision of the 21		Criminal Appeal Act?
	22	А	Well, I can think of two possible avenues, but I
	23		have no experience of what actually happened in 24		practice. I mean, I'll think while I'm answering
04:59	25		the question as to when I was in the prosecution
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		service whether I was ever faced with this
	2		situation. Indeed, even as I say I'll think about
	3		it I think I've come up with the answer. The 4		avenues were either to approach the Home Office
04:59	5		with a view to the extent to which the Home
	6		Secretary might have exercised his part or refer
	7		back to the Court of Appeal, or, and I think this 8		is certainly something which I did when I was in 9		the prosecution service, would be to make the 04:59	10		lawyers who represented the convicted person at 11		trial aware of the concern and invite them to take 12		whatever action they thought they ought to on 13		behalf of their client.
	14	Q	Now, getting back to the other example in which 04:59	15		you indicated that a police officer, or that the 16		police actually brought information to the 17		attention of the Commission, and I understand that 18		that was not done, or that was done without the 19		applicant, or without the convicted person even
05:00	20		being aware that the police had made that
	21		representation; is that correct?
	22	А	Yes.
	23	Q	We have the situation that you've already heard
	24		about, at least in part from the other two counsel
05:00	25		who have cross-examined you, of the circumstance
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

= Page 40433 =

1		in which Linda Fisher one day in the summer of 2		1980 walked into the Saskatoon Police Department
3		and gave information to an officer which
4		implicated her husband and, of necessity,
05:00 5		suggested that perhaps David Milgaard was not
6		guilty of the offence in question.
7	А	Yes.
8	Q	We have also heard evidence before this Commission
9		of Inquiry that no one is aware of any police
o5:00 10		force, certainly in Canada, that had any policy at 11		that time or indeed since for dealing with the 12		disposition of or how to deal with exculpatory
13		evidence that is brought in well after the person
14		is convicted, been convicted and well after the
05:01 15		appeal period have either been exhausted or have 16		expired. Is there now as a result of the 17		Commission coming into existence in the United
18		Kingdom policies, or are there policies in place
19		for police officers or police departments to refer
05:01 20		such potentially exculpatory evidence to the 21		Commission for its consideration in deciding
22		whether a reference ought to be done?
23	А	I'm not aware of there having been any formal
24		policy adopted by any police force either on its
05:01 25		own or in consultation with the Commission, I'm
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

	1		simply not aware of there being such a policy, but
	2		the but the fact that the Commission does exist
	3		and is known by the police to exist and has 4		resulted in a matter being referred to the 05:02	5		Commission when it arose in the way I've described
	6		perhaps means that the police would recognize the 7		Commission as being a possible source for drawing
	8		concerns, drawing concerns of that nature to its
	9		attention. I mean, I suppose it's it's a bit
05:02	10		of a statement of the obvious to say that the 11		police are only going to do that if they actually
	12		do some initial evaluation of what they are told
	13		and decide yes, there is something which should be
	14		concerning us here.
05:02	15	Q	But the question that arises, and Mr. Roy and I
	16		have had discussions about this and I promised him
	17		I would ask the question, should there be an 18		obligation on the part of police who receive
	19		exculpatory evidence totally by happenstance years
05:02	20		after conceivably that somebody has been convicted
	21		and the appeal period has either been expired or 22		exhausted, should there be an obligation to
	23		present that to an entity such as the Commission,
	24		assuming Canada decides to venture down that road
05:03	25		and create a similar Commission as that which

– Meyer CompuCourt Reporting –

= Page 40435 =

	1		exists in the United Kingdom, should there be that
	2		opportunity in the United Kingdom, for example?
	3	А	Well, it's an interesting that is certainly an 4		interesting proposition and it's not one to which
05:03	5		I've previously directed my mind I have to say,
	6		but I think my initial reaction to that is that if
	7		somebody is convicted and there is no other basis,
	8		which there isn't we'll assume, to get the safety
	9		of that conviction reconsidered other than through
05:04	10		the activities of the Commission, then it would 11		seem to me to be a perfectly sensible line to 12		adopt, that if the police, or indeed anybody else,
	13		whether it's the prosecution or the police become 14		aware of information which they judge to be, to 05:04	15		have substance to it, that that is a matter which 16		should be drawn to the attention of the
	17		Commission.
	18	Q	All right. Us lawyers sometimes are very good at 19		advocating the cause of the devil, and let me be 05:04	20		the devil's advocate in this instance. The 21		criticism has been made that if one does that, if 22		one lets the police make the assessment of that 23		evidence, because the police were involved in the 24		initial investigation that led to the conviction,
05:04	25		they are going to be careful to protect the
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

_____ Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40436 1 integrity of that first investigation which led to 2 the conviction? 3 Uh-huh. Α 4 And as a consequence of that, their evaluation of 0 5 that exculpatory evidence which comes to them by 05:05 6 happenstance would be suspect? 7 I can see the --Α 8 By the way, I don't make that criticism, that 0 9 criticism has been made. What would your response 05:05 10 be to that criticism? Well, I suppose one way of overcoming that 11 Α 12 particular criticism would be just to, if we were 13 moving towards the circumstance of having some 14 sort of understood policy along these lines, would 05:05 15 be to say, well, don't do any judgment here, let 16 the Commission make that judgment. 17 Thank you, Mr. Kyle. I have no MR. ELSON: 18 further questions. 19 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: But by denying the 05:05 20 discretion of the officer, of course, who 21 received the complaint, you wouldn't necessarily 22 ward off any desire by him to conceal it, he 23 could simply file it away of course. 24 А And pretend it never --25 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Yes. Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

1 A Well, of course, yes.

2 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Don't the results, 3 sir, have to repose, as we always do, a good deal of confidence in the upright behaviour of our 4 5 police forces and their members? 05:06 6 Α Well, I think -- I'm sure that's right, and I 7 think this is about sort of culture around the operation of the whole criminal justice system as 8 9 If -- what I was saying earlier about a a whole. 05:06 10 mature and responsible criminal justice system 11 being prepared to acknowledge that mistakes happen 12 and to address them, and the -- and I use the 13 words "mistakes happen" there advisedly, because 14 if you have anyone involved in the process from investigation through to trial who is deliberately 05:07 15 16 and maliciously out to act in an improper manner, 17 then it doesn't matter what the general culture 18 is, that case is going to cause a particularly 19 idiosyncratic problem, but if the culture is a 05:07 20 healthy one and extends throughout the criminal 21 justice system, then that will extend to the 22 police, and if individual police officers are 23 imbued within that culture with the notion that 24 the system is keen to identify and remedy mistakes 05:07 25 and this isn't about blaming people for what's

— Meyer CompuCourt Reporting =

Page 40438 1 gone wrong, then you are more likely to encourage 2 the sort of openness which the questioning which 3 I've just been addressing can happen. COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: 4 Thanks. 5 Α But ultimately you are absolutely right, it 05:07 6 depends on the willingness of individual police 7 officers in those circumstances to come forward 8 with the information when they get it. 9 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Okay. 10 BY MS. KNOX: Sir, for the record, my name is 11 Q Thank you. 12 Catherine Knox and we have not met other than to 13 see you passing in the hall. Also for the record 14 I want you to be aware that my role at this 05:08 15 inquiry is as counsel for the former trial prosecutor T.D.R. Caldwell. 16 17 Uh-huh. Α 18 Sir, are you aware that the circumstance or the Q 19 fact that the Crown was able to establish that 05:08 20 David Milgaard was factually innocent of causing 21 the death of Gail Miller was because the 22 prosecutor, my client, contrary to practices, ordered that the exhibits from the trial be held 23 24 so that they were available some 28 years after 05:08 25 his conviction?

1	А	I think the answer to that is in discussions I had
2		with Mr. Hodson in preparation, that proposition
3		you've just made rings a bell.
4	Q	Okay.
05:09 5	А	And of course I accept it as being the case.
6	Q	And indeed the evidence is and the documents, or
7		the exhibits when they were found had a note
8		sitting on them in the court vault that they were 9		not to be destroyed by order of my client, Mr.
05:0 9 10		Caldwell?
11	А	Yes.
12	Q	Okay. Now, if we could step back for a moment,
13		and I just have a brief few questions, let me
14		reassure you and the Commissioner of that, but if o5:0 9 15		we could step back for the moment, that the 16		circumstances of this case in part through, in 17		large part through the actions of my client
18		allowed in 1997 that the factual innocence of 19		David Milgaard was established, and you as a
05:09 20		Commission were dealing with an application from 21		somebody in the early late '80s, early '90s,
22		where the allegations were or the assertion was 23		I'm innocent, the information to be looked at was 24		the court record and the police investigation, the
o5:0 9 25		evidence of witnesses, how their statements were
		Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

1 obtained and so forth, and that was essentially 2 the application that was presented to your 3 Commission, --Uh-huh. 4 Α 5 -- but in the course of the necessary 05:10 Q investigation that your Commission would have to 6 7 do as part of the review to determine if the matter would be referred to the Court of Appeal it 8 9 became -- a number of facts became clear, and I'll 05:10 10 try to list them. 11 Number 1, it quickly became 12 clear that the applicant, advocates on his behalf 13 and his legal counsel were putting forward, either 14 individually or collectively, allegations or 05:10 15 assertions about the conduct of the police and the 16 Crown that were probably false, i.e., they were 17 saying, for example, a witness statement hadn't been disclosed when in fact the records showed 18 19 that it had; that they were putting forward a 05:10 20 recantation taken from a witness like Ron Wilson 21 by an experienced private investigator, but 22 mysteriously they couldn't produce the audiotape of the interview of him where the recantation 23 24 occurred; they were putting forward allegations 05:11 25 that the Crown had made key evidence disappear,

Page 40440

Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

- Page 40441 -

1		i.e., a knife that could have been the murder
2		weapon; they were putting forward scientific
3		evidence and relying on scientific evidence where
4		the records showed a full, factual history had not
05:11 5		been given to their expert, and I'm thinking of 6		stains in a snowbank that an expert said could be 7		dog urine when, in fact, the record showed that 8		there were human pubic hairs in those samples at 9		the time they were found in 1969; might that kind
05:11 10		of misinformation, some of it deliberate, some of 11		it admitted to be knowingly false, some of it
12		maybe negligently managed, cause the possibility
13		that your Commission might not refer for review a
14		matter that should have gone for review?
05:12 15	А	I think all I can say, I can really say in answer
16		to that, is that the decision which the Commission
17		makes whether or not to refer a case is going to 18		depend is going to be made at the end of the 19		Commission's investigation. And in the course of 05:12 20		that investigation, no doubt the Commission would 21		be invited to take account in support of the 22		application to suggest that there had been a
23		wrongful conviction, all the matters that you have 24		just described.
25	Q	Uh-huh.

- Page 40442 -

	1	А	Now the mere fact that the Commission came to the 2		conclusion that some of the grounds on which the 3		application had been made were wholly
	4		inconceived and this is not an uncommon
05:13	5		occurrence, I mean applicants are quite capable of 6		making wild assertions about what they think has
	7		gone wrong which are completely without foundation
	8		and are found to be so on investigation but the 9		fact that an applicant makes assertions which are 05:13	10		wholly unfounded, either because they are totally
	11		rash or specifically because they are made
	12		specifically with an intent to deceive; if the 13		Commission exposes, during the course of its 14		investigation, that some of the issues which have 05:13	15		been raised are without any foundation at all and,
	16		indeed, may be mischievous, it's not actually
	17		going to have any impact at all on the question
	18		whether or not the question should be referred to 19		the Court of Appeal if, as a result of the
05:13	20		investigation the Commission does carry out, there
	21		are sustainable grounds, there are sustainable
	22		bases on which to say the real possibility test
	23		has been met.
	24		So the applicant is not going
05:14	25		to be prejudiced simply because he is wild and
			Meyer CompuCourt Reporting

mischievous.

2 Q Okay. But is it not true, sir, that being wild 3 and mischievous, particularly when some of that 4 mischief comes from learned counsel, could 05:14 5 potentially prejudice an outcome? Pearls of truth 6 can get lost in the mess that need not have been 7 created.

8 A Well that, that of course, I mean I don't intend 9 to be disrespectful, I think that is almost a 05:14 10 truism, yes.

11 Q Thank you.

12 MR. WOLCH: Mr. Commissioner, I don't have 13 any questions, but I do wish to object to the 14 framing of the last group of questions where My 05:14 15 Friend has confused what was part of an 16 application to the Department of Justice to what 17 appeared in the media at various times, and it's 18 a complete distortion to suggest that certain 19 questions that My Friend raised were put to the 05:15 20 Department of Justice. Mr. Williams clearly 21 indicated at this Commission that misconduct was 22 not a key in what he was determining, it was 23 Fisher, Wilson, the improbability, etcetera, 24 etcetera. And My Friend is talking here about 05:15 25 supposedly wild accusations, many of which we still maintain are true.

2	The odd inaccuracy should not
3	be put to this witness without putting the whole
4	picture. If My Friend is going to say, for the
05:15 5	hundredth time, "the statement of Ron Wilson was 6	disclosed", My Friend is not saying all the 7	other individual being attacked that morning,
8	she's not putting the eye witnesses to the scene
9	of the offence, supposedly, that wasn't
05:16 10	disclosed. You can't take out one incident and 11	not talk about all the lack of disclosure.
12	But the lack of disclosure
13	was not what was being argued, it was the merits.
14	It's totally distorted. My Friend has taken an
05:16 15	argumentative approach to put forward facts that 16	aren't accurate and distort, and that's what
17	occurred in those questions. They have no it
18	doesn't help the Commission at all.
19	COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: Well what does
05:16 20	help the Commission, I think, is the witness'
21	answer to the effect that, notwithstanding
22	information which might have been less than 23	reliable, the Commission would choose to take the 24	higher ground and allow an application or
05:16 25	accept an application to refer on the basis of WOLCH: Thank you. 8 I think that is all. MR. HODSON: 9 If I may thank you, Mr. Kyle, 05:17 10 for travelling here and spending time on the weekend preparing, and your providing evidence 11 12 before this Commission, thank you very much. 13 Α Okay. 14 COMMISSIONER MacCALLUM: And Mr. Kyle, for 05:17 15 my part, I just want to note that you are the 16 last of the very many viva voce witnesses to appear before us. And I have followed an 17 18 invariable practice, up to this moment at least, 19 of thanking all witnesses in precisely the same 05:17 20 words so as not to leave any impression that I 21 was accepting one's testimony in preference to 22 another's, but for you I'm going to make an 23 exception, sir.
