

Message from the Minister

I am pleased to submit the Annual Report of the Ministry of Advanced Education for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2013.

During the year, the Ministry continued to deliver on the Government's vision and goals and to build on the promises made to the Saskatchewan people.

We focused on the province's labour market needs by building on record investments in post-secondary education and skills training with significant support for First Nations and Métis peoples.

The Ministry increased its financial support for post-secondary institutions and its investment in students, ensuring that post-secondary education remains accessible and affordable. We also took strides to improve accountability in our institutions and are working to make further progress in the future.

Post-secondary institutes continue to provide high quality education for our students who will contribute to our growing economy in Saskatchewan.

For more information on the Ministry's results, please refer to the Ministry's 2012-13 Annual Report, or visit our website at www.ae.gov.sk.ca.

Ministry Overview

In 2012-13, the Ministry of Advanced Education worked with post-secondary institutions across the province to ensure strategic alignment with Ministry goals and effective two-way information sharing. The Ministry engaged with the institutions to respond to the needs of the labour market and to ensure accountability for outcomes and effective governance practices.

The Ministry also continued to build collaborative partnerships to support effective delivery of programs and services for advanced education learners and graduates in Saskatchewan.

The initiatives pursued in 2012-13, and the results achieved, are shared with the Legislature and the people of Saskatchewan through the Annual Report. Not only is this report an important accountability document, it also helps to inform planning and resource allocation in the coming years. To this end, the Ministry will continue to build on its work to help the province sustain growth and opportunities for Saskatchewan people while delivering responsive and responsible government and improving our quality of life.
