Francophone Affairs Branch Overview

The Francophone Affairs Branch (FAB) assists provincial government ministries, Crown corporations and agencies in providing additional services in French to the Francophone community. Its main responsibilities include:

- ⇒ acting as liaison between the government and the Francophone community;
- ⇒ managing the French-language Services Centre, a single window to access government services available in French;
- ⇒ providing translation services to provincial ministries, Crown corporations and agencies;
- ⇒ supporting the Provincial Secretary.

In addition to meeting its constitutional and statutory obligations, the Government of Saskatchewan pursues targeted initiatives to respond to needs identified by the Francophone community. The French-language Services Policy is intended to be a guide for provincial ministries, Crown corporations and agencies to support the Francophone community's development and vitality.

The Government of Saskatchewan can better meet the needs of Fransaskois citizens by offering services in French, promoting the use of the French language and recognizing the important contributions of the Fransaskois community.

Government of Saskatchewan's French-language Services Centre

The French-language Services Centre serves as a single window for the public to access Government of Saskatchewan services and programs in French. Information can be accessed online, by phone and through social media.

In 2016-2017, the French-language Services Centre website saw a 106 per cent increase in the number of online sessions and page views in comparison with 2015-2016. This increase can be partially explained by the development of additional French-language pages on Saskatchewan.ca/bonjour. The number of pages went from 140 pages to 204 pages. The majority of these new pages contained information on programs and services delivered by the Ministry of Education. The French-language Services Centre team continues to develop new content and web pages to increase access to information in other areas of importance to the Francophone community.

The French-language Services Centre also experienced a 27 per cent increase in the number of inquiries received by email or by phone in 2016-2017. Requests for information on immigration and employment remained number one, accounting for about half of all requests, followed by social services, services provided by the Francophone Affairs Branch and health.

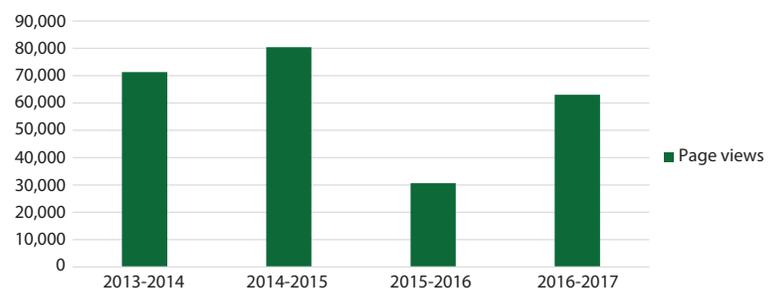

The French-language Services Centre continued to use social media to promote French-language services and programs in 2016-2017. The Services en français en Saskatchewan Facebook page saw an increase of 22 per cent in subscribers. Various government services and programs available in French were promoted. Our most popular post, which reached 3,200 people, was the proclamation of the Rendez-vous de la Francophonie 2017 by Provincial Secretary Nadine Wilson.

In addition, a video describing the services offered by the French-language Services Centre was produced and promoted on Facebook. The video can be accessed here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n0WYeYvg0Y8>

Other publications that reached a large audience included an anti-bullying video prepared by the Ministry of Education with students from École Monseigneur de Laval, publications on immigration programs and French-language employment opportunities, and reports of the Advisory Committee on Francophone Affairs.

The French-language Services Centre can be accessed online through saskatchewan.ca/bonjour. Citizens can also contact the Services Centre toll-free at 1-888-345-0850 or by email at bonjour@gov.sk.ca.

Translation Services

In 2016-2017, a total of 516,217 words were translated and revised. The decrease can partially be explained by a drop in translation requests from the Ministry of Education as they have relied on alternate resources for the translation of curriculum based information and teaching resources. The remaining difference between the two years can be explained by normal fluctuations from year to year.

The Government of Saskatchewan continues to give priority to translating documents and web pages that facilitate more active and direct communication with French-speaking citizens. Among the larger documents translated for the general public are the Hunters' and Trappers' Guide, the Anglers' Guide, the Saskatchewan Driver's Handbook, the Registrar's Handbook for School Administrators and resources for the Fire Smart program.

Our Goal:

French-language content is easy to access. Translation efforts target key sectors for the Fransaskois community and key client groups within the community.

Translating web pages for the Ministry of Education

In 2016-2017, the Francophone Affairs Branch worked with several ministries to translate web pages on Saskatchewan.ca. Since education is a priority sector for the Francophone community, more than 50 web pages were identified for translation. The content of these web pages included the K-12 schooling system in Saskatchewan, early learning and child care and education administration.

The Ministry of Education, in collaboration with the Francophone Affairs Branch, is committed to continue to develop French-language content on Saskatchewan.ca/bonjour.

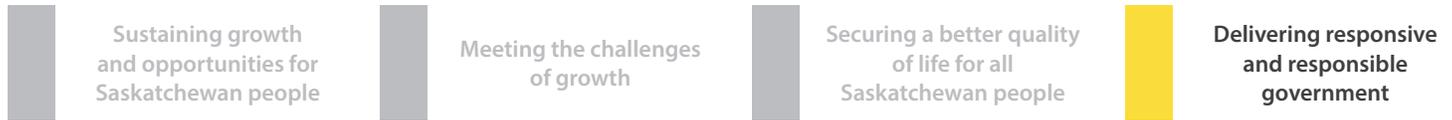

Health – Immunizations factsheets and infographic campaign

In Saskatchewan, infants and preschool children are eligible to receive free vaccines against many bacteria and viruses that cause serious diseases. In addition, immunization programs for school-age students are delivered by public health nurses in school settings. Every year, the Ministry of Health translates updated information on immunization including factsheets and consent forms.

French-language immunization information is made available to parents of students in Francophone and French immersion schools ensuring they have all the information necessary to keep their children safe against vaccine-preventable diseases and keep Saskatchewan's population healthy, safe and protected.

In addition, the Ministry of Health worked with the Francophone Affairs Branch to translate many of its infographics used as part of public awareness campaigns. Examples of the infographics published on the Services en français en Saskatchewan Facebook page include information on HealthLine811, mental health services, the flu vaccine and HIV testing and support.

Government Goal:

Our Goal:

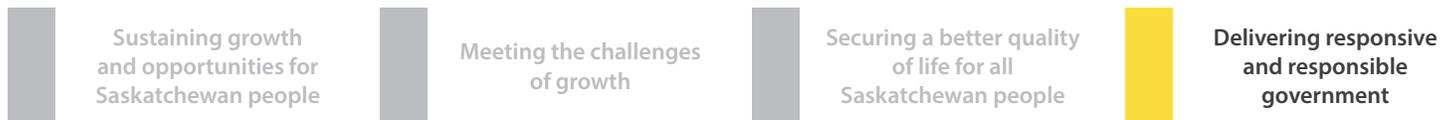

Improve delivery of services in French.

Ministry of Social Services committed to serve clients in the language of their choice

The Ministry of Social Services interacts with citizens from many ethnic and cultural backgrounds in the delivery of services for income support, child and family services, affordable and social housing, and supports for persons with disabilities. Often the situations they are dealing with are sensitive in nature, and it is important to ensure the client is being understood and also understands the information they are being given. In order to facilitate communication with clients, the Ministry uses bilingual staff as well as over-the-phone interpretation services. The Ministry informs its employees on the language capacity available at various offices, including French-language capacity. The Ministry currently has 11 staff members from nine different offices that are able to deliver services in French.

In addition, income assistance service delivery employees are provided with guidelines for the use of interpretation services, an orientation to French-language information available on the Saskatchewan.ca/bonjour website as well as a guide for providing services in French. In doing this, the Ministry of Social Services shows its commitment to serve and accommodate citizens in the language of their choice, including Francophone citizens.

Government Goal:

Our Goal:

Consult with Francophones with respect to provincial government programs that impact the community.

Provincial consultations

The French-language Services Centre team visited Francophone communities across the province to discuss French-language services offered and how they can be improved. The meetings were organized through regional Francophone community associations. Sectorial Francophone associations (i.e. organizations dealing with culture, economic development, health, etc.) were invited to the local meeting in the municipality where their head office is located.

Communities visited:

Feedback included suggestions to:

- ⇒ Increase the French-language Services Centre's consultation efforts and presence in community events;
- ⇒ Increase awareness of the needs of the Francophone community within government;
- ⇒ Develop a system to track how many people are using the List of Points of Service;
- ⇒ Translate more information for newcomers;
- ⇒ Translate materials related to early learning and childcare, and rental housing;
- ⇒ Highlight services offered by Francophone organizations;
- ⇒ Incorporate a Francophone focus in the content of French-language web pages.

This feedback will guide the Francophone Affairs Branch as it continues to work with ministries to develop additional services available in French.

Promoting French-language services to Francophone youth

As part of our provincial tour of communities, the Francophone Affairs Branch also wanted to meet with Francophone and French Immersion high school students to promote government services important for them. During these school presentations the branch talked about French-language post-secondary programs and bursaries, employment standards and security in the workplace, as well as leisure programs including provincial parks, hunting and fishing. Staff presented these subjects in an interactive way by asking students to search information online using their cellphones or tablets. These presentations were given in 18 schools in front of more than 900 students. Branch staff were also present at Francofièvre 2017, a day of activities celebrating French music and culture where more than 1,000 students participated.

When touring the province, one constant reminder from citizens and organizations was that the Services Centre needed to be more visible. In order to increase our reach, a mail-out of posters and information cards to various stakeholders, including municipalities, libraries, newcomer welcome centres and Francophone community organizations was completed. In total, more than 1,000 points of services throughout the province received information regarding the French-language Services Centre. They were asked to display and promote these services in their organizations and communities.

Government Goal:

Our Goal:

Increasing awareness of Francophone community needs within Saskatchewan public administration.

Annual meetings with ministries

Every year, the Francophone Affairs Branch consults with ministries as well as some Crown corporations to review services being delivered, assess whether new services could be developed and increase awareness of the French-language Services Policy. This year, we also presented ministries with new translation guidelines prioritizing the translation of materials which directly contribute to the offer of services in French (i.e., forms, guides, factsheets, specific information on government programs and services).

Advisory Committee on Francophone Affairs

In 2016-2017, the Advisory Committee on Francophone Affairs met on two occasions and presented two reports to the Provincial Secretary.

The first report released in July 2016 explored the challenges faced by Francophone seniors in getting the care they need to stay in their communities. As language can be a critical barrier to accessing quality health care, developing French-language services that support Francophone seniors in the province is an important step in maintaining their well-being, mental health, and ultimately their quality of life. The Advisory Committee presented six recommendations, including that Regional Health Authorities put a process in place to identify employees who speak and are willing to offer services in French.

The second report released in October 2016 studied access to justice in French in Saskatchewan. The province's Language Act 1988 guarantees Francophones the right to use French in court. The Advisory Committee made eight recommendations including that the Ministry of Justice incorporate an active offer approach in the delivery of French-language services in the court system.

Both reports can be viewed at: www.saskatchewan.ca/government/government-structure/executive-council-and-office-of-the-premier/francophone-affairs-branch.

Recognition of the contributions of Francophone citizens to the province

The Government of Saskatchewan continues to acknowledge the heritage of Saskatchewan's Francophones and their significant contributions to the province. In September 2016, Bellevue and Debden area Francophones were presented with a Fransaskois flag and monument to recognize their past and ongoing contributions in their community. Since 2009, 14 communities have been recognized.

On March 15, 2017, Provincial Secretary Nadine Wilson celebrated the Rendez-vous de la francophonie with members of the Francophone community. As part of the program, the Fransaskois Flag was raised in front of the Legislative Building and the Rendez-vous de la Francophonie 2017 was officially proclaimed during legislative proceedings.
